STUDIES IN PHILOLOGY

ISSN 0039-3738

Publication No. 523820

Studies in Philology has been a leader in literary scholarship since 1906. Through the whole of its history, the journal's home has been the Department of English and Comparative Literature at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. As its principal mission, the journal considers for publication articles on British literature from the pre-Conquest period through Romanticism. But we also welcome contributions on continental European and Neo-Latin literature, especially articles that address interdisciplinary issues of interest to literary and intellectual historians. Erik Maloney is the Editorial Assistant.

Submissions: please email essays as Word docs to sip@email.unc.edu. Authors should double-space their essays, number their pages, and remove their identity from the article itself. There is no word limit. Although Studies in Philology employs a modified version of the Chicago style of citation, there is no urgency to convert essays until they are accepted for publication.

Studies in Philology (ISSN 0039-3738) is published quarterly (Winter, Spring, Summer, Fall) by the University of North Carolina Press.

Annual print subscriptions: $48.00 for individuals, $86.00 for institutions. Canada add $14 for postage; all other non-U.S. $18 postage. The journal is distributed through a partnership with Duke University Press. Direct orders to Duke University Press Journal Services, Box 90660, Durham, NC 27708.
