Index

Note: Page numbers followed by f, m, and t refer to figures, maps, and tables respectively. Pages numbers followed by n or nn indicate notes.

Afghanistan, and First Afghan War, 172.
See also Anglo-Iranian War
Alliance strategy, riskiness of, 18
Amin, Idi, 50
Anglo-Iranian War, 170–76
history of, 170–72, 253n40
informational mechanism and underestimation of British resolve, 36, 172–74, 205 limits of preventive war mechanism, 174–75, 177
research strategy and, 56
Arab-Israeli Six Day War, 8, 35, 41
Argentina
military strength, 92
traditional rivalry with Brazil, 88, 90–91, 95–96
see also Falklands War; Paraguayan War
Argyll, Duke of, 144–45
Austria
Crimean War, 142, 144, 146, 247n8
Nazi expansion and, 107
Paraguay and, 101
Aziz, Tariq, 154, 165
Baker, James, 165
Bargaining model of war alternative mechanisms, 14–15 decline and, 16
definition and assumptions, 13–14 preventive war mechanism and, 17 theoretical advancements and, 7 unconditional surrender as puzzle for, 27
Barrios, Justo Rufino, 236 n24
Beck, Ludwig, 111
Belaúnde, Fernando, 187
Bennett, D. Scott, 6, 65–66
Blainey, Geoffrey, 14, 28, 34, 37, 39, 204
Blanco regime, in Uruguay, 88, 92, 94, 98, 237n38
Bolivian-Chilean conflict, 229 n11
Borges, Jorge Luis, 179
Brazil
intervention in Uruguay, 87, 90, 94, 96–99
military strength, 92
traditional rivalry with Argentina, 88, 90–91, 95–96
see also Paraguayan War
Brest-Litovsk, Treaty of, 20, 222n28
Britain. See Anglo-Iranian War; Crimean War; Falklands War; World War II in Europe
Broszat, Martin, 108, 235n35
Bulgaria, 118, 138
Bush, George H.W. and administration of, Persian Gulf War and, 160–70
Capability shifts, quantitative analysis and, 61, 63, 70–72, 75–76, 79, 84
Cappella, Rosella, 60
Cederman, Lars-Erik, 6
Chamberlain, Neville, 126–27, 128, 129, 130, 134, 135
Chile, 182, 190, 236n24
Index

China
Japan and World War II, 147, 148, 150
probability of conflict with U.S., 214–15, 217,259 n10
as rising power, 17–18, 24
Chiozza, Giacomo, 46–47
Churchill, Winston S., 33, 107, 110 unconditional surrender and, 106, 123, 124, 126, 127, 130, 131, 134, 135–36, 137,139,244 n116,247 n184 unpopularity and initial political weakness of, 129
Cilicia. See Franco-Turkish War
Civil war implications for, 210–12
internationalized,58–59
Clausewitz, Carl von, 6, 13
Clodfelter, Micheal, 60
Coe, Andrew J.,220–21 n11
Cold War, security dilemma and, 32, 224n52
Colombia,236 n24
Commitment problem defined, 3–4, 11–12 quantitative analysis and, 56, 57–58, 63, 66, 68–72, 71f,75–76,77–80,78
f, 84–85
war duration and intensity, 22f
see also Preventive war mechanism; Unconditional surrender mechanism Conflict management, implications for, 212–14
Conquest and settlement definitions, 24 operationalization and measurement, 66–68, 67f quantitative analysis and, 74–80, 77f, 78f,79 f Constructive engagement, in Persian Gulf War, 163
Continentalists, on German war aims, 120, 242n79
Copeland, Dale,11,219 n8,239 n24, 240n50
Correlates of War (COW) dataset, used in statistical analysis, 58, 60, 64, 65, 71, 229n8,229 n11
Cox specifications, in quantitative analysis,68,232 n42
Crimean War, 141–47
Anglo-Russian rivalry, 141–43
British preventive motivations, 20, 31, 247n10 expansive war aims, 142, 143–45, 247n9 final settlement and, 142–43 as possible distraction in Anglo-Iranian War, 173, 176, 253n46 quantitative analysis and, 62
research strategy and, 56
Russian willingness to negotiate, 141, 142, 145–47 strategic significance of Constantinople, 24, 141–43, 208, 210, 247n7, 248n12
Cyclic theories of international politics, 16
Czechoslovakia,107
Deaths, in war. See War destructiveness
Decline, fear of as cause of war, 3–4. See also Commitment problems Democracy hypothesis about, 52–53 quantitative analysis and, 63–64, 72, 73f, 73t,74,76,77
f,78,81
Destructiveness. See War destructiveness
Deterrent, cost of maintaining as explanation for war, 15, 220n11
Dispositional commitment problem. See Unconditional surrender mechanism Divergent expectations. See informational mechanism Diversionary war. See Falklands War; Principal-agent mechanism Domestic politics and war. See Principal-agent mechanism Duration models. See Event history models Economic cost of war. See War destructiveness
Eisenhower, Dwight D., 47, 132
El Salvador, 44
Elizalde, Rufino de, 102
Equifinality, as characteristic of wars, 2–3, 6, 54, 76, 78, 212
Event history models Cox proportional hazard model, 68 test of proportional hazard assumption, 232n42 see also Quantitative analysis; Statistical analysis Evil dictators. See Unconditional surrender mechanism
Fahd, king of Saudi Arabia, 164
Falklands War, 178–90, 201–2
Index

