Preface: The Wonder of Knowledge ix

Introduction. Understanding the World through Patterns and Principles 1

1 The Awareness of Patterns: Prehistory 11
1.1 The Paleolithic: From Primal Human to Jack-of-All-Trades 12
1.2 The Neolithic: From Jack-of-All-Trades to Specialist 20
1.3 Conclusion: Stone Age Patterns from All Regions 28

2 The Explosion of Patterns and the Awareness of Principles: Early Antiquity 30
2.1 Linguistics: Babylonia’s Unique Case 31
2.2 Mathematics: First Awareness of a Principle? 35
2.3 Astronomy and Astrology: Patterns in Planetary Movements and Eclipses 40
2.4 Jurisprudence: From Legal Rules to Legal Principles 45
2.5 Medicine and the Role of Magic: Diagnosis, Prognosis, and Treatment 51
2.6 Historiography: First Evidence of Recording the Past, No Patterns? 56
2.7 Other Disciplines: Successful versus Failed Patterns 57
2.8 Conclusion: Patterns in Nature and Culture Compared 58

3 The Explosion of Principles and the Awareness of Deduction: Classical Antiquity 62
3.1 A Tale of Two Principles: Thales and Panini 63
3.2 The Convergence of Principles and Patterns: Astronomy 67
3.3 Prior Convergence between Principles and Patterns: Musicology, History, Poetics, Art Theory, and Philology 78
Contents

3.4 The Ultimate Convergence of Principles and Patterns?
- Mathematics and Logic 89

3.5 Coexisting Principles and Patterns: Medicine
- 101

3.6 The Generation of Patterns by Experiment: Statics, Mechanics, Zoology, Botany, and Geography 107

3.7 Principles for Legal Patterns: Jurisprudence 116

3.8 Conclusion: Relations between Principles and Patterns in Classical Antiquity 124

4 The Reduction of Principles: Postclassical Period 129

4.1 History: Historical Source Criticism as the Basis for All Disciplines 130

4.2 Astronomy: Seeking Models with Fewer Principles 142

4.3 Mathematics (and Mechanics): The Attempted Reduction in the Number of Axioms 152

4.4 Reduction of Principles in Linguistics, Musicology, and Poetics 160

4.5 Medicine: The Inhibitory Effect of Scholarly Medicine 176

4.6 Jurisprudence: A Massive Reduction in Rules and Sources 182

4.7 Conclusion: Reducing Principles in the Postclassical Disciplines 191

5 The Discovery of Patterns in Deductions: The Modern Era 195

5.1 Awareness of the Empirical Cycle in the Humanities: Philology, Historiography, Linguistics, Art Theory, and Musicology 196

5.2 The Empirical Cycle Migrates from the Humanities to Astronomy 230

5.3 Mechanics and Its Integration with Astronomy: The Empirical Cycle Gains Ground with Analogical Thinking 243

5.4 Mathematics: A Nonempirical Discipline with an Empirical Cycle? 265

5.5 Medicine: The Long-Awaited Empirical Turn 273

5.6 Jurisprudence: An Empirical Cycle in Legal Studies? 291

5.7 Conclusion: Cyclic Interactions between Patterns and Principles 300

Conclusion. The Origin, Growth, and Future of Knowledge 303
