

PROJECT MUSE®

---

Data Information Literacy

Carlson, Jake , Johnston, Lisa

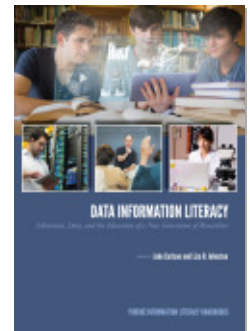

Published by Purdue University Press

Carlson, Jake and Lisa Johnston.

Data Information Literacy: Librarians, Data and the Education of a New Generation of Researchers .

Purdue University Press, 2014.

Project MUSE.muse.jhu.edu/book/42542.

➔ For additional information about this book

<https://muse.jhu.edu/book/42542>

---

Access provided at 28 Mar 2020 19:51 GMT with no institutional affiliation

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License.

INDEX

Page numbers in italics refer to tables, boxes, and figures.

A

- Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology (ABET), 151
- ACRL. See Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL)
- Adobe Captivate, 161
- Agenda for Developing E-Science in Research Libraries*, 13
- Agricultural and biological sciences data information literacy, 140–141, 223
  - assessment tool, 147
  - case study of graduate student needs in, 132–134
  - data archiving checklists, 143–146
  - DIL project and, 130–131, 139–140
  - literature review and environmental scan of best practices in, 131–132
  - metadata form, 147–148
  - multi-session instruction approach to, 134–139, 220
  - results of fall 2012 instruction sessions, 135–139
- American Council of Learned Societies, 13
- American Society of Civil Engineers, 150
- Andrews, Camille, 42
- ArcGIS, 76
- Archiving, data, 25
- Assessments. See also Faculty; Students
  - classroom test resources, 229
  - making good use of, 222–223
  - planning for, 216–218
  - resources for exploring, 228–229
  - responding to, 222
  - used to inform next steps, 223–224
- Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL), 3, 14, 31, 248–252, 253, 257
  - comparison of data information literacy with, 26–28
  - standard five: understand economic, legal, and social issues and use information ethically, 28
  - standard four: use information to accomplish a specific purpose, 28
  - standard one: identifying nature and extent of information need, 27

Page numbers in italics refer to tables, boxes, and figures.

- Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL) (Continued) standard three: evaluate information critically, 28 standard two: access needed information efficiently and effectively, 27
- Atkins Report (2003), 13
- Attribution and ethics, 21, 28, 30, 45, 66–68, 241–242
- Australian National University, 39
- B
- Boening, C. H., 23
- Borer, E. T., 181, 187
- Bracke, Marianne, 42, 219, 220, 223, 250
- Bransford, J., 163
- Brown, A. L., 163
- Bruce, C., 249
- Bulletin of the Ecological Society of America*, 76, 180, 184
- C
- Caravello, P. S., 15
- Carlson, Jake, 42, 208, 216, 219, 220, 223, 250, 252, 256
- Center for Embedded Networked Sensing (CENS), 181
- Civil Engineering Body of Knowledge for the 21st Century: Preparing the Civil Engineer for the Future* (BOK2), 150
- Civil engineering data information literacy course results, 163–165
 e-learning approach to teaching skills in, 158–165 e-learning course syllabus, 171–173 follow-up satisfaction surveys, 177–178
 Google Docs template, 174–176
 lessons learned from course results, 165–166 needs assessment results, 152–158
- Civil engineering data information literacy (Continued) skills needed in, 169–170 study methodology, 152 training and practice in, 150–152
- Climate change impacts (CCI) project data information literacy workshop outline, 193–200
 DIL project conclusions, 189–190 discussion-based approach to teaching data information literacy skills in, 184–187 interviews and results, 182–183 literature and environmental scan of best practices in, 180–181
 results discussion, 187–189
- Cocking, R. R., 163
- Communities of practice, 254–255
- Competencies for data information literacy, 28–30.
See also Data information literacy conversion and interoperability, 56–57, 77–78, 105, 235 cultures of practice, 29, 39–40, 44, 55–56, 78, 79, 240–241, 250
 curation and reuse, 2, 29, 44, 57–59, 242–243
 databases and data formats, 64–65 discovery and acquisition, 65–66, 78, 79, 105, 232–233 ethics and attribution, 21, 28, 30, 45, 66–68, 241–242 future development of, 243–244 graduate students in the natural resources and, 76–79 instructional approach to, 79–88 interview results on, 52–55 management and organization, 44, 59–60, 77, 238–239 metadata and data description, 68–69, 78, 105, 240 preservation, 21–22, 25, 29, 44, 60–61, 79, 243