diversionary motive for Argentine junta, 50, 179, 181, 190 government weakness, 181–83 invasion as gamble, 183, 189–90 unsuccessful attempt to prolong war, 188–89 history of dispute, 179–81 importance of informational mechanism, 183–86 limits of preventive war mechanism, 186–87
quantitative analysis and, 67–68
research strategy and, 56
unconditional surrender mechanism, 29
Fieldhouse, John, 186
Fine, Jason P., 75
Finland, 137–38
First Afghan War, 172
First-strike advantage, 25
Flores, Venancio, 88, 90, 96, 97
France
Allied unconditional surrender strategy and, 122–23
British pessimism after fall of, 126–28, 244n16
see also Crimean War; Franco-Turkish War; World War II, in Europe
Francia, José Gaspar de, 95
Franco-Austrian War, 6, 38, 226n70
Franco-Turkish War, 56, 178–79, 190–202, 206–7 history of, 191, 192f, 193–94, 256nn53, 54 limits of information mechanism, 200
limits of preventive war mechanism, 199–200
principle-agent mechanism, 190, 200–202 colonial faction in French politics, 194–96, 257n69 domestic constraints eventually force withdrawal, 197–98 suppression of information about war, 196–97, 198, 207
Galtieri, Leopoldo, 182, 185, 188–89
George-Picot, François, 195
Germany. See World War I; World War II, in Europe
Glaspie, April, 162–63, 251n12
Globalists, German war aims and, 120, 242n79
Godfrey of Bouillon, 222n25
Goebbels, Joseph, 110
Goemans, Hein F., 45, 47, 72
Gorchakov, Alexander, 146
Göring, Hermann, 117–18
Gouraud, Henri, 197, 198, 201
Gray, Robert J., 75
Guatemala, 236n24
Haig, Alexander, 180, 185, 187
Halifax, Lord, 123, 127, 129, 130, 131, 134–35, 243n100, 246n156
Hernández, Fidel Sánchez, 44
Hess, Rudolf, 241n69
Hildebrand, Klaus, 108
Hillgruber, Andreas, 108
Himmler, Heinrich, 118, 125, 242n71
Hirohito, emperor, 46, 152
Hitler, Adolf, 18, 33, 48 advocacy for preventive war, 113–14 ideology, 9, 105, 108, 112–14, 133, 139, 208, 239n24, 243n90 informational mechanism and, 108–10
invasion of Soviet Union not mistake, 108–19 Mein Kampf, 112, 116, 119, 120, 121, 122, 133, 238, 239, 240, 243n100 principle-agent mechanism and, 110–11 racial beliefs, 108, 113, 119–20, 133, 239n24, 240, 243n90 reasons for continuing to fight after Stalingrad, 107, 110, 129, 131 second, unpublished book, 112, 120, 121, 237n7, 239, 241n69 unconditional surrender mechanism and, 27, 209–10, 222n38
Hull, Cordell, 130, 132
Hungary, 29, 138, 222, 249n47
Huntington, Samuel P., 65, 232n33
Hussein, Saddam
Iran-Iraq War and, 153–58, 160, 208, 249n47
Persian Gulf War and, 160–70, 205
U.S. invasion of Iraq and, 18, 35–36
India, 170, 172, 173, 185, 195, 228n109
Informationalism, chasmic conflict management implications, 204–5, 212–13
defined, 4–5, 7
divergent expectations, 34–36, 53, 225n57, 67 external actors and, 35–36, 37 misperceptions about resolve, 36, 37

