

Irish Studies in International Affairs published by the Royal Irish Academy

In 1977 the Council of the Royal Irish Academy approved the formation of a National Committee to be concerned with the study of international affairs. The purpose of this Committee was to create a forum in which those interested could study and discuss important questions relating to Irish participation in international affairs. Following the reorganisation of the Academy's multidisciplinary committee structure in 2014, the Standing Committee for International Affairs was convened under the Social Sciences Committee, to oversee the publication and review of Irish Studies in International Affairs and connected activities. The Standing Committee is representative of academic and government organisations. Published annually since 1979, Irish Studies in International Affairs has established itself as a primary outlet for scholarly papers relating to Irish foreign policy and Ireland's role in international affairs. The journal contains contributed articles, review essays and a selection of papers focused on an issue of international affairs of topical interest.

Standing Committee and Advisory Committee for International Affairs and Editorial Board for *Irish Studies in International Affairs

Pádraig Carmody, Trinity College Dublin
Colin Caughy, University of Galway
Damien Cole, Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade
Cath Collins, Ulster University
John Doyle, Dublin City University (Editor)
Suzanne Egan, University College Dublin
Ekaterina Yahyaoui Krivenko, University of Galway
Kirstin Lemon, Geological Survey of Northern Ireland
Emma Madigan, Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade
Rory Montgomery, former Irish diplomat
John Morrissey, University of Galway
Una Murray, University of Galway
Mervyn O'Driscoll, University College Cork (Editor)
Kevin O'Sullivan, University of Galway
Kiri Paramore, University College Cork
Iulia Siedschlag, Economic and Social Research Institute
Ben Tonra, University College Dublin
Colin Wrafter, formerly Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade

International Advisory Board

Professor Federica Bicchi, Department of International Relations, London School of Economics
Professor Michael Cox, Department of International Relations, London School of Economics
Professor Patricia Clavin, Professor of International History, Jesus College, Oxford University
Professor Christophe Gillissen, L'Université Paris-Sorbonne, Paris
Professor Zafar Jaspal, Quaid i Azam University, Islamabad
Professor Fiona de Londras, Durham Law School, Durham University Professor John McGarry, Queen's University, Ontario
Professor Niamh Nic Shuibhne, School of Law, University of Edinburgh
Professor Brendan O'Leary, Lauder Professor of Political Science, University of Pennsylvania
Professor Anjoo Sharan Upadhyaya, Department of Political Science, Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi
Professor Jon Tonge, Department of Politics, University of Liverpool
Professor Priyankar Upadhyaya, UNESCO Chair for Peace, Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi
Professor Tim White, Department of Political Science, Xavier University, Ohio

Instructions for authors and subscription details may be found on the inside back cover. Contents of recent issues of Irish Studies in International Affairs can be found on the Royal Irish Academy web site at <https://www.ria.ie/irish-studies-international-affairs>. Any views expressed in the articles in this journal are those of the individual authors.