INDEX

Action canadienne-française: nationalism, 294
Action Socialiste pour l’Indépendance: founded, 145; forebear of Mouvement de Libération populaire, 146
Act of Union, 18
Affaire Bradet, L’, see Clericalism
Agnosticism: and nationalism, 35; and Cité libre, 52; growth of, 58; of youth, 75
Agricultural and Rural Development Act: Gaspe development, 240
Agriculture: limited in New France, 14; importance after Conquest, 15; French-Canadian role, 16, 188; problems of, 20, 204; “vocation” of French Canadians, 20-21; effect on other occupations, 22; efficiency, 23, 241; ratio to manufacturing, 24; role in nineteenth century, 23; reform proposals, favored by church, 72, 205; Royal Commission on, 205; Quebec income, 227; joint programs in, 244
Alberta: school question, 29; French language, 112; political coloration, 120; tax revision, 242; civil servants and bilingualism, 281
Alienation: basic to separatism, 43; relation to terrorism, 56
Allard, Maurice: constitutional revision, 173-74, 180; special status for Quebec, 173; tax reform, 174; “co-operative independence,” 178; separatism, 178; Canadian characteristics, 179
Alliance Laurentienne: established, 141; seedbed for separatism, 145
American business: Quebec role, 4
American Civil War: confederation role, 155; influence on British North America Act, 155-56
American-controlled enterprises: repatriation of profits, 221; Canadian sovereignty, 223; influence on, 302
American influence: Canadian preoccupation with, 302; investment, 302. See also United States American investment: annual rate, 222; key industries, 222; impact on Canada, 223. See also United States
Americanism: cultural impact, 32; resistance to, 56; confused with industrialization, 70, 84, 291; threat of, 225
Anglicization: resistance to, 2, 59, 85; threat to French-speaking Protestants, 58; separatist view of, 87; in English-speaking provinces, 110, 112, 113; anticipated by English Canadians, 217; feared by Quebecers, 217
Anthem, national: English-Canadian view, 256; Quebec pressure for, 256
Anti-Americanism: urbanization, 26; basic to Canadian nationalism, 254-55, 302; electoral appeal, 255
Anti-Catholicism: role in school issue, 29
Anticlericalism: and nationalism, 35; and Cité libre, 51; and intellectuals, 57; and television, 64; within the Church, 71; in early nineteenth century, 73
Arès, Father Richard: role of French-language minorities, 116; interim-type special status, 175
Army: use of French in, 295; French-Canadian attitude toward, 288
Armée de Libération du Québec, 145
Armée Révolutionnaire du Québec, 145
Asbestos strike: Church role, 71; union role, 25, 49-50, 200
Assimilation to English Canada: considered inevitable, 8; resistance to, 46-47, 84; role of education in, 140; English-Canadian anticipation, 140; non-British elements, 253; and bilingualism, 282; French-Canadian view of, 288; conflicting views on, 301
Associated state: lacks appeal to English Canada, 174; Jacques-Yvan Morin on, 175–76; special-status stage, 176; acceptance of, 178

Atlantic Community: Canadian commercial role, 225

Atlantic provinces: French language, 110; income, 198; educational levels, 207; subsidies to, 243

Atomic energy: University of Montreal, 211; research expenditures apportionment, 250

Autonomy: a stop-gap, 41; exploited by Maurice Duplessis, 49; early pressure for, 138; nation-wide, 153; key to division of powers, 176; obstacle to federal regime, 176; essential to bilingual country, 177; Marcel Rioux on, 178; Gérard Lévesque on, 179; alternative to separatism, 180; threat to confederation, 184; federal threat to education, 213; economic aspect, 217; price for, 252; Prime Minister Pearson’s concessions on, 285; British North America Act, 288; professed goal, 297. See also Provincial autonomy; Quebec autonomy

Authority: traditional view, 41; French-Canadian mentality, 46; resistance to, 51; meaning questioned, 74; attitudes toward, 264

Back to the land: Church support for, 25; and nationalism, 30

Balance of payments: chronic deficit, 222; concern over, 222–23; borrowing abroad, 224

Barbeau, Raymond: paternity of français, 92; wants state support for French, 93; stirs public on language, 94; decrees early English instruction, 99; separatist theorist, 141; on infiltration of separatists, 148; politico-economic factors, 249; separatists and xenophobia, 251; opposes bilingualism, 282; unilingualism in Quebec, 298; Quebec independence, 299

Bélanger Commission: tax reform proposals, 247

Bennett, W. A. C.: British Columbian separatism, 268; little sympathy for Quebec, 268

Biculturalism: political implications of, 9, 176, 182, 183, 307; English-Canadian attitudes toward, 12, 176, 230, 268, 304, 305; and a special status for Quebec, 12, 184; and the future of confederation, 116, 293, 294, 295, 303; political parties’ attitudes, 121, 122; Jean Lesage’s vertical-horizontal view of, 137; separatist view of, 141; constitutional aspect of, 159, 165, 168, 169; and co-operative federalism, 168; formal equality proposed, 169; suspicion of in Quebec, 169; judicial veto over, 181; and labor unions, 202, 203; federal role in education, 213; and federal-provincial relations, 215; seen as unrealistic, 223; Duff Roblin on, 269; threat to New Canadians, 276; impact of B. n. B. Commission on, 279; businessmen and, 280, 282, 293; and communication, 280, 282; Prime Minister Pearson’s impression of, 280; and the universities, 280; institutional aspect of, 282; and national corporations, 293; Canada Council’s role, 295; Maurice Lamontagne’s role in, 296; federal adjustment to, 306; Pearson’s key role in, 306

Bilingualism: official recognition of, 12; theories on, 99; degrees of, 100; role in Confederation, 100; expansion opposed, 101; foreign models, 101; pushed by Laurier La Pierre, 101; pressures for, 105; price of unity, 106; meaning, 116–17; proposed on national scale, 169; seen as a trap, 169; constitutional role for Quebec, 175; constitutional basis, 183; manpower problem, 196; choice for English-speaking Quebeckers, 262; misconception of, 264; English-Canadian support for, 272, 280; obligation on individual citizen, 280; in universities, 281; criticism of, 281–82; and assimilation threat, 282; seen as a panaacea, 282; French-Canadian skepticism over, 282; would estrange English Canadians, 282; decreasing French-Canadian support for, 284; eventual elimination of, 285; burden on French Canadians, 292–93; political exploitation of, 308; discontent over in English Canada, 308

Bilingualism in federal service: civil-service requirement, 107; English-Canadian acceptance of, 168; civil servants’ association attitude, 281; civil servants and, 285; loopholes in law re, 286

Bill of rights: Louis-Joseph Papineau, 28; lack of, 129; pressure for, 164

Bill 60: Church-state differences, 210; preparation for, 210

Binationalism: conflicting attitudes on, 179; step to separatism, 182; threat to Confederation, 184; labor unions and, 200

Bladen Report: education financing, 212; criticized in Quebec, 213

Bloc Populaire Canadien: anticonscriptionism, 31; 1944 elections, 31
B.N.A. Act, see British North America Act
B. n' B. Commission, see Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism

Borduas, Paul-Emile: impact on Quebec intellectuals, 51; and Frère Untel, 53; nihilism of, 53; total commitment to liberty, 59; influence on Robert Roussel, 69; liberating role, 290

Bourassa, Henri: founded Le Devoir, 29; pan-Canadian, 30, 41, 254; attraction of independence, 41; nationalist spokesman, 62

British Columbia: anticentralization, 5; enters Confederation, 19; French language, 113; political coloration, 120; educational levels, 207; tax revision, 242

British Crown: loyalty to, 256; French-Canadian attitude toward, 288, 290

British immigration: French-Canadian attitude toward, 28; and anti-French sentiment, 29

British North America Act: passed, 19; French-Canadian use of, 50; separatists reject, 138; flexibility, 153; origin, 154; compared to American Constitution, 155-56; defended, 159; indifference to, 159; spirit of, 159; amendment procedure, 160; amendment problems, 161; supporters of, 163; amendment necessary to broaden provincial powers, 172-73; favors federal power extension, 172-73; French-Canadian resistance to, 184; and social security, 193; French-Canadian reliance on, 288; expedients in, 302. See also Constitution

British Parliament: minority rights, 256; role in constitutional revision, 153, 160; ratified Constitution, 158; constitutional amendment, 161

Brunet, Michel: advocates provincial autonomy, 33; criticizes Parent Report, 40; debunks Lionel Groulx, 40; on dominant ideas in Quebec history, 40; on higher-education costs, 210; on bilingualism, 282; on need for self-reliance, 293; pan-Canadianism, 293

Bureau d'aménagement de l'Est du Québec: psychological impact, 240; recommendations, 240; political impact, 241

Business: French language in, 12; political support for, 121; professional training, 188; semilization for French-Canadians, 189; anglicizing role in Quebec, 190-91; semiartisanal in Quebec, 190-91; orientation toward in Quebec, 192; French-Canadian-controlled, 199; financing small enterprises, 238; in independent Quebec, 251; French-Canadian role in, 263

Business leaders: French Canadians, 189; professional training, 189-90; expansionist mentality lacking, 190; accommodate Quebec nationalism, 192; concern over state role, 231

Canada: Jean Lesage's vertical-horizontal image, 137; price for, 176, 273, 287; refuge for defeated, 257; problems without Quebec, 268; second choice for immigrants, 275; danger for future, 283; separation from Britain, 302

Canada Council: cultural-affairs role proposed, 295

Canada Development Corporation: balance-of-payments problem, 224

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation: intellectual elite, 4; role in quiet revolution, 4; French network strike, 34, 53, 63, 202; haven for intellectuals, 57; bilingual administration, 108 Canadian Dualism/La dualité canadienne: junior-senior relationship, 268

Canadian Economic Council: manpower policy, 196; American economy, 222; balance-of-payments problem, 222-23

Canadian Educational Council: national school system proposed, 294

Canadian French: defended by Frenchman, 89. See also French-Canadian speech

Canadianism: defined, 36, 257; Quebec attitude toward, 256; "dual-self" concept, 258; negative aspect of, 258; New Canadians, 275. See also National identity Canadian identity: English-Canadian image, 151; "repatriation" of Constitution, 154; search for, 254; postwar need of, 255; fusion with U.S.

