ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This book began as a dissertation at the Graduate School of North American Studies (GSNAS) at the John F. Kennedy Institute for North American Studies at the Freie Universität Berlin. I would like to thank the faculty of the John F. Kennedy Institute for North American Studies, as well as the staff of the GSNAS, for four wonderful and formative years.

Without the faith and support of my dissertation supervisor, Winfried Fluck, this book would not exist and I would not be a scholar. Ursula Lehmkühl and Sabine Schülting provided invaluable insights and advice throughout the writing process. Donald E. Pease, Ingo Berensmeyer, Dieter Dörr, and Ulla Haselstein were invaluable conversation partners at crucial points of my argument’s formation.

James Arvanitakis, Joel Baer, Gina Caison, Martin Fredriksson, Sophia Frese, Garnet Kindervater, Daniel Lange, Wojciech Malecki, Klaus J. Milich, Ethan Zane Miller, Katharina Motyl, Janna Obadas, Greta Olson, Julia Püschel, Christoph Raetzsch, Wibke Schniedermann, Boris Vormann, Birte Wege, and the members of Carmen Birkle’s colloquium at the Philipps-Universität Marburg also deserve special mention for their helpful comments and suggestions at various stages of this book. The International Graduate Centre for the Study of Culture at the Justus-Liebig-Universität Giessen provided a great and supportive environment during the revision process.

My thanks go to Richard Pult, Amanda Dupuis, and Susan A. Abel of University Press of New England, to Jeanne Ferris for copyediting, to Madeleine LaRue for proofreading, to Connie Binder for indexing, and to Cathérine Ludwig-Ockenfels for her help with citations.

My husband, Matthias Schillings, has had my back during the entire writing process and provided me with coffee, love, and a home.

This work was generously funded by the Excellence Initiative of the German federal and state governments.