[283]
Index

Informational mechanism, divergent expectations (continued)

[284]
Index

Mein Kampf (Hitler), 112, 116, 119, 120, 121, 122, 133, 238 n7, 239 n25, 240 n51, 243 n87, 245 n151

Mendez, Nicanor Costa, 185

Military strategy measuring risky strategies, 65–70 statistical determinants of, 80–83

Milosovic, Slobodan, 37

Misbehaving leaders. See Principal-agent mechanism

Mitre, Bartolomé, 90, 92–93, 94, 95, 96, 99, 103 rise to power destabilized Platine politics, 86, 88, 232 n34 willness to negotiate, 100, 101–2, 104, 243 n43

Molotov, Vyacheslav, 115, 121

Molotov-Ribbentrop Pact, 107, 127

Mommsen, Hans, 108

Motivated bias, British unconditional surrender position and, 128, 244 n126

Mubarek, Hosni, 162

Mutual overoptimism. See informational mechanism

Nagano, Osami, 149

National Military Capabilities dataset, 62, 63, 65, 82, 230 n18

Natural resources, civil wars and, 211

Nesselrode, Karl, 144, 146, 248 n19

Nicholas I, tsar of Russia, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 247 n10, 248 n19

Nomonhan border war, 38

Nott, John, 186

Nuclear weapons
implications for future conflicts, 13, 216
Iraq War and, 230 n17

Ottoman Empire

decline of, and Crimean War, 141–47
post-World War I plans for, 191, 192, 193–94

see also Franco-Turkish War

Overoptimism. See informational mechanism

Pacific War (South America), 229 n11
Pacific War (World War II). See World War II, in the Pacific

Palmerston, Lord, 172, 175

Paraguayan War, 18, 23, 86–104, 216–17, 234 n1 destructiveness of, 6, 30, 86, 235 n2
history of, 88, 89 n90–91

informational mechanism, 91–94, 99, 237 n43

Argentine disunion, 92–93, 96, 101 limits of as explanation for eventual destructiveness, 94

Paraguayan military strength, 92

limitations of principle-agent mechanism, 102–3, 237 n52

preventive war mechanism, 98, 99, 208–9

Argentine refusal to recognize Paraguayan independence, 86, 95–96

Paraguayan expectations of decline, 23, 94–100, 236 n19, 23, 24

Paraguayan war aims, 96–99
quantitative analysis and, 62, 232 n34
research strategy and, 56
security dilemma and, 32

unconditional surrender mechanism

Argentine openness to negotiation, 100, 237 n43

Brazilian refusal to negotiate, 28, 88, 91, 100 dispositional explanations for Paraguayan expansion, 87–88, 101–3

Pedro II, emperor of Brazil, 87, 100, 104, 237 n43

Pérez de Cuéllar, Javier, 187

Persian Gulf War, 159–70
history of, 159–61

informational mechanism and, 35–36, 160, 176–77, 205

Iraqi army’s performance, 162, 163–64

Iraqi expectations of U.S. casualty aversion, 161, 162–63, 250 n5, 251 n9, 10

Kuwait refusal to make concessions, 162, 250 n3 negotiation during war, 25, 166 reasons for quick war termination, 160–61, 166–68 reasons for U.S. optimism, 164–66

