The Society for the History of Technology

The Society for the History of Technology was formed in 1958 to encourage the study of the development of technology and how this relates to society and culture. Incorporated in the state of Ohio as a nonprofit educational organization, the society is interdisciplinary, concerned not only with the history of technological devices and processes, but also with how technology in relation to politics, economics, labor, business, the environment, public policy, science, and the arts.

Membership in the society is international, open to individuals, organizations, corporations, and institutions interested in its purposes and activities. Benefits include a subscription to Technology and Culture (in both print and online form) and discounted registration at the society's annual meeting. For details on joining the society, visit www.historyoftechnology.org or call or write Johns Hopkins University Press, 2715 North Charles Street, Baltimore, MD 21218-4363, 410.516.6987.