Canadian independence: a step toward Quebec independence, 41; Westminster Statute, 151; cost of, 302-3

Canadian Labor Congress: nationalism, 199; strength, 199; problems with Fédération des Travailleurs du Québec, 200; and New Democratic Party, 201; labor unity, 201; 1966 congress, 201

Canadian National Railway: bilingual policy of, 108; discrimination in, 189-90; French Canadians in, 191; French language in, 191; Queen Elizabeth Hotel incident, 260; division of rights to, 267
Canadian sovereignty: Hudson's Bay Company an obstacle, 19; U.S. commmercial infringement on, 223
Canadian Students Union: Frenchlanguage students withdraw from, 81;
favor French as official in Ontario,
272 Canadian Teachers' Federation: federal aid to education, 213
Canadian West: market role, 18; colonization efforts, 48
Caouette, Réal: political philosophy,
121; rural support, 204
Capital: sources of, 150; market, 223;
co-operatives, 235
Catholic Action: role in quiet revolution, 4; intellectuals, 49
Catholic Farmers' Union: separatism,
205
Catholicism: and French language, 32, 79, 218, 291; protected by French language, 35; French-Canadian, 46;
and Cité libre, 51–52; rejected by Paul-Émile Borduas, 52; and English language, 79; link to nationalism, 79;
political impact of, 127; English-
Canadian fear of, 288
Catholic schools: assured by Manitoba
Act, 19; federal role, 206; authority,
209
Central government, see Federal government
Centralization: national revulsion against, 5, 124; postwar trend, 5, 153;
Quebec resistance to, 5, 230; and English Canada, 155, 176, 183;
countered by Privy Council, 157; and provincial jurisdiction, 161; and constitutional revision, 163; and cooperative federalism, 167; and special status for Quebec, 170; tendency in federations, 172; contrasting views on,
179; social costs, 241; imposed by
Ottawa, 244; and national identity,
253
Chaput, Marcel: Pourquoi je suis séparatiste, 61; re French Canadians in armed forces, 104; organizes le Parti Républicain du Québec, 142; candidate for legislature, 143; hunger strike, 143; and the Front Républicain de l'Indépendance, 145; appeal for infiltration, 148
Christian Democracy: Cité libre team,
50–51
Church: advocate of rural life, 21; influence enhanced by Conquest, 21; popular support, 21, viewed by nationalist leaders, 35; discouraged rebellion, 36, 72; restraint against extremism, 36; opposed Sir Wilfrid Laurier, 45; and asbestos strike, 50;
secular interests of, 51; complacency
denounced, 52; Jansenist influence, 54; criticized on television, 64; new relationships to, 70; subservience to Duplessis, 71; evolution of in Quebec,
72; modus vivendi with British, 72;
prerogatives through default, 72;
sought agricultural economy, 72; and danger of power, 73; economic impact, 73; strengthened in nineteenth century, 73; Pope John's influence, 74; alienation from, 75; confidence shaken, 75; internal ferment, 77;
material wealth, 77–78; still import-
tant force, 77; leaders hesitant, 83; attitude toward the state, 129; and corporatism, 130; and Confédération des Syndicats Nationaux, 200; and ed-educational costs, 210; Montreal English-language press attitude toward,
263; revolt against, 264
Church, role of: changing, 4, 34, 74; in assuring popular loyalty, 21; in survivance, 21; under France, 21, 72; in nationalist ideology, 43; television coverage, 63–64; in Quebec, 71; as central institution of French Canadians, 73; as sole defender of French Canadians, 73; in social services, 73, 78; discussed, 76; in education, 78–79, 209; democratic, 127
Cité libre: attitude toward Confederation,
50; attitude toward separatism,
50; goals of, 50–51; influence on quiet revolution, 50; anticlericalism, 51;
and Paul-Émile Borduas, 51–52; and Catholicism, 51–52; force for change, 55; youth estranged from, 56; philosophical base, 57; and pluralism, 58; iconoclasm of, 83; "Manifesto for a functional policy," 124
Citizens' Civic Action Association, 277
Civil law: element in survival of French
Canada, 32; Section 94, 155;
constitutional protection for, 175; judicial guarantees proposed for, 175;
national recognition sought for, 298
Civil rights: divergent views of, 11; and school question, 58; French-Canadian view of, 129; collective concept, 137;
role of minority, 138–39; separatists'
view of, 139; group vs individual
rights, 262
Civil servants: labor unions, 200; training, 208; cultural responsibility, 215
Civil War, American: threat of military involvement, 18
Class conflict: linguistic aspect, 217
Clergy: at ebb in early nineteenth century, 73; influx from Europe, 73; complacency, 74; resentment of criticism, 74; basis of assignment, 78; unremunerated services, 78

Clergy, influence of: after the Conquest, 36; Cité libre opposed, 57; intellectual, 61

Clergy, role of: in education, 32, 209; traditional, in nationalism, 34; for moderation, 36; in quiet revolution, 71; extrapastoral, 78; evolving, 78-79

Clericalism: L’Affaire Bradet, 61; not confined to clergy, 71; complaints of intellectuals against, 73; lay responsibility for, 74; assailed by Monsignor Lussier, 74; school reform, 210

Cognée, La: separatist bimonthly, 144; publication continued, 299

Colleges classiques: shaped elite, 46; Church control, 78; primary role, 79; and separatism, 81; professional training, 188; training criticized, 189; professional preparation, 206; scope, 207; financing, 211

Colonialism: André Laurendeau’s theory, 263; affects thinking of English Canadians, 266

Colonization: importance before the Conquest, 21; to halt emigration, 22; foreign investment, 223

Commerce: French Canadians in, 6; monopoly of English merchants, 15; importance before the Conquest, 21-22; government’s primary interest, 72; training for, 188, 208

Commercial policies: federal-provincial relations, 232

Communication facilities: role of key cities, 65

Communications systems: nationalization threat to, 237

Communication theory: Karl W. Deutsch, 38

Communism: propaganda use by Maurice Duplessis, 71

Communists: restricted activity in Quebec, 26; Padlock Act, 129; Quebec strength, 147

“Compact” theory: rejected by English Canadians, 158; importance of to French Canadians, 159

“Complete society” concept: goal of French Canada, 186; reformulation, 219; basis for independence, 297

Concurrent majorities, see Double majorities; Dual majorities

Confederation: threat of French-Canadian nationalism, 1, 6, 7-9, 19, 83, 184, 217, 253, 255, 297, 305; depends on English Canada, 3; role of French Canadians, 5, 44, 246, 308; price for, 6, 116, 137, 308; conscription threat, 7-8, 29-31; Quebec rethinking, 8, 53, 138, 163, 294; economic aspects, 10, 249, 304; benefits for French Canadians, 12, 169; origins of, 19, 155, 156; centralization, 19, 155; and French-Canadian political strength, 40; and national objectives, 43, 308; Cité libre attitude toward, 50; centennial symbolism, 102; combines federalism and parliamentarism, 155; shaped by Privy Council, 156; provincial autonomy, 158; scope of, 165, 173; road to independence for Quebec, 173; labor attitudes on, 202-3; favored Ontario, 253; French-Canadian grievances, 259-60; and B. n’ B. Commission, 279, 283; Quebec’s status in, 272, 294, 306-7; technocracy threat to, 301; unanimity without Quebec, 303; Prime Minister Pearson’s role in preserving, 305

Confédération des Syndicats Nationaux: friction with Fédération des Travailleurs du Québec, 200; objectives and strength, 200; and labor unity, 201; and biculturalism, 202; political attitudes, 203; and artists’ unions, 203

Conquest of 1759-60: effects of, 259; French-Canadian attitude toward, 7; 14, 55, 262, 267, 288-89; heritage of for English Canadians, 284

Conscription: threat to Confederation, 7-8; World War I, 29; World War II, 30; 1944 provincial election issue, 31; passed over French-Canadian objections, 128

Conscription issue: generates nationalism, 33; French-English antagonisms, 39; dualistic federalism, 169; verbal excesses over, 289

Conseil d’Expansion Economique: economic survey, 250; objectives, 251

Conservatives, see Progressive Conservatives

Conscription: threat to Confederation, 7-8; World War I, 29; World War II, 30; 1944 provincial election issue, 31; passed over French-Canadian objections, 128

Conscription issue: generates nationalism, 33; French-English antagonisms, 39; dualistic federalism, 169; verbal excesses over, 289

Conseil d’Expansion Economique: economic survey, 250; objectives, 251

Conservatives, see Progressive Conservatives

Constitution: French-Canadian guarantees, 9; Quebec prepares attack on, 10; French-language rights, 12; revision envisaged, 122, 153, 293; provincial jurisdiction, 133, 155, 232; international competence, 135, 136; “repatriation,” 153, 160, 161, 256; contrasting views on, 154, 158, 179; pressure to revise, 154, 159; Section 91, 155; and educational jurisdiction, 155, 206, 286; taxation, 155, 158, 242, 244; federal jurisdiction, 155, 220, 232; Section 92, 155; altered by Privy Council, 156; ‘sacred aspect, sharing of functions recommended, 158; amendments to, 160; evolutionary change, 160; residuary clause, 174; strict compliance with, 306; and national unity, 306. See also British North America Act Constitutional Act of 1791: brought representative government, 16; misuse of democracy, 128 Constitutional amendment: provincial role, 159, 161, 162, 163; reform in procedure proposed, 160; British concurrence in, 161; role of Parliament, 163; federal-provincial conferences, 161; federal role, 161–62; Fulton-Favreau formula, 161; Quebec fears of, 161; favors federal government, 170–72; Quebec veto proposed, 175; unemployment insurance, 185, 244; social security, 193; economic autonomy, 234; old-age pensions, 244 Constitutional Court: Jacques-Yvan Morin objects to legislative role of, 177; proposed binationalism of, 177; Quebec pressure for, 298 Constitutional revision: outlook for, 9; French-language rights, 12, 168, 203; provincial rights, 157, 166; range of opinion on, 159, 163, 164–65; French-Canadian pressure for, 162, 289, 307; special status for Quebec, 163, 168; centralization, 163; problem of flexibility, 164, 164–65, 180; constitutional tribunal, 165; co-operative federalism, 165; division of powers, 165; economic questions, 165; fiscal problems, 165; international role for Quebec, 165; senators, 165; social welfare, 165; television and radio, 165; and biculturalism, 168; “opting out,” 168; concurrent majority proposed, 169, 180; danger of insistance on, 169; legislative union proposed, 169; controversial proposals, 174; Tremblay Report, 175; Daniel Johnson on, 180; New Democratic Party, 181; reluctance to discuss, 182; English-Canadian pressure for, 183; Confédération des Syndicats Nationaux, 203; secession threat, 297

Cook, Ramsay: would delay constitutional reform, 182; “lonely independence,” 255; contrasts philosophies, 262; changing concepts in both language groups, 298

Co-operative Commonwealth Federation: opposed by Church, 25; and New Democratic Party, 120; social-welfare programs, 120

Co-operative federalism: bilingualism, 116; Liberals, 122; Pearson regime, 165; definition of, 166; attacked by autonomists, 167; centralization, 167; minimizes written constitution, 167; minority rights imperiled, 167; subordinates legislatures, 167; biculturalism, 168

“Co-operative independence”: complete equality, 178; five-year pact, 178

Co-operatives: pushed by Church, 25; success in Quebec, 235

Corporation profit tax: grants to provinces, 242; distribution, 245; federal control proposed, 247

Corporatism: Church-sponsored, 25; Quebec interest in, 26; and nationalism in 1930s, 30; minority safeguard, 130; separatist theory, 141; appeal, 142

Coureurs de bois: spirit of quiet revolution, 4; trade role, 15, 21; traits, 45; literary role, 69

Creditistes: in House of Commons, 44; French-language rights, 106; impact on English Canada, 106; rural support, 204

Credit unions: role in quiet revolution, 4; early success, 25; Quebec, 235

Cultural Affairs Ministry: unique in North America, 94; speech standards, 95; “beyond-the-frontiers” aid, 113

Cultural autonomy: political adjustment, 2; threatened by bilingualism, 282

Cultural equality: challenge for English Canada, 151–52; implications of, 168; geographic core, 298

Cultural factors: compared to Europe, 41; sounding board for nationalism, 44; conflict between, 46; national values, 46; importance to elite, 60; modernization, 70

D’Allemagne, André: founds Rassemblement pour l’Indépendance Nationale, 142

Decentralization: evolution toward self-government, 18; co-operative federalism, 166; economic considerations, 241

Decolonization: role of revolutionaries, 146

De Gaulle, Charles: influence in Quebec, 56, 66

Delegations general: influence in Quebec, 56, 66

Democracy: poor example of English Canada, 6, 44, 127; different concepts of, 9; French-Canadian view of, 27, 128; shaky commitment to in Quebec, 44; misuse of against French Canadians, 127, 128, 262; foundations of in Quebec, 127; French Revolution and, 127; new acceptance of, 130; role of universities, 130; French-Canadian mistrust of, 286; dangers of technology, 301; acceptance of compromise, 308