Saudi willingness to provide bases, 161–62, 164, 165, 168, 170, 251 n17, 18 limits of commitment problem mechanism, 46, 47–48, 168–69, 177 limits of principle-agent mechanism, 169

research strategy and, 56
Index

Philippines, U.S. seizure of, 25
Policy wars (nondiversionary principal agent conflicts), 7, 43, 201
quantitative analysis and, 228n1
see also Franco-Turkish War; Principal-agent mechanism Positive utility, as explanation for war, 15
Powell, Robert, 39, 220n6, 11
Power transition theory of war, 16
Preventive war mechanism, 11–12, 16–25, 204, 207–10
conflict management implications, 213
defined, 4, 7
as explanation for unlimited war, 16–25 duration and intensity, 49f, 52–53 fighting to conquest, 24 high war aims, 21, 22–23 possibility of short but decisive wars, 20–22, 24 risky military strategy, 23–24 as explanation for war, 16–25 diplomacy as potential alternative to war, 18–19, 222 incentives to engage in war, 24–25 reasons for failure of rising power to allay opponent’s fears, 18–19 reasons to fear decline, 3–4, 16–18, 61–68, 229 n15, 230 n17–20 hypotheses, 2–24
measuring anticipated decline, 61–63
quantitative analysis and, 70–72, 75–83, 207–8 unconditional surrender and, 25–26, 30–32
see also specific case studies
Principal-agent mechanism, 3, 11, 12, 53, 204, 205–7 conflict management implications, 213
defined, 7
diversionary wars, 43, 46–50, 49f, 178, 205, 227 n95, 98, 105
as explanation for limited war, 12, 42–49 constraints on leaders, 42–43, 45–49, 52, 53
hypotheses, 49–50, 52–53
internal constraints and, 31, 223n49 policy wars, 43, 49–52, 49f
quantitative analysis, 46–47, 58, 72, 78, 84 unifies argument about domestic politics and war, 43–44
war duration and intensity, 49–50, 49f
see also specific case studies
Private information. See Informational mechanism
Quantitative analysis, 57–85
central findings, 57–58
data and measurement, 58–68, 229n15, 230n17–20 statistical tests, 68–83
disaggregating types of war termination, 74–80, 771, 78 f, 79 f general predictions, 69–74, 69f, 71f, 73f, 73 f tests of ancillary hypothesis, 80–83, 81f
Rauschning, Hermann, 120, 242n80
Realist focus on systemic wars, 6, 219n8
Regime change, unconditional surrender and, 29
Reiter, Dan, 27, 82, 222n28, 234n56, 245n150
Research strategy, 54–57, 228n1, 2. See also Quantitative analysis
Reynolds, David, 126
Ribbentrop, Joachim von, 115
Rich, Norman, 147
Risk-acceptance, as explanation for war, 15
Romania, 138
Roosevelt, Franklin D., 30 death of, 242n75
domestic constraints on, 5, 227n104
Rosas, Juan Manuel de, 93, 101, 103
Russia. See Crimean War; Soviet Union; World War II, in Europe
Russo-Finnish War, 109, 115
Russo-Hungarian conflict, 29
Russo-Japanese War, 6, 113
Russo-Polish War, 41
Russo-Turkish War, 143
Saudi Arabia, Persian Gulf War and, 161–62, 164, 165, 168, 170, 251n17, 18
Schleswig-Holstein Wars, 41
Schlieffen Plan, 23–24
Second Opium War (Arrow War), 176, 254n57
Security dilemma, unconditional surrender mechanism, 32–33, 224n53
Settlement. See Conquest and settlement
Seymour, Lord, 144

[286]
Index

Shifting power. See Preventive war mechanism.

Sincere demand for unconditional surrender, 8, 16, 26, 27–33, 209, 224 n54

Sino-Indian conflict, quantitative analysis and, 66–67

Situational commitment problem. See Preventive war mechanism.

