FROM COGNITION TO BEING
Prolegomena for Teachers

THE MENTOR SERIES

The Mentor Series aims at defining, for our time, the conditions, issues and main characters of the realization of an accomplished human being.

The Series invites as authors the philosopher, the professor of humanities, of social sciences and of teacher education, for whom "education is the most important and the most difficult problem that can be proposed to man" (Kant). The objective of the Series is to offer to the research community, students and well-read public a forum for rethinking the theory and practice involved in teaching, learning and generally fostering human accomplishment.
