Transfigured World

Williams, Carolyn

Published by Cornell University Press

Williams, Carolyn.
Transfigured World: Walter Pater's Aesthetic Historicism.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/47553

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=1844457

This work is licensed under a
Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License.

Contents

Acknowledgments ix
Abbreviations xi
Introduction 1

Part One  •  Opening Conclusions  11
1. “That Which Is Without” 14
2. “The Inward World of Thought and Feeling” 18
3. Aestheticism 26
4. Answerable Style 37
5. Historicism 46
6. Aesthetic Historicism and “Aesthetic Poetry” 57
7. The Poetics of Revival 68

Part Two  •  Figural Strategies in The Renaissance  79
1. Legend and Historicity 82
2. Myths of History: The Last Supper 94
3. The Historicity of Myth 103
4. Myths of History: The Mona Lisa 111
5. Types and Figures 123
6. Low and High Relief: “Luca Della Robbia” 143
7. The Senses of Relief 153
- viii - Contents

Part Three · Historical Novelty and Marius the Epicurean 169

1. The Transparent Hero 172
2. Autobiography of the Zeitgeist 184
3. The Transcendental Induction 193
4. Typology as Narrative Form 202
5. Typological Ladders 213
6. Christian Historicism 219
7. Literary History as "Appreciation" 224

Part Four · "Recovery as Reminiscence": The Greek Studies and Plato and Platonism 235

1. Histories of Myth: The Greek Studies 238
2. The House Beautiful and Its Interpreter 247
3. The Philosophy of Mythic Form 249
4. The History of Philosophy 258
5. The Anecdote of the Shell 266
6. Dialogue and Dialectic 270
7. Paterian Recollection: The Anagogic Mind 277

Afterword 282
Index 285