INDEX
INDEX

Department of Public Instruction: secondary school system, 208

Depression: effect on nationalism, 30, 48

Deutsch, Karl W.: communication theory, 38; national consciousness, 38, 42; quantifying nationalism, 42; role of key cities in nationalism, 65; education and nationalism, 140

Devoir, Le: founded by Henri Bourassa, 29; force for change, 52; launches Frère Untel, 53; influence of, 62, 65, 106; assessment of French Canada, 105

Diefenbaker, John: coalesces opposition to Duplessis, 52; 1965 election, 121; French-Canadian lieutenants, 125; attacks Prime Minister Pearson, 126; on concurrent majorities, 257; criticizes B. n' B. Commission, 279; obeisance to French, 286; rejects binationalism, 286

Dion, Father Gérard: castigates electoral fraud, 52; attack on Duplessis regime, 131

Dion, Léon: on school question, 210

Disallowance of provincial legislation: frequently invoked, 156; dead letter, 174

Discrimination against French Canadians: in civil service, 31–32; in business, 189

Dofny, Jacques: European models of industrialization, 238–39; state financing of industrialization, 238

Double majority: Union of 1841, 154; 1841, 169; "co-operative independence," 178; constitutional reform, 180; Diefenbaker, 257

Douglas, T. C.: 1965 elections, 119; proposes Confederation Council, 181; constitutional revision, 181; state funds for investment, 224

Droit, Le, 62, 111

Dualistic federalism: conscription issue, 169; Edward McWhinney, 169

Dual majority: basis of Confederation, 7; labor unions, 202. See also Double majority

Dual sovereignty: two-nation concept, 295

Duplessis, Maurice: conservative nationalism, 4; reluctance to co-operate with Ottawa, 5; Padlock Act, 26, 129; tenure as premier, 26; patronage, 27; 1944 elections, 31; death, 31; intellectuals under, 33; death a watershed, 45; succeeded by Paul Sauvé, 53; and Church, 71; students picket, 80; role in Union Nationale, 123; and English-speaking Montreal, 263

Duplessis regime: arbitrary attitude of, 44; criticized, 52; corruption, 131; university financing, 210; English-Canadian view of, 254

Durham's Report: model for decentralization, 17; survival of French, 302

Eastern Quebec Planning Board, see Bureau d'Aménagement de l'Est du Québec

École des Hautes Études Commerciales: aims, 208; financing, 210

École Polytechnique: financing, 210

Economic autonomy: statistical basis, 10; French-Canadian proponents of, 187; class aspect, 218; Quebec, 219; French-English conflict, 220; Harry G. Johnson on, 225; provincial role, 230; long-time goal, 235; nationalism, 236

Economic Council, see Quebec Economic Orientation Council

Economic development: Quebec lag, 2, 207, 216; French-Canadian influence, 20; energy for, 33; comparative, 198; educational level, 207, 231; research, 218, techniques, 219, political considerations, 231, 241; state financing, 238; Bureau d'Aménagement de l'Est du Québec, 240

Economic expansion: changing markets, 2; cultural factors, 23–24; Confederation incentive, 154–55; pension fund, 194; provincial role, 226, 230; federal responsibility, 248; tax distribution, 248

Economic Expansion Council: educational role, 208

Economic growth: federal role, 181, private enterprise, 231; state role, 231

Economic nationalism: anti-Americanism, 302

Economic planning: need for statistics, 10, 231; problems, 133, 232; separatist view of, 139; constitutional revision, 175; provincial role, 176, 230; national council proposed, 180; federal ascendancy, 230; help for private enterprise, 232; monetary control, 232; federal-provincial relations, 233; limitations in Quebec, 233; France's influence, 234; French-Canadian aim, 235

Economic power: French-Canadian objective, 2; in English-Canadian hands, 20; nationalist objective, 32; separatist view of, 142; price of Canadian unity, 308

Economic problems: separatist view of, 139; cultural dualism, 295

Economy: provincial role, 10; state role, 133, 297; effect of independence on, 150; French-Canadian role in, 188, 263; fiscal controls, 247; federal management questioned, 248; American influence, 255; partnership implications, 304

Education: French-speaking minorities, 5; provincial jurisdiction, 10, 185, 206, 214, 215, 246, 286; disrupted by Conquest, 16; inadequate for commerce, 16; under British colonial rule, 16; early limitations, 22; role of clergy, 32, 74, 77, 78-79; Department of Public Instruction, 54; reform, 60, 74, 75, 133, 155, 209, 218; and nationalization, 65, 140, 218; efforts to Protestantize, 73; Church blocks, 73; effect on language, 91, 217; federal role, 114, 167, 206, 212, 213-14, 243, 244, 246, 286; constitutional provisions, 114, 155, 286; and social progress, 140; role in separatism, 140, 150; cost, 185; expansion plans, 186; French schools on national level, 196; readaptation policies, 196; agricultural problems, 205; levels, 206-8; economic development, 207, 231; ethnic differences, 207; enrollment percentages, 209; objectives, 209; High Council of, 210; Bladen Commission, 212; doctorate level, 211; financing, 211-214; federal-provincial relations, 214, 244, 246, 286; new attitude toward, 289; national school board proposed, 294

Education Ministry: Frère Untel, 54; aid to foreign countries, 135; jurisdiction, 208-9, 210; Protestant view of, 262

Égalité ou Indépendance: constitutional reform, 180

Electoral districts: rural predominance, 122; reapportionment, 134, 204

Electric industry: nationalization, 133, 218

Emigration: social inertia resulting from, 22, 46; spurs rural colonization, 22; economic appeal, 48; ratio to immigration, 275; living standards, 303

Employment: in industry, 23; political framework, 231; program, 246; outlook for French Canadians, 290

English Canada: responsibility for confederation, 3; confronted by Quebec nationalism, 5; majority rule, 8, 184; centralization, 124, 230, 306-7; democratic example, 127; terrorism, 144, 253; separatist role, 149; attitude toward cultural equality, 152, 178, 230, 268, 304; and French language, 168, 181, 184, 260, 274, 294, 308; constitutional change, 178, 183; associated state, 178; French-Canadian attitude toward, 178, 290; two-nation concept, 180-81; attitude toward Quebec, 182, 220, 248, 260-61, 303; concern over parliamentary instability, 182; role of federal government, 213, 246; French-Canadian aggressiveness, 221; economic autonomy, 230; shared-expense programs, 244; importance of economic factors, 248; view of separatism, 250, 266, 268; responsibility toward French Canada, 275; rejected by French-Canadian extremes, 289; unlikely to resort to arms, 300

English Canadians: and extremism, 1, 13, 280, 299; attitude toward French Canada, 3, 5, 6, 8, 257, 259, 264, 271, 288, 289, 295; shift in attitude toward French Canada, 3, 8, 106, 218, 264, 265, 270, 271, 273, 283, 287; democratic practice, 6, 9, 286; expected to assimilate French Canadians, 8, 217, 259, 302; attitudes toward French language, 11-12, 89, 95, 168, 278, 285, 302; puzzled by French-Canadian demands, 11, 260, 284; economic aspect of separatism, 139; reject “compact” theory, 158; oppose early constitutional reform, 160; middle-class role in Quebec, 217; in Quebec, 251, 269, 270; national symbols, 256; bilingualism, 264, 272, 274; French Canada as guarantee for Canada, 268, 282, 294, 298, 303, 304, 305, 307; Quebec political party, 271; numbers, 274; partnership, 274; B. n’ B. Commission, 278, 279, 280, 283, 302, 305; ambivalence toward French Canada, 284, 302; caution on political commitments, 285, 303-4; North American context, 284-85, 294; self-sufficiency shaken, 289-90; proposed national cultural system, 294; ambivalence toward U.S., 302, 303-4; accept separation from Britain, 302; loyalty to Canada, 303; special status for Quebec, 305; pressure on French Canada, 308

English-French conflict: Louis Riel execution, 7; chance of reduced, 9; language, 84; Confederation Council,
INDEX

English-French relations: linguistic barrier, 2; no sense of community, 2-3; consensus, 7; danger of confrontation, 7; topic avoided, 8; lack of communication, 11, 260, 305; pattern established, 16; co-operation in government, 18; Canadian Dualism/La dualité canadienne, 268; change in outlook, 289; New Brunswick, 296; influences on, 301-2; English-Canadian domination, 304

English language: official unilingualism, 12, 18; critical factor for French language in Montreal, 85; use in business, 90, 97, 263; official use in Quebec, 96; influence in Quebec, 97; in French-language schools, 99; French-Canadian need for, 99, 265; social status and, 99; ability of French-Canadians in, 100; generalized use in Quebec opposed, 101; in armed forces, 104; "New Canadians" opt for, 135; minority status protected in Quebec, 175; assimilation to, 253; preponderance on continent, 259, 265; outlook in Quebec, 265

English-language rights: Fulton-Favreau formula, 161

English-speaking Canadians: object of resentment, 35; solidarity, 253; British tie, 256

English-speaking "Establishment," French Canadians in, 140

English-speaking minority in Quebec: dominant in cities, 20; effect on French-language schools elsewhere, 114

English-speaking provinces: place of French in, 137; abdicate provincial rights, 185-86; pressures for change, 286; divisions between, 303; centrifugal proclivities, 307

English-speaking Quebeckers: sided with rebels, 17; rights assured, 98; minority position, 262; new defensive attitude, 262

Etat du Québec: French-Canadian national instrument, 6; Premier Lesage's use of, 136; basis for independence, 300

"Ethnics": increase, 275; numbers, 275; "third force" proposed, 277; impact of growing use of French, 278

European Common Market: separatists' attitude toward, 139; model for Canada, 179, 295

Expo 67: economic stimulant, 227

Falardeau, Jean-C.: re professional training, 188; "dual-self" concept, 258; re dangers of technocracy, 301

Faribault, Marcel: addresses students, 82; constitutional revision, 164; federal control of economy, 248

Farmer organizations: select States-General representatives, 132; constitutional revision, 203; French-language rights, 203

Farmers: political support, 204; early pension, 205; protest marches, 205

Fascism, 30

Fathers of confederation: views on nation, 37; constitutional amendment, 159; unforeseen problems, 167

Favreau, Guy: role in Ottawa, 125. See also Fulton-Favreau formula

Federal aid to education: problem for Quebec, 213

Federal bureaucracy: French Canadians in, 102-3, 105, 308. See also Federal service; Ottawa

Federal funds: for provincial programs, 134; university financing, 210

Federal government: French-Canadian attitude toward, 9, 126, 257; conciliatory policy, 9; constitutional study, 9; recognition of French language, 12; indecision, 118; French-Canadian role, 136; residuary powers, 155-56; curbed by Privy Council, 156; preponderance of power, 156; target of provincial premiers, 156; role expanded by wars, 157; intrusion into provincial jurisdiction, 161, 185, 244, 246; in education, 167, 212; economic and fiscal responsibility, 171; favored by constitutional change, 172-73; proposals for binational state, 177; Quebec labor unions, 202; expenditures, 245; minority rights, 246; "opting out," 246; economic controls, 247; income, 247; revenue sharing, 249-50; second-language bonus, 277; change required, 293-94; cultural guarantees, 293; French-Canadian pressure, 293; Quebec competition, 295; accommodation with Quebec, 299; adherence to constitution, 307; recognizes French Canada's political power, 307

Federal jurisdiction: fields of general concern, 185; social security, 193; shared programs, 244

Federal powers: Prime Minister Pearson
INDEX

and, 118; Section 91, 155; basis of in Constitution, 157; fiscal responsibility, 157

