Interdisciplining Digital Humanities

Klein, Julie Thompson

Published by University of Michigan Press

Klein, Julie Thompson.
Interdisciplining Digital Humanities: Boundary Work in an Emerging Field.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/52267

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=2185268
Gail Ryder, who created the cover art, is a graduate of the Master’s in Interdisciplinary Studies program at Wayne State University and an Associate Professor of Humanities at Siena Heights University where she teaches liberal arts courses and composition—online. Bringing her classroom to the virtual world has given her the opportunity to merge a strong interest in the visual arts with her passion for curriculum development. Her newest creation is a course on the Harlem Renaissance. In her spare time, she works on collages, multi-media journals, and one-act plays about the locker room at the local YMCA.