Noble Bondsmen

Freed, John B.

Published by Cornell University Press

Freed, John B.
Noble Bondsmen: Ministerial Marriages in the Archdiocese of Salzburg, 1100–1343.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/68535

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=2414290
Contents

List of Maps and Genealogical Tables ix
Preface xi
List of Abbreviations xv

Introduction 1

The Archbishopric and Principality of Salzburg 5
Sources and Terminal Dates 17
Methodology 22

1 The Archiepiscopal Ministerialage 30

Before the Investiture Conflict 32
The Investiture Conflict 35
The High Middle Ages (1122–1246) 39
The Salzburg Interregnum and the Later Middle Ages (1247–1343) 54

2 Seigneurial and Canonical Restrictions on the Ministerials’ Freedom to Marry 64

Seigneurial Constraints on Servile Marriages 67
Seigneurial Constraints on Ministerial Marriages 73
Canonical Constraints on Ministerial Marriages 81
3 Family Strategies 89
   Conjugal Households 91
   Heirs and Heiresses 99
   Wives, Maternal Uncles, and Nephews 104
   Sisters 113
   Younger Brothers 116
   Family Extinction 130
   A Change in Family Strategy 133

4 The Burdens of Matrimony 146
   The Leibgedingssystem 150
   The Abandonment of the Leibgedingssystem 156
   The Heiratsgabensystem 161
   The Amount of the Assigns 171

5 The Politics of Marriage 181
   The Twelfth Century 184
   Archbishop Eberhard II (1200–1246) 189
   The Salzburg Interregnum (1247–1270) 199
   The Later Middle Ages (1270–1343) 204

6 Ministerial Self-Consciousness 218
   The Archiepiscopal Ministerials and Courtly Culture 220
   The Iwein Frescoes in Rodenegg 224
   Ulrich of Liechtenstein’s Frauendienst 249
   Ambivalence 265
   Conclusion 267

Appendix 1 The Archbishops of Salzburg, 923–1365 273
Appendix 2 Ministerial Lineages 274
Bibliography 279
Index 295