Federal-provincial conferences: constitutional change, 160–61; need questioned, 167; Prime Minister Pearson’s policy, 234

Federal-provincial relations: social fields, 5, 193–94, 215; economic fields, 5, 230, 232, 234; changes in, 118; subordination question, 136; international role, 136; Rowell-Sirois Report, 158, constitutional reform, 164–65, 307;
conferences, 166; Maurice Lamontagne, 166; co-operative federalism,
167; T. D. Douglas, 181; education,
206, 203–14, 286; foreign investment,
226; monetary matters, 242; tax revision, 242, 244, 245, 246, 247; joint programs, 244; revenue-sharing, 245;
provincial solidarity, 248; Prime Minister Pearson’s conciliatory role, 305–
6; obviating special status, 306

Federal service: French language, 11, 106, 184, 272, 295, 298; outlet f.or anti-Duplessis elements, 49; Frenchlanguage school, 106; technical requirements, 107; French Canadians in, 125, 176; bilingualism, 285;
French-Canadian attitude toward,
288. See also Federal bureaucracy

Fédération des Travailleurs du Québec:
friction with Canadian Labor Congress, 200; special status for Quebec, 201; condemns separatism, 203; and constitutional revision, 203

Filion, Gérard: on pace of change, 54;
industrialization, 238; economics vs
politics, 241

Fiscal autonomy: and Constitution, 9,
234; Quebec jurisdiction, 298

Fiscal policy: double role, 157;
federal-provincial relations, 232

Fiscal problems: Rowell-Sirois Report, 158; tax-structure committee, 245;
federal-provincial relations, 247

Fiscal reform: favors provinces, 174;
Carter Commission, 247

Fiscal responsibility: federal power, 157;
proposed reform, 173–74; Quebec position, 243

Flag: symbolic value, 102; English-
Canadian view, 256; Quebec pressure for, 256; attitude in British Columbia, 269

Foreign investment: tax on, 221; total, 221; political implications, 222; impact of, 223; attracted by tariff walls, 224; restrictions on, 225

Foreign policy: national council proposed for, 180; independent role, 256;
and U.S., 256; Quebec complicates, 303

Forestry: French-Canadian role, 188. See also Lumber Industry.

Forsey, Eugene: on two-nation concept,
37; politico-cultural dichotomy, 182;
special treatment for Quebec, 273

France: influence in Quebec, 4, 46, 56,
66; cultural bonds, 66; provincial dia-lcets, 88–89; cultural pact with Quebec, 134–35, 174; influence on separatists, 150; emigration, 197; economic planning model, 234, 238–40; transition to technology, 291; competitiveness, 292; parallel of political change, 300, States-General to Terror, 301

French Canada: minority status, 2; renaissance, 2, 290; question of choices,
3, 303; definition of, 5, 37, 294, 295;
lessons in democracy, 6, 7; cultural survival, 8, 293; benefits of confederation, 12, 304; political power, 84,
293, 307; humiliations, 105; States-
General, 132; Premier Lesage speaks for, 171; guarantees proposed, 175;
veto rights, 183; opposition to British North America Act, 184; social adaptation, 186; sense of values, 220;
economic role, 221, 304; role in national identity, 253, 257, 268, 302, 308; attitude of English Canada to-adward, 258, 268, 269, 270, 302; parallels with English Canada, 258; English-Canadian need for, 289; debunk-ing, 290; technical competence, 292

French-Canadian attitudes: the state,
6, 129, 130, 131; Confederation, 8,
126, 155, 161, 289, 293, 296–97; federal government, 8, 103, 105, 107,
257, 294; democracy, 127, 129;
France, 135; immigration 197; federal role in education, 214, 247; English
Canadians, 262, 288, 289

French-Canadian nationalism: generated by English-Canadianism, 39; threat to
Confederation, 153

French-Canadian population, 6, 87;
English Canadians’ waning fear of,
288, 289

French-Canadian rights: John Robarts
on, 272. See also French-language
rights

French Canadians: urban dwellers, 1;
aspirations, 2, 8, 9, 12, 186, 293, 294, 296–97, 299; viewed by English Canadians, 3, 11, 221, 259, 260–61, 264, 265, 284, 289; role in Confeder; ation, 3, 5–6, 136, 246, 248, 294;
national entity, 6, 36–37; psychological shift, 6, 7, 34, 198, 221, 259, 290,
INDEX

298; use of English, 11, 99, 100, 216; in federal service, 12, 102-3, 105, 107, 125, 156, 187, 191, 192, 308; identity, 36-37, 185, 257, 282, 288; anglicization of, 87, formalism of, 105, political persuasion, 120, political philosophy, 127, 289, 293, 294, 296-97, 299; civil rights, 128, 129, 137; and constitutional change, 155, 159, 161, 163, 175, 177, 288, 293, 303, 306; and British Crown, 161, 288; economic role, 186-88, 198, 235, 240-41, 249, 251; business role, 187, 189, 190-91, 192, 199, 218, 235, 292; technological advances, 187, 208, 218, 228, 291; professional role, 190, 218; labor-mobility problem, 197; in labor movement, 200, 201; nationalism, 216, 293, 297, 299, 303; common heritage with other Canadians, 257; and bilingualism, 264, 281, 282, 292-93; political power, 266-67, 282, 286; secession guarantees, 267; Premier Lesage claims to speak for, 273; emigration, 275, 303; accord with Ukrainians, 276; B. n' B. Commission, 278, 279, 305; and English-language universities, 294; desire for independence, 299; sympathy for terrorists, 299-300

French-Canadian speech: criticized by Frère Untel, 54; safeguards, 87; quality of, 88-90, 91, 93; anglicization, 89, 90-91, 93; early uniformity, 89; archaisms, 90; Canadianisms, 90, 92; class distinctions, 91; efforts to improve, 93, 95

French culture: “Laurentia” a safeguard, 12; new appreciation of in Quebec, 55, 69; foreign to Quebec, 66; nationalism, 290; firmer commitment to, 291; beyond Quebec, 293; search for national basis, 295; Canadian national identity, 307

“French domination”: 1850 slogan; new assessment of Canadianism, 303

French-English relations, see English-French relations

“French fact”: growing recognition of, 8; subject to “tyranny of majority,” 128; English-Canadian view, 257, 302; political reaction to, 286; Prime Minister Pearson’s perception of, 306

French language: in federal service, 11, 12, 87, 99, 102, 104, 105, 106, 107, 134, 274, 293, 295, 306; improved outlook for, 12, 85; in army, 12, increasing use of, 12, 95; in Parliament, 12, 104, 106; and Durham Report, 17, 302; cabinet-crisis issue, 19; outside Quebec, 19, 28, 29, 110-112, 116, 137, 184, 296; and Catholicism, 32, 35, 79, 218, 291; in business, 82, 86-67, 90, 95-96, 97, 98, 192, 216, 263, 270, 292; distinguishing element, 84; English Canadians learn, 86, 285; position in Quebec, 87, 92-93, 270; English-Canadian attitude toward, 89, 116, 260, 264, 302, 304; rural strength, 90; effect of industrialization on, 91; state support for, 93, 94; priority for in Quebec, 94-95, 96, 98, 184, 284, 298; pressure for, 97, 201, 275; government study of role, 98; rights, 102, 168, 280; civil-service school, 106; federal program, 107; and political leaders, 108-09; place in Canada, 116; cost of translation service, 134; Quebec’s national role, 136; role in separatism, 141; bill of rights for, 164; in courts and legislatures, 168, 274; importance of Confederation to, 169; labor readaptation, 187; Canadian National Railway, 191; labor unions, 201; in English-Canadian schools, 272, 281, 282; declining national percentage, 275; for minorities in Quebec, 276; impact on minorities, 278; emotional impact on French Canadians, 280; prerequisite for prime minister, 286; folklore status, 304

French-language minorities: education rights, 5, 274; antiseparatist, 82; reject unilingualism for Quebec, 94, 298; role in Confederation, 115-16, 138, 260-61; effect of Quebec independence, 150, 297; loss discounted by separatists, 151; juridical guarantees, 183; cultural responsibility, 215; distort impression of Quebec, 260-61

French-language press: largely unread by English Canada, 11; L’Evangéline, 110; circulation, 111, 112, 113

French-language rights: French-Canadian desires, 11; in English-speaking provinces, 28, 184; intellectuals defend, 33; on national level, 35, 183; support for, 85; Quebec attitude toward Confederation, 114; symbol of Confederation, 115; sacrificed, 128, 262; constitutional revision, 154, 159, 168; guaranteed by Section 133, 135, 155; Fulton-Favreau formula, 161; advances in recent years, 168; proposed extension of, 174; English-Canadian view, 181; New Democratic Party, 181; unitary state, 294; formally acknowledged, 298

