

*philo*SOPHIA

EDITORS

Alyson Cole, Queens College and the Graduate Center, CUNY
Kyoo Lee, John Jay College and the Graduate Center, CUNY
Emanuela Bianchi, Book Review Editor, New York University

ADVISORY BOARD

Mieke Bal, University of Amsterdam
Kathryn Sophia Belle, Penn State University
Judith Butler, University of California, Berkeley
Devon W. Carbado, University of California, Los Angeles
Tina Chanter, Newcastle University
Brittney Cooper, Rutgers University
Roderick Ferguson, Yale University
Zeynep Gambetti, Boğaziçi University
Jack Halberstam, Columbia University
Saidiya Hartman, Columbia University
Mary Hawkesworth, Rutgers University
Bonnie Honig, Brown University
Soyoung Kim, Korea National University of Arts
Trinh T. Minh-ha, University of California, Berkeley
Chandra Mohanty, Syracuse University
Kelly Oliver, Vanderbilt University
Mariana Ortega, Penn State University
Jasbir K. Puar, Rutgers University
Falguni A. Sheth, Emory University
Robin R. Wang, Loyola Marymount University
Cynthia Willett, Emory University

Cover image: Thin Ice by Brendan Corcoran. Original photograph. Barcelona, 2022.

*philo*SOPHIA is an international, interdisciplinary peer-reviewed journal of feminist philosophy, theory, and creativity. Established in 2008, and “transContinentalized” in 2018, the journal biannually publishes cutting-edge scholarship that extends the rich traditions of transformative feminist interventions and sociopolitical engagements. Actively connecting and creating divergent feminist approaches, cultures, genres, and histories, *philo*SOPHIA seeks to cultivate discursive alliances with, especially but not exclusively, critical race, disability, literary, media, and queer studies.

SUNY PRESS