Capitalism’s Crises

Published by Wits University Press

Heywood, Mark, et al.
Capitalism’s Crises: Class struggles in South Africa and the world.
Project MUSE. muse.jhu.edu/book/50537.

➡ For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/50537
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This volume owes a special debt to the Rosa Luxemburg Foundation. Without their support it would have been impossible to hold a contributors’ workshop in South Africa and to ensure that the manuscript was developed sufficiently for publication. We are also grateful to the support given by Athish Satgoor and Andrew Bennie, organisers at the Cooperative and Policy Alternative Centre (COPAC), who played a central role in organising the workshop convened with contributors and activists from various social movements, including worker leaders involved in building the National Union of Metalworkers-led United Front. Special thanks also goes to Kathryn Joynt who assisted with a language and citation edit and Professor Michelle Williams who gave feedback on the manuscript. Finally, special thanks to the team at Wits University Press, particularly Veronica Klipp, Roshan Cader and Corina van der Spoel for supporting this volume and the Democratic Marxism Series.