French-language schools: Ontario, 29, 272; outside Quebec, 29, 109, 110,
INDEX

111, 112, 113, 114, 116, 282, 298; Quebec view of, 114; background, 206; federal support, 246, 294-95
French-speaking population: 1961 census, 84; Quebec, 85; of British origin, 86; outside Quebec, 109; trend, 197
Frère Untel: and Paul-Emile Borduas, 53; credit for quiet revolution, 53; criticizes Quebec speech, 54; exiled, 54; in Education Ministry, 54; liberating role, 290
Front de Libération Québécois: accents political unrest, 1; terrorism, 144; cell organization, 145; police concern over, 145, 299
Fulton-Favreau formula: provisions, 161; opposition to, 162; defects in, 163
Fur trade: economic base of New France, 14; attraction for coureurs de bois, 15; Church opposition, 21; French Canadians excluded, 21
Garigue, Philippe: nationalist ideology lacking, 43; French-Canadian nationalism, 216; scientific research, 218
Garneau, François-Xavier: French-Canadian nationalism, 28; source of nationalism, 39
Gaspé: educational levels, 207; economic development, 240; Bureau d'Aménagement de l'Est du Québec, 241
General Investment Corporation, see Société Générale de Financement
Glassco Commission: French Canadians in Ottawa, 103; French in federal service, 105
Gordon, Donald: target of French-Canadian ire, 108; business discrimination, 189
Gordon, Walter: tax on foreign investment, 221; A Choice for Canada, 224; limits financing, 237; Quebec's revenue, 249; anti-Americanism, 302; economic nationalism, 302
Great Britain: Canadian commercial role, 225; counterweight to U.S., 255; loyalty to, 256
Groulx, Canon Lionel: ideas, 29-30; on need for economic power, 32; source of nationalism, 39; debunked by Michel Brunet, 40
Harvey, Pierre: social costs of centralization, 241; tax distribution, 249; costing procedures, 250
Hémon, Louis: voice of Quebec, 47
Hospitals: Church influence, 74; budget, 77-78; Church ownership, 78; administrative reform, 79
House of Commons: simultaneous translation in, 12; sniping of Quebeckers, 106; leadership problem, 118; 1966 session, 126; lack of majority in, 119; fear of separatism, 138
Hudson's Bay Company: obstacle to Canadian sovereignty, 19
Hydroelectric power: and Quebec's development, 24
Immigrants: few farmers in New France, 15; assimilate to English, 85, 86; political role, 256; postwar, 275; foster openness to cultural diversity, 289
Immigration: encouraged by Ottawa, 5; blocks French-Canadian majority, 8; under France, 14; pluralism in French-speaking community, 58, 197; Quebec policy, 135; government programs, 197; Quebec concern over, 197, 275-76; ratio to emigration, 275
Income, per capita: national and provincial, 197; Atlantic provinces, 198
Income tax: federal, 242; grants to provinces, 242; distribution, 245; federal control proposed, 247; federal economic control, 248
Independence for Quebec: social and economic, 3; outlook for, 44, 300; lure of for French Canadians, 137-38, 297, 299, 308; living standards, 139; economic problems of, 150, 251; special status for Quebec, 170; confederal road to, 173; two-nation concept, 178; Quebec committee on, 250; meaning of, 255; alternative to, 269, 287; dual sovereignty proposal, 295; not repudiated, 297; influence on French-Canadian thinking, 297; problem for minorities, 297
Industrial expansion: pension fund, 10; Canada Development Corporation, 224; infrastructure costs, 227; federal program, 246
Industrialization: early lag in, 23; geographic factors in, 23; Canadien's passive role, 24; role of transportation, 24; generates nationalism, 33; postwar, 33; effect on intellectuals, 49; brings France and Quebec together, 69-70; confused with Americanization, 70, 291; effect on vocabulary, 91; development of, 189; federal-provincial relations, 216; financing, 238; proposals for, 238; decentralization, 239; cultural isolation, 252; international role for Quebec, 291; dangers of technology, 301
Industrial Research Center: research funds, 215
Industrial revolution: long-standing in Quebec, 1; impact on Quebec, 2; political effects of, 26
Industry: lacking in New France, 14; appeal of in Quebec, 22, 189; effect of independence on, 150; preparation for, 188; distribution, 198; training for, 208
Institut canadien: symbol of radicalism, 45
International competence for provinces: Constitution deficient, 135; proposed reform, 173; cultural matters, 174; economic matters, 174
International role for Quebec: Prime Minister Pearson on, 120; Ontario precedent, 134; constitutional aspect, 135, 175; delegations general, 135; upper-house role, 176–77; associated state, 178; Jean-Luc Pépin on, 180; national characteristics, 255; industrialization, 291; special fields recognized, 298; provincial competence, 307
Investment: problems incident to independence, 150; foreign funds, 221, 222, 238; state role, 231; cooperatives, 235; state ownership, 238; municipal level, 242; provincial level, 242; American influence, 302
Investment capital: English-Canadian or American, 2; unavailable to French Canadians, 16; foreign source, 222
Jewish community: concentration, 277; position on language issue, 277
Jewish Federations congress: French language in Quebec, 277
Johnson, Premier Daniel: rejuvenates Union Nationale, 123; separatism, 123; two-nation thesis, 180; social security, 185; federal role in education, 214; cultural responsibility, 215; subsidies to Ottawa, 245; taxation prerogatives, 245; nationalism, 271
Johnson, Harry G.: favors free-trade zone, 225; meaning of independence, 255
Johnson regime: social security, 193, 195; education, 195; Gaspé development, 240; and English Canada, 254
Joint programs: opting out, 245; Ottawa initiates, 246; elimination possible, 247
Kierans, Eric: equality for French Canadians, 11; social programs, 194; letter to Washington, 223; national sovereignty, 226; economic planning, 230; reassures business, 230; industrialization, 238; accepts French-Canadian ambience, 269; on separatist sentiment, 299
King, William Lyon Mackenzie: conscription issue, 30; leader of Liberals, 120
Kohn, Hans: religion and nationalism, 41; Fascist threat in nationalism, 44
Ku Klux Klan, and economic rigidities, 149
Labor: Bishops' pastoral letter on, 22; personnel relations, 60; Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale, 144; Quebec-Ontario wage differential, 196; quiet revolution, 196; strikes, 196; union rivalry, 196; readaptation programs, 197; attitude toward Confederation, 202–03; income, 227
Labor Relations Board: accreditation decision, 201; French-Canadian dissatisfaction, 202
Labor unions: role in quiet revolution, 4; asbestos strike, 25, 50; Church influence, 25, 74; and intellectuals, 49; rebuff States-General, 132; bilingualism, 192, 201, 202; manpower mobility, 196; American affiliates, 199; Canadian Labor Congress, 199; continental-scale negotiations, 199; internal dissension, 199; nationalism, 199; Quebec, 199–200; services, 199; aggressiveness, 200; divergent views, 200; French Canadians in, 201; commitment to Confederation, 202, 203; role of international chiefs, 202; separatism, 202, 203; political attitudes, 203; split on ethnic lines, 203; fear of, 288; wide latitude for, 290
Lamontagne, Maurice: civil-service language school, 106; role in Ottawa, 125; federal-provincial relations, 166; intermediate solution to language question, 296
Land use: submarginal agricultural exploitation, 21
Language rights, see French-language rights
La Pierre, Laurier: pushes bilingualism, 101; would abolish provinces, 101; proposes legislative union, 169
Laurendeau, André: co-chairman of B. n' B. Commission, 100; indifferent to British North America Act, 159; colonialism, 263; suggested bilingualism inquiry, 279
Laurendeau-Dunton Commission, see Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism
Laurier, Sir Wilfrid: minorities’ language rights, 19; Church opposition to, 45; leader of Liberals, 120
Laurentia: safeguard of French culture, 12, nationalism goal, 30, effect on “diaspora,” 39; area, 141
Laval University: Social science faculty, 50, 52, 130; science faculty, 208; research, 214
Leadership: wanting, 20, 24; mentality, 47; homogeneous, 75
Léger, Jean-Marc: nation-state, 6; separatist sentiments, 35; Belgium’s problems, 105; criticizes English Canadians, 263
Léger, Paul-Émile Cardinal: preparation for Vatican Council, 77; progressive influence, 77
Legislative union: rejected by Quebec, 9, proposed, 17, 169; constitutional revision, 163
Le Moyne, Jean: Anglo-American influence, 66; French influence foreign, 66; pessimism re French tie, 69; French Canada’s debt to Church, 73; bilingualism and assimilation, 282
Lesage, Premier Jean: takes power in Quebec, 4; role of the state, 6, 136; questions Confederation, 8; significance of Conquest, 55; two-majorities theory, 56, 157, 171; assures English-language rights, 98; 1966 defeat, 122; ends patronage, 131; career, 132; initial program, 133; western tour, 137, 171; favors evolution of Constitution, 160, 162; favors special status for Quebec, 160, 170; reverses self on Fulton-Favreau formula, 162, 163; federal-provincial relations, 171, 232; spokesman for French Canada, 171, 273; social security, 185, 194; pension fund for investment, 194; manpower mobility, 196; pan-Canadianism, 196; farm vote, 205; educational funds, 214; nationalization of electric industry, 229; economic priorities, 230; reassures businessmen, 271; social fields, 185, 193; economic autonomy, 220, 234; economic planning, 233; mining development, 239; economic development, 240; joint programs, 244
Lévesque, René: CBC 1959 strike, 34; Quebec-first attitude, 34, 124, 179; Liberal mainstay, 63; television role, 63; shocks English Canadians, 95; supports priority for French, 95; duel with Noranda Mines, 97, 192; French in federal service, 108; indifferent to British North America Act, 159; social programs, 194; effect on businessmen, 271
Liberal Party: wins control in Quebec, 4; provincial role, 26; 1944 Quebec elections, 31; and Duplessis, 49, 52; loses power in Ottawa, 52; replaces Union Nationale, 53, 131; defeat in Quebec in 1966, 60, 122; student support, 81; composition, 120; program, 120–21; two-nation principle, 121–22; co-operative federalism, 122; Quebec party program, 122, 153; 1965 national elections, 126; pragmatism in Quebec, 132; Quebec autonomy, 150; education program, 214; biculturalism, 307
Living standards: and social unrest, 60; superior to France’s, 67; impact on separatism, 139, 203; effect of independence on, 150; Catholic Farmers’ Union, 205; English-Canadian concern for, 288; Canadian differential, 302; emigration, 303
London: acts against rebels of 1837, 17; relaxes control over Union, 18; passes British North America Act, 19
Lower, A. R. M.: rights Quebec must renounce, 267; freedom from Quebec, 303
Lower Canada: legislative strength of French Canadians, 16; cultural confrontation, 17; legislative assembly suspended, 17; English-speaking minority, 19; Union of 1841, 154
Lumber industry: early importance, 16, 23; role in Quebec, 24, 228; nationalization threat, 229
Lussier, Monsignor Irénée: assaults clericalism, 74; evolution of, 74; decries language deficiencies, 94
Macdonald, Sir John A.: favored unitary state, 10, 155–56; urged fair treatment for French Canadians, 10; coalition of 1850s, 18; and business interests, 121; Confederation role, 155–56; right of disallowance, 174
McGill University: financing, 210; French-Canadian fears, 247; French-Canada study program, 269
MacLennan, Hugh: national heritage, 256; status of French Canadians, 264; Canada's world mission, 304
McWhinncy, Edward: defends evolutionary aspect of Constitution, 159–60; dualistic federalism, 169; special status for Quebec, 172
Maheux, Abbe Arthur: democracy in Quebec, 127–28; English and French attitudes, 228–89; fears undermined, 290
Majorities, concurrent, double, dual, see Double majorities; Dual majority
Manicouagan: construction program, 227; psychological importance, 228
Manitoba: French-language rights, 19, 128; French-language schools outlawed, 28, 109, 111; French-speaking population, 85; reaction to terrorism, 253; attitude toward French Canadians, 269
Manpower: Ministry: federal-provincial relations, 246
Manpower mobility: labor unions on, 196; Lesage's illiberal line on, 196; provincial autonomy, 216
Marchand, Jean: Quebec objectives, 3; Liberal candidate, 126; labor mobility, 197
Maritime provinces: critical of Ottawa, 5, 155; role in establishing Confederation, 19; economic problems, 23; French-language schools outlawed, 109; and French-Canadian separatism, 141; farm conditions, 204; subsidies to, 243; civil servants and bilingualism, 281
Matthews, Roy A.: free-trade zone, 225; "international nation," 225; dependence on US, 304
Middle class: favored by quiet revolution, 4, 195; in New France, 15; English-speaking, 16, 261; nationalist role, 32, 41; expansion, 59, 66; facility in English, 59; in position of immigrants, 59; anticlericalism, 73–74, 78; French-language schools outside Quebec, 114; support for Union Nationale, 123; favored by Lesage regime, 134; and separatism, 155, 159, 149; French-English conflict, 216; attitude toward Confederation, 217; socialist aims, 217; aggressiveness, 218; anti-Americanism, 255
Military service: French Canadians in, 114. See also Conscription
Mining industry: and Quebec's development, 24, 228; foreign capital, 222; state role, 239
Minority rights: ignored by English Canada, 6; education, 29, 114, 246; equality outside Quebec, 116; changing attitude in Quebec, 162; cooperative federalism, 167; Premier Jean Lesage equates both language minorities, 171; safeguards proposed, 176; federal role, 246; British Parliament, 256
Modernization: Quebec, 227; Societe Generale de Financement, 236
Monarchy: role in Canada, 256
Monetary autonomy: constitutional revision, 234
Montreal: colonial trade center, 14; linguistic equilibrium, 42; disproportionate influence, 65; cultural influence, 85; economic influence, 85, 232; French-speaking population, 85; non-French-speaking population, 85, 263; national and provincial center, 95; New Canadians, 135; role in separatism, 140, 250; subway system, 227; land utilization, 241; view of Queen, 256; and English-Canadian rights, 267, 271; business community views, 270; anti-French-Canadian sentiment, 271; Jewish community, 277
Montreal English-language press: coverage of French-Canadian activities, 263
Montreal "establishment": and Maurice Duplessis, 263
Montreal Gazette: supported Maurice Duplessis, 263; changing attitude, 269
Montreal Labor Council: condemns separatism, 203
Montreal Star: and Queen Elizabeth, 256; supported Maurice Duplessis, 263; changing attitude, 269; public response to quiet revolution, 271
Morin, Jacques-Yvan: constitutional revision, 163; associated state, 175–76; and autonomous powers, 176; flexibility, 177; criticizes Bladen Report, 213; socialism, 217
Mouvement de Liberation populaire: revolutionary claims, 59, 146; seeks working-class support, 146; electoral action, 147
Multiculturalism: Quebec attitude on, 276; Ukrainian position, 276; concern over Quebec dynamism, 278
Nation: individual's relation to, 34; Jean-Marc Leger's concept of, 35; definitions, 36; English-Canadian suspicions of term, 36; fathers of confederation views, 37; political vs cultural sense, 37; two-nation concept, 37; concept of as factor in nationalism, 39; P. E. Trudeau's prerequisites, 43
National identity: centralization, 253; British tie, 256; positive factors, 256; French-Canadian role, 257, 289, 302, 307; internal incomprehension, 259; French culture, 307. See also Canadianism

