Newspapers

Unquestionably, the most important source for the preparation of this study has been the extensive collection of state and county newspapers housed in the Kansas State Historical Society. These public journals contain a wealth of primary material that reveals the day-by-day historical record of Kansas politics in the 1890s as nothing else can. Numerous newspapers were consulted; some were studied intensively, and others at random. The list that follows includes those that were especially useful in this endeavor.

The Advocate, Meriden, 1889-1890.
The Advocate, Topeka, 1890-1897.
The Advocate and News, Topeka, 1897-1900.
Emporia Gazette, 1895-1896.
Farmers Advocate, Topeka, 1901-1904.
Kansas Chief, Troy, 1890-1896.
Kansas City Star, 1890-1896.
Kansas Commoner, Wichita, 1890-1894.
Kansas Democrat, Topeka, 1890-1896.
Kansas Farmer, Topeka, 1883-1891.
Kansas People, Osage City, 1888-1890.
Lawrence Journal, 1890-1894.
Lawrence World, 1890-1894.
Modern Light, Columbus, 1890-1894.
New Era, Topeka, 1893-1895.
Newton Kansas Commoner, 1889-1890.
Ottawa Journal and Triumph, 1890-1894.
The Peoples Herald, Lyndon, 1890-1900.
Pittsburg Kansan, 1889-1894.
The Populist, Topeka, 1892-1895.
Topeka Daily Capital, 1889-1900.
Topeka Mail and Breeze, 1898-1900.
Topeka State Journal, 1890-1895.
Wichita Daily Eagle, 1889-1894.
