PROJECT MUSE®

The Authors/Les auteurs

The Canadian Journal of Sociology, Volume 29, Number 1, Winter 2004,
pp. v-vi (Article)

Published by University of Toronto Press

DOI: <https://doi.org/10.1353/cjs.2004.0004>

➔ For additional information about this article

<https://muse.jhu.edu/article/54128>

The Authors/Les auteurs

Shanoussa Aubin-Horth a obtenu son diplôme de maîtrise en sociologie à l'Université du Québec à Montréal en 2002. L'objet de son mémoire de maîtrise a trait à l'institutionnalisation de l'interdisciplinarité à l'université dans le cas des sciences de l'environnement. Pendant sa maîtrise, elle a été assistante de recherche au Centre interuniversitaire de recherche sur la science et la technologie où elle étudiait l'émergence de la question de l'environnement au Québec. Elle poursuit actuellement un doctorat en éducation à l'Université du Québec à Rimouski.

shanoussa@hotmail.com

Johanne Collin est chercheure au Groupe de recherche sur les aspects sociaux de la santé et de la prévention (GRASP), chercheur-boursier du Fonds québécois de recherche sur la société et la culture (FQRSC) et professeur en socio-économie du médicament à l'Université de Montréal. Ses recherches actuelles portent sur le médicament comme phénomène social et culturel, sur les rapports entre profanes et professionnels ainsi que sur les dynamiques professionnelles dans le champ de la santé.

johanne.collin@umontreal.ca

Pierre Doray est chercheur au Centre interuniversitaire de recherche sur la science et la technologie et professeur au département de sociologie de l'université du Québec à Montréal (UQAM). Ses recherches portent sur les parcours des étudiants et la participation des adultes à l'éducation. Il a aussi travaillé sur les relations entre le champ de l'économie et de l'éducation en lien avec la transformation des modes de régulation de la formation professionnelle et technique (Doray Pierre et Maroy Christian avec la collaboration de Cattonar Branka, Fusulier Bernard et Pelletier Patrick. Lier éducation et économie, Bruxelles, DeBoeck, 2001).

doray.pierre@uqam.ca

Feng Hou, Ph.D., is a senior analyst with Business and Labour Market Analysis Division, Statistics Canada. His research interests include immigrant settlement and residential patterns of visible minorities and low-income families. His recent publications include "Neighbourhood ethnic transition and its socioeconomic connections”(with A. Milan, Canadian Journal of Sociology, 2003) and “Changes in Family Structure and Child Outcomes: Roles of Economic and Familial Resources” (with B. Ram, Journal of Policy Studies, 2003).

feng.hou@statcan.ca

John Myles is Canada Research Chair in Sociology at the University of Toronto and Visiting Research Fellow at Statistics Canada. His current research interests include comparative studies in welfare state reform and structures of urban inequality.

John.myles@utoronto.ca

Michael J. Prince holds the Lansdowne Chair in Social Policy in the Faculty of Human and Social Development, University of Victoria. His most recent book is Changing Politics of Canadian Social Policy, with James J. Rice (University of Toronto Press, 2000), which was short listed for the Innis Prize for best social science book in Canada. Other recent publications about disability issues can be found in Canadian Journal of Political Science (2001), Canadian Public Policy (2001) and Canadian Public Administration (2002). He is completing a book on the history of the Canada Pension Plan Disability Program.

mprince@uvic.ca

David Walters is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Sociology at Brock University, beginning July, 2004. Currently, he is working as a postdoctoral fellow in the Department of Sociology at the University of Western Ontario, involved in their First Nations Cohesion Project. His substantive research interests involve the school-to-work transitions of postsecondary graduates.

d.walter3@uwo.ca

Andrew Woolford is Assistant Professor of Sociology at the University of Manitoba. His research interests include genocide and war crimes, informal mechanisms of dispute resolution, and social justice. Recent publications include articles on restorative justice with R.S. Ratner (Social Justice 2003) and the reparational politics of treaty-making with R.S. Ratner and W.K. Carroll (Politics and the Past, 2003). He is currently working on a manuscript entitled Between Justice and Certainty: Treaty-Making in Modern-Day British Columbia

Andrew_Woolford@umanitoba.ca