Nationalism: Quebec objectives, 2; political effects of, 26, 307; origins of in French Canada, 27–28; and language in Canada, 28; response to pressures, 32–33, 37–38; of average French Canadian, 35; clerical influence, 36, 79; parallels with Europe, 41; quantified, 42; common to all regimes, 44; determining factors, 44; role of key cities, 65; students, 80–81; intensity in Montreal, 140; labor unions, 199, 202; radical expression of, 216; and education, 218; end in itself, 218; socialist aspect, 217; economic aspect, 219, 236; and foreign investment, 223; substitute for, 225; anti-French, 257; new wave, 290; substitute for religion, 301; anti-Americanism, 302. See also Quebec nationalism; French Canadians

Nationalists: influence of youth, 10; blind to confederation benefits, 12; decry ignorance of French, 86; critical of elders, 102; socialism, 217; object to foreign investment, 224; resentment over hotel name, 260

Nationalist rebellion, 300

Nationalist sentiment: outlook for expansion of, 65–66; reflected in Le Devoir, 105–6; Quebec Liberal Party, 122

Nationalization: demands for, 30;Bloc Populaire Canadien, 31; threat to mining companies, 97; electric industry, 133, 229; Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale, 143–44; "investment in nationality," 218; electoral appeal, 229; opposition to, 235; Société Générale de Financement, 237; Hydro-Quebec, 241; politics vs economics, 241; temptation in an independent Quebec, 251

Nationalized enterprises: discrimination in, 189, 191; integrating role, 191

National policy: Sir John A. Macdonald, 121; American influence, 255

National Research Council: and University of Montreal, 211; funds distributed, 214–15

National socialism: threat in Parti pris movement, 59

National sovereignty: foreign investment, 223, 226; Prime Minister Pearson, 226

National unity: implications of terrorism for, 1; hampered by regionalism, 5, 119; labor unions, 201; educational jurisdiction, 214; federal-provincial relations, 215; English-Canadian advocates, 257; misleading assumption, 258; threat to in uniformity, 258; linguistic unity, 265; price of, 280; language obstacle, 282; French-language instruction, 285; English-Canadian reassessment, 289, 303; danger in dynamism, 290; cultural distinctiveness, 293; alternative, 296; constitutional aspects, 306

National values: commitment to, 46; cultural factors, 46; and emigration, 47; and intellectuals, 49; effects of urbanization on, 49; Bourassa's attack on, 51; reassessment of, 55; and nondenominationalism, 58

Natural resources: outside exploitation, 4, 226; lag in exploitation, 23; constitutional aspects, 171; Premier Jean Lesage claims exploitation rights, 171; provincial prerogative, 176, 208; extent of, 224; limited in Quebec, 228; industrialization, 238; Gaspé, 240

New Brunswick: enters Confederation, 19; outlaws French schools, 28, French-speaking population, 85; Acadia's role, 109–10; status of French, 109, 116, 184; concessions on French underway, 286; French-English relations, 296; bicultural stage, 295–96

"New Canadians": assimilate to English, 85, 135, 197; effect on linguistic balance, 86; concern over biculturalism, 276; political strength, 277; urban concentrations, 277

New Democratic Party: two-nation thesis, 13, 122, 273; 1965 electoral campaign, 119; composition, 120; program, 121; co-operative federalism, 122; Quebec Liberal candidates, 126; split with Parti Socialiste du Québec, 147; constitutional revision, 181; Canadian Labor Congress, 201; special status for Quebec, 273

Newfoundland: local autonomy, 5; enters Confederation, 19; French language in, 110; average annual income, 227

Newspapers: French-Canadian, 62; English-language in Montreal, 269

New York money market: Canadian access to, 223

Nondenominational schools: support for, 58; television coverage, 63

Noranda Mines: criticized by René Lévesque, 97; role for French Canadians, 192

INDEX
Northwest Territories: language rights, 19; French-language schools, 29

Nova Scotia: enters Confederation, 19; French language in, 110; separatist sentiment in, 138; concessions to French underway, 286

Office de la langue française: patterned on Paris model, 64; business reliance on, 97

O'Neill, Abbé Louis: castigates electoral fraud, 52; attacks Duplessis regime, 131

One-man, one-vote doctrine: validity questioned, 9

Ontario: biculturalism, 12, 295–96; settlers in Manitoba, 19; early industrialization, 23; French-language schools, 29, 109, 272; French-speaking population, 85; French language in, 109, 110–11, 116, 184; wage differential with Quebec, 196; immigration gains, 197; individual income, 197, 227; working population, 197; types of industry, 198; farm conditions, 204; investment rate, 227; industrial production, 228; nationalization of electric industry, 229; favored by economy, 230; federal grants, 242–43; tax revision, 242; share in research expenditures, 250; favored by Confederation, 253; reaction to terrorism, 253; attitude toward French Canada, 268–69, 272, 280, 286

"Opting out": provincial autonomy, 10; constitutional implications, 168; resentment in English Canada, 169; social programs, 195; federal control of funds, 212; aid to education, 213; federal conditions, 244; joint programs, 245; abandoned by Ottawa, 246

Orange Order: and French-language schools, 29; anti-French resolutions, 272; power waning, 289

Orders in Council: constitutional amendment, 160

Ottawa: use of French, 102, 115; French-Canadian attitude toward, 103, 105, 257, 295; responds to Quebec pressure, 106; national political role, 120; Quebec representation in, 125; approves Quebec pact with France, 134; admitted new provinces, 156; petition to on hotel name, 260. See also Confederation; Federal government; Parliament

Otto, Steve: Citizens' Civic Action Association, 277

Padlock Act of 1937, 129

Pan-Canadianism: Henri Bourassa, 30; foreign concept to intellectuals, 33; manpower policy, 196; evolution of, 254; definition, 293; Quebec proponents of, 307. See also Canadianism

Papineau, Louis-Joseph: leader of rebellion, 17; Ninety-Two Resolutions, 28

Paquet, Bishop Louis-Joseph: on French Canada's "vocation," 47

Parent Commission, see Royal Commission on Education

Parent Report, see Royal Commission on Education

Parizeau, Jacques: economic lag, 207; Quebec economic role, 231, fiscal policies, 232

Parliament: French language in, 104, 155; national leaders in, 156; subordinated to prime ministers, 167; reaction in English Canada, 266

Parti pris: Marxism-Leninism, 59, 146; linguistic quarrels, 92

Parti Républicain du Québec: founded, 142; dissolves, 143, 145

Parti Socialiste du Québec: composition and influence, 147; school problem, 210

Partnership: French-Canadian role, 5–6; Ottawa's role, 138; basis for, 273, 284, 289; increasing acceptance of, 274; B. n. B. Commission preliminary report, 282; North American context, 285; Prime Minister Pearson favors, 285; English-Canadian reluctance, 304

Pearson, Prime Minister Lester: civil service language school, 106; leadership, 118, 120; co-operative federalism, 122, 166; bows to Diefenbaker attack, 126; cabinet line-up, 126; backed Fulton-Favreau formula, 162; recognizes special status for Quebec, 195; manpower policy, 196; federal funds to Quebec, 212; federal role in education, 214; fear of American hegemony, 226; federal economic ascendency, 230; federal-provincial conferences, 234; pushed B. n. B. Commission, 279; biculturalism, 280, 306; favors partnership, 285; Quebeckers in key cabinet posts, 286; relaxes tension, 305; compliance with Constitution, 306; recognizes "French fact," 306

Pelletier, Gérard: founds Cité libre, 50; denounces national-socialist threat, 59; editor of La Presse, 62; reagnosticism of youth, 75; Liberal candidate, 126; English-Canadian attitudes, 261; nationalist rebellion unlikely, 300
Pension program: provincial autonomy, 10; source of capital, 134, 194; federal-provincial jurisdiction, 185, 193; Quebec-inspired, 194; farmers, 205; economic aim, 220; constitutional amendment, 244; federal role, 244

Pépin, Jean-Luc: objects to constitutional revision, 164; co-operative federalism, 166, 180; international role for Quebec, 180

Pepin, Marcel: labor threat to Confederation, 202; self-determination vs independence, 203

Pluralism: effect on traditional system, 27; civil rights, 58; in French Canada, 218

Political outlook: attitude toward English Canada, 56; English-Canadian caution, 285

Political parties: campus organizations, 80–81; political stability, 119; composition, 120; unity, 120; nationalistic stance, 149; nationalistic outbidding, 307; regionalization, 307

Political patronage: flourished in Quebec, 27; Maurice Duplessis and, 27; stopped by Jean Lesage, 131; Union Nationale attitude toward, 131

Political power: essential to cultural survival, 11; Privy Council adapted Constitution to, 156; state, instrument of, 221; French-Canadian role, 286; cultural survival, 293; minority in unitary state, 294; national equality, 295; independence movement, 299; dangers of technology, 301; relationships clearer, 306

Pope John XXIII: impact on Quebec, 74

Pope Pius XII: influenced by Duplessis regime, 71

Population: ratio at confederation, 20; Catholic, 84; French-speaking, 84; origins, 275; concentration, 296

Prince Edward Island: enters Confederation, 19; French-speaking population, 204; farm income, 227; farm population, 205; royal commission, 227

Prince Edward Island: enters Confederation, 19; French-speaking population, 204; farm income, 227; farm population, 205; royal commission, 227

Private enterprise: French Canadians in top levels, 191; Premier Lesage reassures business, 231

Privy Council: widens provincial powers, 19, 193; tempered federal dominance, 156; residuary power, 174; independent role, 177

Progressive-Conservative Party: provincial role, 26; composition, 120; program, 121; Quebec support, 121; two-nation principle, 122; elected, 255; John Robarts possible leader, 296; bilingualism issue, 308

Property taxes: provincial control, 247. See also Taxation

Protectionism: provincial reaction to, 138; fear of American hegemony, 225–26

Protestantism: and French language, 79

Protestants: French-speaking, 58; political persuasion, 120; bilingualism, 283

Provinces: admission of, 156; legislative rights upheld, 156; constitutional prerogatives, 157; expenditures, 245; share of revenues, 245, 248, 250

Provincial autonomy: English Canada, 5, 183; Quebec Liberal Party, 10, 122; demands for, 33, 118, 124; constitutional provisions, 133; social field, 133, 195, 215; traditional view, 141; Rowell-Stroits Report, 158; constitutional revision, 164–65; right of disallowance, 174; education, 215; federal checks on, 307. See also Autonomy; Quebec autonomy

Provincial governments: proposed, 169; constitutional change unfavorable to, 172–73; public expenditures, 232

Provincial jurisdiction: federal intrusion into, 5, 161, 165, 167, 185, 244, 246, 285; proposed reforms, 158, 173; centralization, 161; special status for Quebec, 170; expansion requires constitutional change, 172–73; residuary power, 174; education, 185; social security, 185; nation-wide implications, 220; English-Canadian attitude, 244; French-English conflict, 246