- Competencies for data information literacy
(Continued)
 processing and analysis, 61–62, 78, 156, 236–237
 quality and documentation, 62–63, 105, 239–240
 visualization and representation, 63–64, 237–238
- Conrad, R., 162
- Consortium of Universities for the Advancement of Hydrological Science (CUAHSI), 131
- Contexts, DIL in different, 250
- Conversion and interoperability, data, 29, 44, 56–57, 77–78, 105, 235
- Cornell Chronicle*, 89
- Cornell University, 41–46, 74, 206, 219, 223, 250
 case study of graduate student data information literacy needs in the natural resources, 76–79 data sharing exercise, 97 end-of-class evaluation, 98–99
 instructional approach to data information literacy needs, 79–88, 220
 learning objectives for DIL course at, 83–85 literature review and environmental scan of data management in natural resources and ecology, 75–76
 rubric for evaluating data management plans, 94–96
 workshop results, 88–90
- Courses, DIL, 80–83 assessment, 85–88, 98–99
 content building, 218–219, 229–230 data sharing and, 97
 discussion, 90–91
 e-learning, 158–165, 171–173, 220 learning objectives for, 83–85, 159–163 mini-, 79–88, 220
 multi-session, 134–148, 220
 results, 88–90, 163–165
 rubric for evaluating data management plans, 94–96
- “Course Teaches Grad Students How to Manage Their Data,” 89
- Creative Commons Zero licensing, 181
- Cultures of practice, 29, 39–40, 44, 55–56, 78, 79, 240–241, 250
- Curation and reuse, data, 2, 29, 44, 57–59, 242–243
- Curriculum development, DIL, 215
- Cyberinfrastructure, 2–3
- Cyberinfrastructure Vision for 21st Century
 Discovery*, 2, 14
- D
- Data analysis, 29 collection and organization, 154–156
 conversion and interoperability, 29, 44, 56–57, 77–78, 105, 235
 curation and reuse, 2, 29, 44, 57–59, 242–243
 discovery and acquisition of, 29, 45, 65–66, 78, 79, 105, 232–233
 efficient and effective access of, 27
 ethics and attribution, 21, 28, 30, 45 evaluation, 28
 formats and databases, 21, 29, 45, 64–65, 233–235
 identifying nature and extent of information need and, 27
 maintaining relationships among, 20–21
 management and organization, 44, 59–60, 77, 238–239
 meta-, 19, 25, 29, 45, 68–69, 78, 105–106, 240 preservation, 21–22, 25, 29, 44, 60–61, 79, 243
 processing and analysis, 61–62, 78, 156, 236–237
 quality and documentation, 21, 29, 62–63, 105–106, 239–240
 raw, 154, 155
 sharing, 25, 97, 157–158

Page numbers in italics refer to tables, boxes, and figures.

Data (Continued)

- standardized documentation processes, 19–20
- used to accomplish a specific purpose, 28
- visualization and representation, 29–30, 45, 63–64, 237–238

Databases and data formats, 21, 29, 64–65, 233–235

Data Curation Profiles project, 16–17, 30
Toolkit, 43, 52, 104, 152

Data information literacy. See also Competencies for data information literacy

- alignment with disciplinary cultures and local practices, 39–40
- assessment planning, 216–218
- audiences for programs in, 257–258
- building course content for, 218–219, 229–230
- challenge of context and, 250
- collaborators, 207–209
- communities of practice, 254–255
- community perspective on further developing, 252–258
- comparisons with ACRL IL standards, 26–28, 31
- core competencies, 28–30, 55–69
- curriculum development, 215
- defining, 15
- delivering instruction, 221
- disciplines and, 211
- discussion, 25–28
- discussion-based approach to, 184–187
- e-learning approach to, 158–165
- embedded librarian approach to, 108–111
- faculty assessment, 16–22
- feedback for students, 221–222
- further exploration of programs for, 38–39
- future development of competencies in, 243–244
- graduate students as receptive audience for, 37–38
- identifying collaborators for, 207–208

