Many people and institutions have contributed in one way or another to make the publication of this book possible. It is our pleasure as editors to take this opportunity and sincerely thank them.

The idea to jointly publish this volume was born at the international conference “Suppressed Historiography—Erased Memory? The Perception of the Shoah in East Central Europe during Socialist Rule,” in late 2015, where participants examined the then widespread thesis that Holocaust research and remembrance had been suppressed, erased, or at best politically instrumentalized in Eastern Europe during the Cold War. This conference was organized by Stephan Stach in Halle as a cooperation of the Aleksander Brückner Center for Polish Studies at the Martin Luther University in Halle and the Jewish Museum in Prague. The event was supported by the European Association for Jewish Studies, the Czech-German Fund for the Future, and the Fondation pour la Mémoire de la Shoah. Special thanks to Yvonne Kleinmann and Michal Frankl for their encouragement and support in organizing the conference.

The research project “The Inclusion of the Jewish population into the postwar Czechoslovak and Polish Societies” directed by Kateřina Čapková at the Institute of Contemporary History of the Czech Academy of Sciences was of key importance for the publication of this volume. Stephan Stach’s and Peter Hallama’s research and editorial work for, and contributions to this volume were carried out as part of this research project, financed by grant no. 16-01773Y of the Czech Science Foundation. We would like to thank the institutions mentioned for making the creation of this volume possible. We particularly like to express our gratitude to Kateřina Čapková for her ongoing and dedicated support.

The editors are grateful to colleagues and friends who supported the publication project with their knowledge and advice, most importantly Kateřina
Čapková, Natalia Aleksiun, Gabriel Finder, David Shneer (Z”L), and Kamil Kijek. We would like to pass our sincere thanks to all the authors for their enthusiasm, cooperation, and hard work on their chapters during the different stages of the editing process.

The editors would also like to thank the two anonymous peer reviewers for their helpful comments and suggestions, CEU Press, especially Linda Kunos, for her continuous support throughout the publication process, and finally, Reynolds Hahamovitch and Tomasz Frydel for the meticulous and sensitive copy-editing of the texts. Without them, this volume would not have been born.