Provincial rights: and Quebec nationalism, 28; opposed by French-language minorities, 113; early theme, 156

Public expenditures: fiscal responsibility, 232; government levels, 232

Public ownership: economic development, 231

Pulp production: decreasing importance in Quebec, 228

Quebec: Western attitude toward, 1, 265–66, 285

Quebec Act: assured civil liberties, 15; assured religious liberty, 72; basic rights for French Canadians, 128

Quebec agriculture: farm income, 204, 227; farm population, 205; royal commission, 227

Quebec and Ottawa: opposition to centralization, 124; federal aid to education, 212, 214; reaction to Bladen Report, 213; federal grants, 242–43; opting out, 244, 245; tax share, 245; federal intrusion, 246; revenue, 249; share in research expenditures, 250.
INDEX

See also Federal-provincial relations; French Canadians
Quebec autonomy, 5, 122; fiscal aspect, 9, 298; Lesage regime, 10, 180; cultural pact with France, 134–35; international role, 134–35, 165, 176, 291, 298, 307; accords with Italy, 135; foreign-assistance program, 135; immigration policy, 135, 197; manpower policy, 216; gains, 285; complicates foreign policy, 303. See also Autonomy; Provincial autonomy
Quebec Chartered Accountants: tax-reform proposals, 247
Quebec dynamism: outlook for Confederation, 1; offensive maneuver, 5; price of nationhood, 303; increasing demands, 308. See also Autonomy; Provincial autonomy
Quebec election: 1944, 31; 1956, 52; 1960, 53; 1966 campaign, 122
Quebec evolution: melting-pot threat, 1, 2, 302; rate of change, 3–4; social legislation, 196; modernization, 227; cultural freedom, 245; political, 254; multiculturalism, 278; political threat of technology, 300–1
Quebec first attitude: René Lévesque, 124
Quebec government: competing with Ottawa, 105, 295; responsibility for all French-speaking citizens, 296
Quebec independence: effect on French-language minorities, 150; impact of, 250; English-Canadian view of, 265; viability, 265; outlook for, 300
Quebec industrialization: 216, 291; types, 198; diversification, 227; state financing, 239. See also Industrialization
Quebec in Ottawa: political leverage, 102; representation, 125
Quebec language issue: extremist demands, 12; French-speaking population, 84; pressure for French alone, 94–95, 298; French language guaranteed, 155; French in Quebec, 270. See also French language
Quebec nationalism: national problem, 5; variations of, 7; English-Canadian view of, 254, 264–65, 299; political force, 306. See also French Canadians; Nationalism
Quebec objectives: Jean Marchand, 3; pressure for French language, 12; Davie Fulton warns on, 266; demands perplex English Canadians, 284; influence of independence ideal, 297; full partnership demands, 304; rejects mosaic, 304; lure of independence, 308
Quebec options: constitutional study, 9; rejected legislative union, 9; special status, 9, 122, 135, 175, 287; positions of strength, 10, 293, 307; commitment to Confederation, 126; constitutional amendment, 161; repatriation of Constitution, 256; secession guarantees, 267; rights to be renounced, 267; threat to Confederation, 268, 297; status in Confederation, 272, 294, 306, 307; new political relationship to English Canada, 290; separatism, 297. See also French Canada; French Canadians; Confederation
Quebec province: origins, 14; population, 20, 197; political coloration, 120, 121, 122, 144, 147; distinctive characteristics, 172; unemployment, 196; wage differential with Ontario, 196; birthrate dropping, 197, 275; emigration-immigration, 197; individual income, 197, 227; farmer discontent, 204; natural resources, 228; Americanization, 291; distinct from French Canada, 295; another Louisiana?, 303
Quebec "reservation": English-Canadian accommodation, 5; French-Canadian suspicion of, 288; new confidence in, 290
Quebec Socialist Party, see Parti Socialiste de Québec
Quebec students: French-language association, 81; critical of Bladen Report, 213
Queen Elizabeth: separatist demonstration, 145; Montreal press view of, 256; visit to Quebec, 256
Quiet revolution: misnomer, 2; middle-class phenomenon, 4, 195; roots of, 4; builders of, 51; and Frère Untel, 53, 54; launched, 53; intellectual base, 61; social cost, 134; incomplete, 186; national identity, 256; effect of RIN, 299
Radio Canada, see Canadian Broadcasting Corporation
Ralliement des Creditistes: support, 120; Real Cauette, 121; special status, 122; alliance with Regroupement National, 143

Rassemblement pour l'Indépendance Nationale: stresses economic stringency, 43; 1966 electoral role, 44, 122, 143, 299; student support, 81; founded, 142; strategy, 142, 299; composition, 143, 299; program, 143-44; rebuffs Ralliement National, 143; 1966 congress, 144; and working class, 242; role in defeating Lesage regime, 299

Rebellion of 1837-38: symbol of French-English antagonism, 17; radical strain, 45

Reform: origins of Duplessis regime, 7, 62; post-Duplessis, 50-54. See also Education

Refus global: impact on intellectuals, 51; Parti pris, 59

Regional development: economic planning, 232; Bureau d'Aménagement de l'Est du Québec, 240; politics vs economics, 241

Regional differences: reason to postpone reform, 183; average annual income, 227

Regionalism: hampered national unity, 5; 253; political impact, 119

Religion: factor in dissolution of Union, 18; defense of, 33; role in nationalism, 41; loss of unanimity, 56; rejected by Parti pris, 59; crisis in, 70; and mass of population, 76; attitude of students toward, 76; cohesive force, 84; school instruction, 210; moderating influence, 218; divorced from language, 291

Renault automobiles: assembly plant, 227; state financing, 236; industrialization model, 238

"Repatriation" of Constitution: prolonged delay, 160, 161; court question, 174; Quebec attitude, 256

"Rep by pop," see Representation by population

Representation by population: issue by 1850, 18; English-Canadian rallying cry, 128

Representative government: poor example of English Canadians, 6; granted by Constitutional act, 1791, 15, 128; French-Canadian attitude toward, 27; excluded French Canadians, 73

Research: provincial role, 214; percentage of GNP for, 215; economic development, 218; French-Canadian fears about distribution of funds for, 247; national program proposed, 294

Revenue sharing: federal subsidies, 243; federal-provincial conference, 245

Robarts, Premier John: economic planning, 230; recognizes French-Canadian rights, 272; French-language guarantees, 273, 296; rejects Quebec extra-provincial role, 273, 296; special status for Quebec, 273; national political ambitions, 296

Robichaud, Premier Louis: modernization of New Brunswick, 110; rejects separatism, 117; New Brunswick's first Acadian premier, 296

Rowell-Sirois Report: fiscal problems, 158; residuary clause, 174; social security, 193; recommendations, 242

Roy, Archbishop Maurice: asbestos strike, 50; on role of clergy, 79; school reform, 210

Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism: national psychoanalysis, 9; submissions of minority groups, 277, 278; background and scope, 278; composition and procedures, 279; cost, 279; criticism of, 279, 280, 283; businessmen, 280; English-language press, 280; English-language universities, 280; separatists, 280; conflicting submissions, 283; preliminary report, 283; possible intermediate proposal, 296; dialogue assignment, 305; raises English-Canadian hackles, 305

Royal Commission on Education: recommendations, 39-40, 58, 94, 99, 210; resistance to recommendations, 74; on use of English in business, 96; findings, 208; critics of, 209; financing education, 211

Royal Commission on Federal-Provincial Relations: treatment of French-language minorities, 115; compact theory, 158; provincial autonomy, 158; Father Arès, 175; castigates subsidy system, 243; cultural threat, 243; Canadian identity, 257

Royal Commission on Taxation: industrialization, 288

Royal commissions: relations with U.S., 302; reliance on, 278

Rural ideal: slows urban social development, 24; divergence from reality, 46

Rural population: prosperity wanting, 4; ratio at confederation, 20; expanded contacts, 66; education, 206

Rural vote: Union Nationale, 123, 204; disproportionate influence, 203; Créditistes, 204; separatism, 205

Ryan, Claude: explains terrorism, 56; wants wider use of French, 96; role of French-speaking minorities, 116;
INDEX

minority language rights, 274; rejects multiculturalism, 276

Saint Lawrence Seaway: cost, 228; English-Canadian rights to, 267

St. Louis: French-language community, 114

Saskatchewan: Métis uprising, 28; school question, 29, 112; political coloration, 120

Saskatoon: school strike; curb on French instruction, 115

School enrollment: percentages, 209

School issue: generates French-Canadianism, 33; English-French antagonisms, 39

Schools: early orientation, 22-23; outside Quebec, 28; criticism, 54; for non-Catholic French Canadians, 58; secularization feared, 60; English-speaking in Quebec, 109; religious instruction, 210

Scientific Research Council: to sponsor research, 215

Scott, Frank R.: objects to constitutional revision, 163; special status for Quebec, 172

Secession of Quebec: possibility, 13, 138, 251, 267; motion in Quebec legislature, 29; economic consequences, 251; English-Canadian acceptance of, 265; linguistic unity aspect, 265; rights Quebec should have to give up, 267; question of means, 300

Secondary schools: inadequacy of, 208; regional basis, 209

Secularism: Liberté, 58; Parti pris, 59; educational effects, 60; use of television, 64

Séguin, Michel: economic development, 33

Self-determination: English-Canadian attitude on, 13

Self-government: distinguished from self-determination, 151

Senate: reform proposed, 173, 181-82; proposal for binational equality, 177

Separatism: possible alternative for Quebec, 6, 8, 13, 180, 287, 297; attitude of youth, 13; origins of 27, 30; negative basis, 43; popular attitude toward, 43; minority support, 44; Cité libre attitude, 50; television coverage, 64; and Quebec artists, 69; Quartier latin, 81; student support, 81-82; rejected by New Brunswick premier, 117; Daniel Johnson, 123, 180; Union Nationale, 123; reaction to, 124; René Lévesque, 125; history of, 136; Nova Scotia, 138; economic aspect, 139, 148-49, 188, 203, 249; programs for, 139; concentrated in Montreal, 140; political influence, 140, 297; Quebeckers view of, 140; role of education in, 140; theories, 141-42, 178-79; economic power, 142; totalitarian aspect, 142; implications of, 148, 250; no longer isolationist, 149; two-nation concept, 178; and labor unions, 202-3; sparked by strike, 202; and farm vote, 205; English-Canadian attitude, 262, 266, 268; British-Columbian variety, 268; extent of, 299

Separatists: Parti pris, 59; decry anglicization, 87; impact on Ottawa, 106; economic planning, 139; education and influence, 139; minority-rights question, 139; seek a nation-state, 139; strategy, 140; personal rivalry, 141; reject biculturalism, 141; minor organizations, 143; attack press, 148; infiltrating other organizations, 148; program weakened by Liberals, 148; public image, 148; influence of France, 150; accused of totalitarianism, 151; criticized by P. E. Trudeau, 151; rights of French-language minorities, 247; B. n’ B. Commission, 280

Shafer, Boyd: essentials of nationalism, 39; sovereign government, 40

Sharp, Mitchell: foreign investments, 223; foreign-capital problem, 224

Shipbuilding: in New France, 14; early importance, 23

Shoe manufacturing: early importance, 23; French-Canadian position, 24, 188

Sidbec: proposed, 237; justification for, 238; arrested, 241

Smiley, Donald V.: favored early constitutional reform, 183; intermediate proposal, 295