Data information literacy (Continued)

- identifying what worked in, 224–225
- information ecosystems and, 249–250
- information literacy as foundation for, 36–37, 248–252
- instructional approach to, 79–88
- interview results, 52–53
- interview themes, 53–55
- interview tool, 208, 215
- lessons learned from faculty assessment and, 22
- librarians teaching, 3–4, 38, 207
- links to useful resources, 228–230
- maintaining interest in, 222
- multi-session instruction approach to, 134–135
- needs of graduate students in agricultural and biological sciences, 132–134
- needs of graduate students in civil engineering, 152–158
- needs of graduate students in ecology, 182–183, 187
- needs of graduate students in the natural resources, 76–79
- outcomes development, 216
- preparing students for the workforce and, 251–252
- in presence of standards and cultural norms, 250–251
- prior instructional efforts in, 15–16
- program development, 214–219
- program implementation, 219–222
- program planning, 207–214
- raising awareness about, 209–210, 253
- scalable delivery tools, 225–226
- scheduling sessions, 221
- scoping, 256–257
- student needs assessments, 22–25, 104–106, 152–158, 182, 186
- sustainable programs, 224
- understanding needs of constituencies for, 210–212

- Data information literacy (Continued)
 why librarians are teaching, 207 working relationships, 208–209
- Data Information Literacy (DIL) project, 1–2, 206 development, 40–41
 environmental scan of related literacies, 15 implementation, 41–46
 key assumptions, 36–40 librarians teaching information literacy skills and, 3–4 partnerships promoted by, 3
- Data management and curation, 2, 29 in civil engineering, 150–151, 159–163 in natural resources and ecology, 75–76 need for educational programming on, 2–3 rubric for evaluating plans for, 94–96 in water and hydrology, 131–132
- Data management plan (DMP), 2
 Google Docs template for, 174–176
 National Science Foundation (NSF) components of, 94–96
 rubrics for evaluating, 94–96
- DataONE, 75, 76, 80, 185–186, 251, 255
- Description, data, 68–69, 105, 240
- Development of Civil Engineering Curricula Supporting the Body of Knowledge for Professional Practice*, 151
- Digital Archives Specialization (DAS), 256
- D'Ignazio, J., 15, 30, 132
- Discovery and acquisition of data, 29, 45, 65–66, 78, 79, 105, 232–233
- Discussion-based approach to data information literacy. See Ecological data information literacy
- Doxygen, 103
- Dryad, 181, 186
- E
- Ecological data information literacy
 data information literacy workshop outline, 193–200
 DIL project conclusions, 189–190
- Ecological data information literacy (Continued) discussion-based approach to teaching data information literacy skills in, 184–187, 220 feedback and assessment, 201
 interviews and results, 182–183
 literature and environmental scan of best practices in, 180–181
 results discussion, 187–189
- Ecological Metadata Language (EML), 75, 132, 138–139, 140
- Ecological Society of America, 132
- Ecosystems, information, 249–250
- Educational preparation for e-research, 14
- E-learning approach to data information literacy, 158–165, 220
 follow-up satisfaction survey, 177
 Google Docs template, 174–176
 learning objectives and assessment plan, 159–163
 lessons learned from, 165–166
- Ely, D. P., 162
- Embedded librarian approach to data information
 literacy, 108–111, 220
- Engineering Projects in Community Service (EP-ICS), 252
 design process-centered activities, 124–128
 discussion, 112–113
 embedded librarian approach to addressing data information literacy needs, 108–111, 220 environment overview, 106–108
 handout for graduate TAs, 120
 methodology, 104–106
 results conclusion, 113–115
 rubrics for evaluating software code and documentation, 117–119
 skills session lesson plan, 121–123
- Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 132
- Environmental scanning and literature reviews, 42, 211 agricultural and biological sciences data management, 131–132
 natural resources data management, 75–76

Page numbers in italics refer to tables, boxes, and figures.

