The following bibliography does not, of course, make any claim to being exhaustive; it does not even include all works to which the text and footnotes make reference. Only those works are included to which specific page references are given.

Wherever possible, references have been phrased in a manner that will allow discovery of the cited passage regardless of the edition being used.

In all primary sources which were issued in more than one edition and in which a later edition or a translation is here cited, the date of the first edition is given in brackets. Works by individual authors are listed in chronological order, according to the original date of publication rather than in accordance with the editions here cited, except in the case of collected works.