Social Credit Movement: political base, 120; origins, 121; Quebec support, 121

Socialism: misunderstood, 25; Liberté, 58; Parti pris, 59; Quartier latin, 81; Rassemblement pour l’Indépendance Nationale, 143-44; goal of associated-state proponent, 176; nationalist aspect, 217-18; impact on planning, 239

Social programs: claimed by Quebec, 171; funds for 193, 195, 242, 245; federal-provincial friction, 194-95; provincial autonomy, 195, 306

Social reform: initiated by Duplessis’s successor, 4; Cité libre team, 51; New Brunswick program, 296
Social security: provincial role, 10, 176, 185, 215; federal responsibility, 157, 243; early legislation, 193; federal-provincial conflict, 193; provincial program, 193; federal government’s attitude, 221
Social service: Church role in, 77–78; federal-provincial conflict, 193; provincial program, 193; federal government’s attitude, 221
Social service: Quebec Liberal Party, 122; provincial autonomy, 133; federal role in, 167; Quebec autonomy, 219; joint programs, 244; constitutional basis, 245–46; Ottawa withdraws from, 246
Société de Montage Automobile: state financing, 236
Société Générale de Financement: source of controversy, 134; scope, 236; criticism of, 237; justification of, 238
Société québécoise d’exploitation minière: state financing, 239
Société Saint-Jean-Baptiste: sponsors
States-General, 9, 131, 301; middle-class interests of, 25; preferential status for French, 93, 94, 99; constitutional revision, 180
Sovereignty: scope for pro-independence groups, 40; denounced Parliament, 156; foreign-investment problem, 224; goal of a “complete society,” 297
Special status for Quebec: pressure for, 9; constitutional revision, 12, 163, 168; political parties, 122; biculturalism, 170, 184, 294; Jean Lesage’s attitude, 170; meaning for French Canadians, 170; provincial jurisdiction, 170; elements of 171–72; juridical basis, 171; establishing precedents, 172; position of strength, 172; precedents not promising, 172; theoretical basis, 172; Maurice Allard, 173; step to independence, 175; expansion of, 175; price of national unity, 176; step toward associated state, 176; contrasting views on, 179; Jean-Luc Pépin, 180; English-Canadian attitude on, 181, 185–86; cultural vs political, 183; initial recognition of, 194; Fédération des Travailleurs du Québec, 201; federal grants, 212; social area, 215; economic regionalism, 234; de facto, 245; education, 246; Ottawa avoids, 246; Toronto recognition of, 271; John Robarts, 273; New Democratic Party, 273; need obviated, 295, 306; increasing support for, 305
Spencer espionage case: effect on Parliament, 119
State, The: French-Canadian view of, 6, 27, 36, 128–29, 221; and the clergy, 36; fear of, 40; changing attitude toward, 130–31; instrument of power, 221
State intervention: essential to survival of French, 6; sought by new middle class, 59
“State of Quebec”: sovereignty implied, 170
State ownership, 238
State role in economy: influence on aim of pro-independence elements, 297
States-General: special interest groups, 9; preliminary congress, 131; purpose, 131; political role, 132; program, 132; relation to legislature, 132; platform for extremists, 301; Terror, 301
Statistics: planning role, 231; lack of, 232–33; conflicting interpretations of, 249
Status quo: French-Canadian moderates reject, 293; revulsion against, 300
Steel: plant proposed, 133, 237; Quebec industry, 198; state financing, 236; market, 241
Strikes: effect on relations between language groups, 60; students, 80; increasing resort to, 196
Students: religious practice, 76; class origin, 80; nationalism, 80, 82; politicization, 80–81, 82; social reform, 80; strikes, 80; working, 80; socialism, 82; States-General representatives, 132; new orientation, 190
Subsidies: Quebec objects to system, 243; elimination possible, 247
Sudbury: Laurentian University, 111
Survivance: assured, 6; role of state, 6; French-Canadian claims for, 9; political basis, 11; early assurance on, 15; linked to farming, 20; Church’s role in, 21; civil law, 32; religion, 32; dissipation of energies, 33; rejected as goal, 50; importance of Montreal in, 85; prerequisites, 105; outside Quebec, 113–14, 115; desirability questioned, 115; supplanted by aggressive attitude, 130; economic pressures, 220; Toronto Globe Mail, 264; long questionable, 297
Switzerland: cited as model multilingual country, 101; economic example, 219
Tariffs: unifying role, 5; and economic development, 24; Quebec independence problem, 150, 251; attract investment, 224
INDEX

Taxation: of clergy, 78; constitutional provisions, 155, 242; federal-provincial friction, 155, 157, 165, 242, 247; emergency power, 157; jurisdiction, 157; Ottawa's role, 158; constitutional reform, 164, 175, 242; proposed reform, 173–74, 247; provinces increase share, 174; and cultural freedom, 245; distribution 245, 247; of national corporations, 245; provincial responsibility, 245; subsidies, 245; Carter Commission, 247

Tax reform: Bélanger Commission, 247

Taylor, Charles: on middle-class objectives, 59; economic regionalism, 234; special status for Quebec, 234; pressures on intellectual, 290

Technical training: French Canadians, 187; École des Hautes Études Commerciales, 208

Technology: influence of, 70; Quebec role, 218; economic impact, 219, 252; adjustment to, 291; cultural transfer, 292; danger to democracy, 300, 301

Télébec: state financing, 236

Television: role in quiet revolution, 4; 1949 strike, 34; influence, 62–63, 65; effect on spoken language, 63, 91; charges of partiality, 64; critical of Quebec Church, 64; independent role, 64; Montreal's production importance, 65; opportunities for authors, 65; constitutional revision, 165

Television and Moving Picture Workers' General Union: accreditation request denied, 201

Television, French-language: in Maritimes, 110; in Ontario, 111; in Manitoba, 112; expansion in English Canada, 168; on national level, 196

Television strike: effect on Quebec nationalism, 34; Ottawa's attitude, 34; effect on intellectuals, 53

Ten for one: falls short of Quebec demands, 164

Terrorism: implications for Canada, 1; peripheral to Quebec transformation, 2; roots of, in Quebec, 56; Front de Libération Québécois, 144; Armée de Libération du Québec, 145; Armée Révolutionnaire du Québec, 145; English-Canadian reaction, 253, 264; threat to Confederation, 253; relaxation lulls English Canada, 299

Textile industry: early role, 23; French-Canadian role, 188

"Third force": proposed for "Ethnics," 277

Toronto: political coloration, 120; impact of secession of Quebec, 250; accepts French-language radio station, 271; attitude toward French Canada, 272; French school, 272

Toronto Globe & Mail: cultural survival, 264; changing attitude, 271

Tradition: defense of, 33; critical appraisal of, 55

Treaty of Paris (1763); basic rights of French Canadians, 128

Tremblay Report, see Royal Commission on Federal Provincial Relations

Trois-Rivières: colonial forge, 14; regional development, 241

Trudeau, Pierre Elliott: critic of Quebec social policies, 24; sense of nation, 43; re Fascist threat in nationalism, 44, 59; founds Cité libre, 50; deplores rigidity of youth, 83; Liberal candidate, 126; re misuse of democracy, 128, 262; criticizes separatists, 151; objects to constitutional revision, 160, 163

Two-majorities concept: biculturalism, 12; propelled by Lesage, 56, 137; collective rights, 137; eliminates minority complex, 289

Two-nation concept: Liberals, 121; New Democratic Party, 122, 273; Progressive Conservatives, 122; two-majorities concept, 137; step to independence, 178; outlook for, 180–81; labor unions, 201; too extreme for most English Canadians, 273; rejected by John Diefenbaker, 286; variations of, 295

Ukrainians: influence, 275; numbers, 275; equal language rights, 276; reject founding peoples concept, 276

Unemployment: legislation delayed, 25; remedies suggested, 30; federal role, 181; high in Quebec, 196, 227; causes, 197; statistics, 197; labor militancy, 198; regional development, 232; industrial decentralization, 241

Unemployment insurance: federal competence: 185, 193, 244; provincial role, 195; constitutional amendment, 244

Unilingualism: Daniel Johnson, 123; Union Nationale, 123; demand for, 284, 298; North American context, 285

Unilingualism in Quebec: basis of peace between the two language groups, 298

Union Générale des Étudiants du Québec: socialism, 81; conflicting currents, 82

Union Nationale: loss of Maurice Duplessis, 4; surprise return to power, 7, 122; and Duplessis, 26, 123; no threat to national unity, 31; wins 1944 elections; ousted by Liberals, 45, 131; political corruption, 49; use of radio, 62; young progressive element in, 66; student support, 81; origins, 123; political support, 123; program, 123; rejuvenated by Daniel Johnson, 123; separatism, 123; patronage, 131; Quebec autonomy, 180; rural support, 204; English-Canadian view of, 254
Union of 1841; inherent instability, 18; political impasse, 154
Unitary state: bicultural basis, 294; problem for French Canadians, 294
United Empire Loyalists: form new province, 16; settled Eastern Townships, 85; common heritage with French Canadians, 257
United Nations: Quebec role in, 136, 176
United States: economic dependence on, 2, 139, 199, 219, 221, 249, 255, 304; fear of domination, 18; threat to Union of 1841, 18; French-Canadian elite and, 56; Liberal Party and, 120; Progressive Conservatives and, 121; and Quebec independence, 150; investment, 221, 223, 226, 238, 302; repatriation of profits, 221; Canada's main supplier, 222; assimilation, 225; Canadian commercial role, 225; Canadian independence, 226, 255-56; free-trade zone proposal, 226; antipathy toward, 254; Canada a half-way house to, 275; English-Canadian reliance on, 285; ambivalence toward, 302; escape hatch, 302, 303, 304; survival of French Canada, 302; topic of royal commissions, 302; alternative to biculturalism, 303
Universities: political impact of, 52; financing, 53, 114, 210, 211, 212; Frére Untel criticizes, 54; social science programs, 103; and democracy, 130; and biculturalism, 250; word and deed on bilingualism, 281
University of Montreal: and separatism, 81; Parti pris group, 146-47; student distribution, 190; expansion, 208, 211; financing, 210, 211; professors' association, 213; research, 214; submission to B. n' B. Commission, 281
University of Montreal professors: criticize Bladen Report, 213
University of Ottawa: state support, 111; and federal aid to education, 212
Upper Canada: developed by United Empire Loyalists, 16; political conflict, 17; revolt of 1837 in, 17, 28; Union of 1841, 154
Upper house: proposed revision, 176-77. See also Senate
Urbanization: early effects, 20; misunderstood by Quebec leaders, 20; Church's role, 21; social legislation trailed, 24; postwar, 49
"Vocation" of French Canada: ideal and reality, 46; Bishop Paquet, 47; popular response, 47
Wages: Quebec, 198; French-Canadian enterprise, 199; provincial disparity, 228
War effort: English-Canadian attitude toward, 288. See also Conscription issue
Western provinces: critical of Ottawa, 5; resent protectionism, 138; American influence, 285; attitude toward Quebec, 268, 285
Westminster Statute: confirmed Canadian independence, 151, 158; amendment issue sidestepped, 153
Working class: and quiet revolution, 4, 60; religious practice, 76; students, 80; support for Union Nationale, 123; attitude toward separatism, 140, 150
Xenophobia: separatists and, 251
Youth: percentage of population, 13; economic development, 33; committed to change, 55; and religion, 75-76; search for philosophy, 83; select States-General representatives, 132; biculturalism, 217; reaction to bilingualism, 281

Designed by Edward D. King
Composed in Electra
Printed letterpress by Kingsport Press, Inc.
on 60 lb. Perkins & Squire GM
Bound by Kingsport Press, Inc. in Riverside Chambray RCV-3641