Markets and Justice

Chapman, John W.

Published by NYU Press

Chapman, John W.
Markets and Justice: Nomos XXXI.

Project MUSE. muse.jhu.edu/book/7504.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/7504

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=308300
PREFACE

This volume began with papers presented at the thirty-first annual meeting of the Society held in December 1986 at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel in conjunction with the convention of the American Philosophical Association. We are grateful to T. M. Scanlon, Jr., of Harvard University for having organized our meeting.

Once again we thank Eleanor Greitzer, Assistant to the Editors, for her valued services. And our thanks go also to Despina P. Gimbel, Managing Editor of New York University Press, for her efficient assistance.

On a personal note. This is the twenty-second volume of NOMOS on which I have worked with Roland Pennock. And I deeply regret that it will be the last. Time seems to have gone by with the speed of an express train. Still I would like to think that we, with the help of many others, have pretty much accomplished what Carl Friedrich had in mind when he founded our Society, namely, to establish a continuing interdisciplinary forum in which to consider the problems thrown in our path by political and legal philosophy.

J. W. C.