Slantchev, Branislav, 65

Smith, Alastair, 39

Somalia, 212

“Sons of the soil” wars, 222 n35

Soviet Union

German war aims and alliance and invasion of, 107, 109–10, 113–19

Japan and World War II, 151

Persian Gulf War, 166

Spanish-American War, 25, 44

Spoiler problem, civil wars and, 211, 212

Stalin, Josef, 221 n19

Germany and World War II, 110, 115, 116, 138–39, 24, 5 n152

Japan and World War II, 151

purported peace feelers, 118–19

Stam, Allan C. III, 6, 39, 65–66

Stark, Harold R., 124

Statistical analysis, case studies and research strategy, 54–57

Survival models. See Event history models

Sweden, 220 n11

Sykes-Picot Agreement, 191, 192 m, 193, 195

Taiwan, 215

Taylor, A.J.P., 108, 239 n24

Thatcher, Margaret, 185, 186

Third Punic War, 223 n44

Thucydides, 14, 16

Triple Alliance, Treaty of, 102, 236 n35

Triple Alliance, War of the. See Paraguayan War

Uganda-Tanzania War, 46, 50, 67

Unconditional surrender mechanism dispositional commitment problem, 4, 7, 12, 26, 27–30, 53 hypotheses, 29, 31–33 insufficiency of international anarchy as alternative explanation, 27 preventive war’s connection to, 25–26 initiator’s incorrect beliefs, 26, 31–32 undertaken by target of preventive war, 26, 30–31 as puzzle for bargaining model, 27 research strategy and, 55 security dilemma and, 32–33, 224 n53

see also specific case studies

United States

Falklands War and, 185, 187, 188, 255 n41

Franco-Turkish War and, 257 n73

implications for conflict with China, 214–15, 217, 259 n10

Paraguayan War and, 91

see also Persian Gulf War; World War II, in Europe; World War II, in the Pacific

Unlimited wars, 8, 11, 16, 203 implausibility of informational explanations for, 39 implausibility of principal-agent explanations for, 49 preventive war mechanism and, 16–25 unconditional surrender mechanism and, 25–33 Urquiza, Justo José de, 87, 92–93, 94, 95, 103, 235 n14, 237 n48

Uruguay

Brazilian intervention in, 87, 90, 94, 96–99

strategies significance of, prior to Paraguayan War, 88, 89 m

Vance, Cyrus, 165

Velayati, Ali Akbar, 156

Videla, Jorge Rafael, 182

Vietnam War

informational mechanism, 34–35, 36, 225 n59

principle-agent mechanism, 47, 51, 228 n112

Walter, Barbara, 211

War destructiveness, 7–8 economic costs of, definition and measurement, 60–61, 83, 229 n14 war intensity, definition and measurement, 60, 83 war severity, definition and measurement, 59–60, 83

War duration, 22, 41–42, 49–50, 52–53

War Initiation and Termination (WIT) project, 60, 64, 65, 231 n22

War of the Triple Alliance. See Paraguayan War

War severity. See War destructiveness

Welles, Sumner, 136

[287]
Weltpolitik, 239 n 26

World War I

Hitler’s ideology and, 19, 119 informational mechanism, 35, 37, 39, 40–41
preventive war mechanism, 17, 19, 21, 23
principle-agent mechanism, 46

World War II, in Europe, 105–40, 217
informational mechanism and, 37
Japan and, 149
limits of informational explanations, 108–10, 205
British pessimism after fall of France, 126–28, 244 n 16
German expansion not about overoptimism, 108–9 unable to explain unconditional surrender, 110–11, 125–29 limits of principle-agent mechanism explanations, 108–9, 129–30 preventive war mechanism, 25, 105–6, 139, 208–9, 221 n 19
German rearmament and, 114–19, 240 nn 45, 50 limits to German expansion, 119–22
Nazi ideology, 112–14, 238 n 5, 239 nn 24, 26, 28, 240 n 35 shifting power motivations, 117–19, 241 nn 66, 69
unable to explain unconditional surrender, 130–32
principle-agent mechanism, 46, 47, 48, 227 n 104 quantitative analysis and, 62, 67
alternatives to Hitler and, 138–39
British refusal to negotiate after fall of France, 106, 122–23, 131 dispositional commitment problem, 133–37, 140 early commitment to, in United States, 124–25
German peace feelers, 117–19, 125, 138
Germany’s European allies and, 134, 137–38, 210 purported Soviet peace probes, 118–19 refusal to negotiate not driven by alliance politics, 132, 245 n 146
U.S. and preventive motivations, 17

World War II, in the Pacific, 67, 68, 147–52
Japanese expansionism and war aims prior to, 148–49, 150, 152
Japanese pessimism about war, 149–50, 152
preventive war mechanism, 147, 150, 151, 152, 208
research strategy and, 56
unconditional surrender mechanism, 30, 124, 125, 130, 137–38, 148–49, 151–52, 210, 222 nn 38, 39, 223 n 45

Yamamoto, Isoroku, 149