Environmental scanning and literature reviews
(Continued)

software code data management, 102–104

E-research, 12

ACRL standards, 26–28

basic database skills and, 21

data ethics and, 21

data preservation, 21–22

data quality assurance, 21 educational preparation for, 14 implications for libraries, 12–14

master files and versioning, 20–21

metadata in, 19

standardized documentation processes in, 19–20

E-science, 2

need for educational initiatives focused on, 2–3 transformative effect of, 12

Ethics and attribution, 21, 28, 30, 45, 66–68,
241–242

F

Faculty

on agricultural and biological sciences graduate student data information literacy needs, 132–134

assessments lessons learned, 22

assessments results, 18–22

on cultures of practice, 55–56

on databases and data formats, 64–65

on data conversion and interoperability, 56–57

on data curation and reuse, 57–58

Data Curation Profiles project and, 16–17

on data discovery and acquisition, 65–66

on data management and organization, 59

on data preservation, 60

on data processing and analysis, 61

on data quality and documentation, 62–63

on data visualization and representation, 63–64

on ethics and attribution, 66–67

Faculty (Continued)

instructional approach to data information

literacy needs, 79–88

interviews for DIL project, 42–46, 52–55

on metadata and data description, 68

needs, 228

understanding and working with, 212

Federal Geographic Data Commission (FCDC), 131

Formative assessment, 217, 222

Formats, data, 21, 29, 45, 64–65, 233–235

Fosmire, Michael, 42, 216, 219, 220, 223, 250

Frameworks for a Data Management Curriculum, 40

Future development of DIL, 248

competencies, 243–244

G

Gabridge, T., 14, 37

Geographic information systems (GIS), 22–25, 76

Geoinformatics, 22–25, 30

GEON Portal, 25

Global Change Biology, 180, 184

Global Lake Ecological Observatory Network, 75

Gold, A. K., 13

Google Docs template for data management plan,
174–176

Google Drive, 162

Google Sites, 150, 161

Grimes, D. J., 23

Gruca, A. N., 158

H

HathiTrust Digital Library, 12

Hey, J., 13

Hey, T., 13

Hoyer, J., 40

I

Implementation, DIL program, 219–222

Indiana University, 3

Information ecosystems, 249–250
 Information literacy, 36–37, 248–252, 253
Information Literacy Competency Standards for Higher Education, 248, 257 Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS), 16, 102
 Instructional approach to data information literacy, 79–88
 International Digital Curation Conference, 254
 Interoperability, data, 29, 44, 56–57, 105
 Interviews for DIL project, 42–46, 52–53
   themes from, 53–55

J

Jeffries, Jon, 42
 Johnston, Lisa R., 42
 Jones, M. B., 181, 187
Journal of eScience Librarianship, 254

K

Knowledge Network for Biocomplexity, 75

L

Librarians
   data management and curation as new role for, 2
   DIL project, 40–41, 42
   embedded, 108–111, 220
   impact of e-research on libraries and, 12–14 staff engagement, 225
   teaching information literacy skills, 3–4, 38, 207
 Lloyd, A., 40, 252

M

Management and organization, data, 44, 59–60, 77, 238–239
 “Manage Your Data,” 15–16
 Manifold, 76
 Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 15, 39
 Master file and versioning, 20–21
 Metadata, 19, 25, 29, 45, 68–69, 78, 105–106, 240

Metadata (Continued)

  multi-session instruction approach to, 135–139, 147–148
 Miller, C. C., 216
 Mini-course approach to data information literacy, 79–88, 220
 Morpho, 75, 79, 132
 Multi-Axial Subassemblage Testing (MAST) Laboratory, 152
 Multi-session instruction approach to data information literacy, 134–135, 147–148, 220
   discussion, 139–140
   results, 135–139

N

National Library of Medicine, 255
 National Science Board, 13
 National Science Foundation (NSF), 2, 14, 39, 131, 251, 258 components of data management plan, 94–96 on connection between e-research and education, 13
 National Virtual Observatory (NVO), 12 Natural resources and ecology, 223 case study of graduate student data information literacy needs in, 76–79
   course results, 88–90
   DIL course, 79–88
   DIL project discussion, 90–91 literature review and environmental scan of data management in, 75–76
 NEEShub, 152, 211

O

O'Connor, M. I., 75, 187
 Ogburn, J. L., 14
 One-shot session approach to data information literacy. See Ecological data information literacy Online course. See E-learning approach to data information literacy

Page numbers in italics refer to tables, boxes, and figures.

