The Class
Sefton-Green, Julian, Livingstone, Sonia

Published by NYU Press

Sefton-Green, Julian and Sonia Livingstone.
The Class: Living and Learning in the Digital Age.
NYU Press, 2016.
Project MUSE. muse.jhu.edu/book/49200.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/49200

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=1907377
Figures and Tables

Figures
Figure 3.1. The class as a social network 64
Figure 3.2. Mark’s ego network 75
Figure 3.3. Scatterplot of in-school and out-of-school contacts in class members’ ego networks 78
Figure 4.1. Gideon’s ego network 88
Figure 4.2. Megan’s ego network 91
Figure 4.3. Dilruba’s ego network 96
Figure 8.1. Yusuf’s “study” 171
Figure 8.2. Adam’s bedroom, showing places for work and play 174
Figure 8.3. Photographs of Sara’s Play-Doh creations uploaded to her Facebook profile 177
Figure A.1. Members of the class classified by their parents’ cultural and economic capital 259

Tables
Table 7.1. Media use by members of the class 157
Table 9.1. Private music lessons taken by members of the class 192
Table A.1. Research design overview 264
This page intentionally left blank