Philippa Strum, our foremost authority on Louis Brandeis, gathers together for the first time a sterling selection from his most provocative and profound writings. A kind of "Portable Brandeis," this book provides a concise and readable guide to the thought of a truly great American.

"A most timely re-presentation that captures the full range and richness of Brandeis's writings in his own compelling words."—James MacGregor Burns, author of Packing the Court: The Rise of Judicial Power and the Coming Crisis of the Supreme Court

"Philippa Strum puts her considerable skills to an impressive result, crafting a 'Brandeis Reader' that teaches the value of an unflinching commitment to democracy at the same time that it deepens our understanding of majority rights, freedom of expression, and privacy. Every American will benefit from reading—and then rereading—this book.”
—Kermit L. Hall, author of The Magic Mirror: Law in American History

"A first-rate book, remarkable in every way—the right documents, the right order, the right way to introduce them.”—David W. Levy, coeditor of Half Brother, Half Son: The Letters of Louis D. Brandeis to Felix Frankfurter

"A super job of selecting and editing. This collection is far superior as representative of Brandeis's thought than any previous work."—Melvin I. Urofsky, author of The Campaign Finance Cases: Buckley, McConnell, Citizens United, and McCutcheon

Philippa Strum is Broekludian Professor of Political Science Emerita at the City University of New York and Global Fellow at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, where she formerly directed the Division of United States Studies. She is the author of numerous books, including Speaking Freely: Whitney v. California and American Speech Law.