Oosterhof, A., 162

Open Data, 38

P

Planning, DIL program, 207–214

PowerPoint, 161

Preservation, data, 21–22, 25, 29, 44, 60–61, 79, 243

Presidential Committee on Information Literacy: Final Report, 253

Principles for Engineering Research Data Management, 40

Processing and analysis, data, 61–62, 78, 156, 236–237

Project Information Literacy, 251

Purdue University, 16, 102, 181, 206, 219, 223, 250, 252. See also Agricultural and biological sciences data information literacy; Engineering Projects in Community Service (EPICS)

Data Curation Profiles (DCP) project, 16–17, 30, 43, 52, 104

DIL program implementation, 41–46, 102, 130–131

Research Repository (PURR), 138

Q

Qin, J., 15, 30, 132

Quality and documentation, data, 21, 29, 62–63, 105–106, 239–240

Quality assurance, data, 21, 29

R

Raw data, 154, 155

Regezt, J., 75, 187

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, 3, 38

Research Data Access and Preservation Summit, 254

Research Data MANTRA project, 40

Research Information Network (RIN), 37, 38

S

Salo, Dorothea, 255

Sapp Nelson, Megan, 42, 113, 208, 216, 219, 220, 223, 250, 252

Scalable delivery tools, 225–226

Schild, M., 15

Schildhauer, M., 181, 187

Science Data Literacy, 15

Scoping DIL, 256–257

ScreenFlow, 150, 161

Seabloom, E. W., 181, 187

Seven Pillars of Information Literacy model, 37

Sharing, data, 25, 97, 157–158

SigmaPlot, 182

Society of American Archives (SAA), 256

Society of College, National and University Libraries (SCONUL), 37

Software code data management

design process-centered activities, 124–128

discussion, 112–113

embedded librarian approach to addressing data information literacy needs, 108–111

environment overview, 106–108

handout for graduate TAs, 120

methodology, 104–106

results conclusion, 113–115

rubrics for evaluating software code and documentation, 117–119

skills session lesson plan, 121–123

Software Sustainability Institute, 104

“Some Simple Guidelines for Effective Data Management,” 184

Standardized documentation processes, 19–20

Stephenson, E., 15

Students

assessment of DIL course, 85–88

on cultures of practice, 56, 78, 79

Students (Continued)

- on databases and data formats, 65
  - on data collection and organization, 154–156
  - on data conversion and interoperability, 57, 77–78, 105
  - on data curation and reuse, 58–59
  - on data discovery and acquisition, 66, 78, 79, 105
  - on data management and organization, 59, 77
  - on data preservation, 60–61, 79
  - on data processing and analysis, 61–62, 62–63, 78, 156
  - on data quality and documentation, 62–63, 105–106
  - on data sharing, 157–158
  - on data visualization and representation, 63–64
  - on ethics and attribution, 67–68
  - feedback for, 221–222
  - interviews for DIL project, 42–46, 52–55
  - on metadata and data description, 68–69, 78, 105–106
  - needs assessment, 22–25, 104–106, 152–158, 182–183, 186–187, 228
  - on raw data, 154
  - receptive audience, graduate students as, 37–38
  - understanding and working with, 212–214
- Summative assessment, 217
- Sustainable DIL programs, 224
- Syracuse University, 16, 38

T

- Tetherless World Constellation, 38
- Trends in Ecology & Evolution*, 180

U

- University of Bath, 40
- University of Edinburgh, 40

- University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, 3, 16–17, 181
- University of Massachusetts Medical School, 40, 255
- University of Michigan, 38, 258
- University of Minnesota, 39, 41–46, 150, 206, 219, 220, 223–224, 250. See also Civil engineering data information literacy
- University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, 3
- University of Oregon, 41–46, 53, 180, 206, 220, 221, 224, 250. See also Ecological data information literacy
- University of Virginia Library, 16
- University of Wisconsin–Madison, 255

V

- Visualization and representation, data, 29–30, 45, 63–64, 237–238
- Vitae, 37

W

- Walters, T. O., 13
- Walton, Dean, 42
- Weiner, S., 252
- Westra, Brian, 42
- Williamson, K., 40, 252
- Wolkovich, E. M., 75, 187
- Worcester Polytechnic Institute, 40
- Workshops, DIL, 80–83, 134–140, 147–148, 220
- Wright, Sarah, 42, 74

Y

- YouTube, 113, 150, 161