Acknowledgments

Working Detroit was researched and written by Steve Babson, with research and editorial assistance from Ron Alpern, Dave Elsila, and John Revitte. The book is a project of Detroit Labor History Tours (DLHT), a non-profit group organized by the Michigan Chapter of Workers Education Local 189. DLHT is funded in part by the Michigan Council for the Humanities and the Shiffman Foundation. Inquiries concerning DLHT’s slide shows, educational materials, and guided tours should be directed to Box 758, Detroit, MI 48231.

DLHT would like to thank the following readers of all or part of the manuscript: Irving Bluestone, Ray Boryczka, Bill Bryce, Nancy Brigham, Milton Cantor, Bob Dixon, Jane Dobija, Sidney Fine, Bernie Firestone, Miriam Frank, Ernie Goodman, Jim Jacobs, Chris Johnson, Joan Kelley, Bob Kentor, Phil Korth, Gerry Lazarowitz, Dan Luria, Norman McRae, Doris McLaughlin, Ron Means, David Montgomery, Pam Nelson, Jim Obst, Oscar Paskal, Leon Potok, Richard Thomas, Seth Wigderson and Bob Zieger. These readers are responsible for improving the book immeasurably, but are not accountable for its final content. Jane Dobija, Florence Estes, and Jim Jacobs helped research particular sections; Phill Kwik did the index.
