Rephrasing Heidegger

Sembera, Richard

Published by University of Ottawa Press

Sembera, Richard.
Rephrasing Heidegger: A Companion to 'Being and Time'.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/4420

For content related to this chapter https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=293491
TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgements ................................................................................. ix
Introduction .............................................................................................. xi

Chapter 1: The Origins of Phenomenology

1.1 The History of the Term "Phenomenology" ...................... 1
1.2 The "Crisis" of European Science...................................... 7
1.3 Husserl’s Phenomenological Foundation ....................... 13
1.4 Heidegger’s Hermeneutics of Facticity ............................. 20
1.5 The Vicissitudes of the Phenomenological Movement ......... 28

Chapter 2: Hermeneutic Phenomenology as Fundamental Ontology

2.1 Understanding versus Perception ........................................ 33
2.2 Why Ask the Question of Being? (§§ 1–4) ......................... 38
2.3 The Structure of the Book Being and Time
   (§§ 5,6,8) .................................................................................. 45
2.4 Heidegger’s Concept of Phenomenology (§ 7) ................. 53
2.5 The Everyday World (§§ 9–27) .............................................. 62
   a) The Worldliness of the World .............................................. 64
   b) The One-self ........................................................................... 76 2.6 The Indifferent Mode of Being-in (§§ 28–34):
Sensibility, Understanding, and Talk
   a) Sensibility
   b) Understanding
   c) Talk

2.7 The Inauthentic Mode of Being-in (§§ 35–38):
Turmoil, Curiosity, and Crosstalk
   a) Crosstalk
   b) Curiosity
   c) Ambiguity
   d) Turmoil
   e) Falling

2.8 Authentic Sensibility: Angst (§§ 39–40)

2.9 The Primeval Structure of Dasein as Concern
   (§§ 41–42)

2.10 Reality and Truth (§§ 43–44)
   a) Concern, Truth, and Authenticity
   b) Being, Entities, and Dasein

Chapter 3: The Timing of Timeliness

3.1 The Problem of Completeness and Authenticity
   (§§ 45–46)

3.2 Authentic Understanding: Death (§§ 47–53)

3.3 Authentic Talk: The Call of Conscience
   (§§ 54–60)

3.4 The Structure of Authenticity as Decidedness
   (§§ 61–62)
3.5 Timeliness as the Sense of Concern (§§ 63–66) ..... 188
   a) The Future: Advent ............................................. 192
   b) The Past: Continuance ........................................... 192
   c) The Present: Encounter ........................................ 193
   d) The Ecstatic Structure of Timeliness ....................... 194
3.6 Timeliness and Its Modifications (§§ 67–71) ............... 199
3.7 The Foundation of Historicity (§§ 72–77) ................. 210
3.8 The Vulgar Concept of Time (§§ 78–83) .................. 220

Appendices

Appendix A: Glossary of Technical Terms ..................... 227
Appendix B: German–English Lexicon ......................... 259
Appendix C: Important Conceptual Divisions .................. 263

Endnotes ............................................................................. 269

Selective Bibliography .................................................... 297

Index of Names ............................................................... 307