Medieval and Renaissance Studies Journals

Arthuriana
Scribner Press
Arthuriana is the widely respected quarterly for the International Arthurian Society - North American Branch. This journal considers all aspects of the Arthurian and chivalric cultures from the Middle Ages to the current moment.

The Chaucer Review
Penn State University Press
The Chaucer Review publishes studies of language, sources, social and political contexts, aesthetics, and associated meanings of Chaucer's poetry, as well as articles on medieval literature, philosophy, theology, and mythography relevant to study of the poet and his contemporaries, predecessors, and audiences.

La corónica: A Journal of Medieval Hispanic Languages, Literatures, and Cultures
La corónica: A Journal of Medieval Hispanic Languages, Literatures, and Cultures
La corónica publishes articles written in English or Spanish on topics in medieval Spanish cultural studies, literature, and historical linguistics. Devoted to Hispanicmedievalism in its broadest sense, La corónica also welcomes scholarship that transcends the linguistic and/or cultural borders of Spanish and explores the interconnectedness of those languages and cultures that coexisted in medieval Iberia.

Essays in Medieval Studies
West Virginia University Press
Essays in Medieval Studies is an interdisciplinary journal of medieval studies. Contents for each volume are selected from papers delivered at the annual meeting of the Illinois Medieval Association.

JEGP, Journal of English and Germanic Philology
University of Illinois Press
JEGP focuses on Northern European cultures of the Middle Ages, covering Medieval English, Germanic, and Celtic Studies.

Journal of Late Antiquity
The Johns Hopkins University Press
Journal of Late Antiquity covers the world of Late Antiquity, broadly defined as the late Roman, western European, Byzantine, Sassanid, and Islamic worlds, ca. AD 250-800 (i.e., the late and post-classical world up to the Carolingian period).

The Journal of Medieval Religious Cultures
Penn State University Press
The Journal of Medieval Religious Cultures (formerly Mystics Quarterly) publishes essays on mystical and devotional texts, especially but not exclusively of the Western Middle Ages. It seeks to expand its areas of focus to include the relationship of medieval religious cultures outside Europe.

Journal of the History of Ideas
University of Pennsylvania Press
Since its inception in 1940, the Journal of the History of Ideas has served as a medium for the publication of research in intellectual history that is of common interest to scholars and students in a wide range of fields.

Parergon
Australian and New Zealand Association of Medieval and Early Modern Studies (Inc.)
Parergon publishes articles on all aspects of medieval and early modern studies with a particular focus on research which takes new approaches and crosses traditional disciplinary boundaries. It is the Southern Hemisphere’s leading journal for early European research.

Studies in Philology
The University of North Carolina Press
Founded in 1903, Studies in Philology addresses scholars in a wide range of disciplines, though traditionally its strength has been English Medieval and Renaissance studies. SIP publishes articles on British literature before 1900 and on relations between British literature and works in the Classical, Romance, and Germanic Languages.

Studies in the Age of Chaucer
The New Chaucer Society
Studies in the Age of Chaucer, yearbook of the New Chaucer Society, publishes articles on the writing of Chaucer and his contemporaries, their antecedents and successors, and their intellectual and social contexts. Articles explore the culture and writing of later medieval Britain (1200-1500).

Tenso
Société Guillem IX
TENSO: Bulletin of the Société Guillem IX publishes articles on any aspect of Occitan studies, including literature, language, linguistics, and music. While English is the primary language, it also accepts items in French, Occitan, Catalan, Spanish, Italian, and German.
