ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Grateful acknowledgment is made to the editors of the following publications in which portions of this work first appeared: “The Landscape of Desire,” The Road-Riporter. January/February 2002. (The Road-Riporter is the quarterly newsletter of the Wildlands Center for Preventing Roads—Wildlands CPR. This small, but dedicated organization has effectively raised the issue of the impacts of roads to a national level. Wildlands CPR provides information and tools for citizen activists. For more information contact Wildlands CPR, POB 7516, Missoula, MT 59807; (406) 543-9551; www.wildlandscpr.org.); and “Muddy Creek: Wilderness and the Bomb,” Redrock Wilderness 18, number 3 (Autumn 2001). (Redrock Wilderness is the newsletter of the Southern Utah Wilderness Alliance—SUWA. SUWA is the primary organization dedicated to the preservation of Utah’s remaining wildlands. For more information contact SUWA, 1471 South 1100 East, Salt Lake City, UT 84510; (801) 486-3161; www.suwa.org.)

I would also like to thank the following individuals for their contributions toward making this book a reality: Robin Sherman, Leslie Ryan, Ed Grumbine, Ed Lueders, Hope Sieck, Ann Whitesides, The Missoula Writing Group, and of course, all my students without whom it would not be possible. I would also like to thank John Alley and Brooke Bigelow of Utah State University Press.
