Figures

Figure 3.1  Relative share of South Africa’s employed and unemployed per province 72
Figure 3.2  Dimensions of quality of life: Mean scores per dimension, 2009 and 2011 76
Figure 3.3  Quality of life index, 2009 and 2011 77
Figure 3.4  Quality of life: averages by municipality and metropolitan areas, Gauteng, 2011 78
Figure 3.5  Correspondence map of quality of life and education level 79
Figure 4.1  Spatial Development Framework and the Growth Management Strategy 91
Figure 5.1  Diepsloot West Ext. 9 in 2000 and 2012 111
Figure 5.2  Houtkoppen (Msawawa) in 2000 and 2012 112
Figure 5.3  Malatjie in 2000 and 2012 113
Figure 8.1  A categorisation of Johannesburg’s 180 informal settlements, 2011 160
Figure 8.2  Johannesburg’s high-income and low-income built-up areas crossing into neighbouring municipal areas 161
Figure 8.3  Informal settlement formation, Johannesburg, 1960–2008 163
Figure 8.4  Sweetwaters settlement, showing the orderly layout typical of Johannesburg’s informal settlements 165
Figure 8.5  Aerial photograph of Slovo informal settlement in Coronation 165
Figure 8.6  A dense informal settlement in the centre of Diepkloof, Soweto in 2000 and the same area in 2009 166
Figure 8.7  Distribution of households across various types and sizes of informal settlements 167
Figure 8.8  Informal settlements removed between 2000 and 2011 168
Figure 8.9  Johannesburg’s informal settlements adjacent to railway lines, 2011 169
Figure 8.10  A planned rollover upgrade showing former orderly layout of Weilers Farm and the proposed new layout, 2011 170
Figure 9.1  Low-income housing projects and informal settlements in Johannesburg, 2011 178
Figure 9.2  Low-income housing projects on the border of Johannesburg, Tshwane and Ekurhuleni, 2011 180
Figure 10.1  Distribution of perceived walking times from households to public transport facilities and routes in the City of Johannesburg 201
Figure 10.2  Means of transport used by household to access nearest food shop 202
Figure 10.3  Trends in litres of fuel sold per registered vehicle in Gauteng province and the City of Johannesburg 204
Figure 10.4  Inferred changes in urban built-up area from 1990 to 2000 and from 1990 to 2009 205
Figure 10.5  The relationship between household density, car ownership and public transport use in Johannesburg 206
Figure 11.1  A theoretical framework for the making and changing of urban space 217
Figure 11.2  Different types of gated communities in Greater Johannesburg 219
Figure 11.3  Part of the entrance to a luxury gated golf estate located in the northern suburbs of Johannesburg 220
Figure 11.4  A road closure restricts access into an enclosed neighbourhood in the central to northern part of Johannesburg 220
Figure 11.5  A luxury gated townhouse complex surrounded by a solid wall in the northern suburbs of Johannesburg 221
Figure 13.1  The urban fabric of Bertrams 255
Figure 13.2  A typical Yeoville residential area showing a mixture of low-rise buildings and early twentieth-century houses 255
Figure 13.3  Bertrams Road, dividing Bertrams (on the left) from the Standard Bank Arena sports precinct (to the right of this image) 257
Figure 13.4  Rockey-Raleigh Street, the main commercial street in Yeoville 257
Figure 13.5  Urban regeneration and sites of resistance in Bertrams Road and its surroundings in the context of the 2010 World Cup 258
Figure 13.6  Trends for regeneration in Yeoville on Rockey/Raleigh Street and in residential spaces 259
Figure 14.1  Johannesburg’s southern suburbs, 2009 271
Figure 14.2  Location of informal activities identified in a survey of Rosettenville, La Rochelle, Kenilworth and Turffontein, 2012 284
Figure 15.1  Greater Soweto in the context of Johannesburg, 2012 294
Figure 15.2  The expansion of Soweto through formal urban development 301
Figure 15.3  Informal housing in Soweto, 2001–2009 305
Figure 16.1  Kliptown transgresses the definitions of urban or rural, with dense human settlements alongside more open areas, some of which are used for animal husbandry. Its famous Freedom Square, now occupied by the Walter Sisulu Square of Dedication (WSSD), is at the centre of the image. 322
Figure 16.2  An aerial view of Kliptown Square before the construction of the Walter Sisulu Square of Dedication, c.2002 331
Figure 16.3  A view of the Freedom Square settlement in 2008 as seen from the Dlamini Road Bridge 335
Figure 17.1  Alexandra within Greater Johannesburg, 2009 343
Figure 17.2  Alexandra and its component parts, 2010 349
Figure 17.3  The expansion of Alexandra through formal development, 2001–2009 360
Figure 17.4  Trends in informal housing in Alexandra 361
Figure 18.1  The location and municipal boundaries of the town of Sandton within the province of Gauteng, prior to its incorporation into Johannesburg 372
Figure 18.2  The major business node in Sandton, 2013 373
Figure 18.3  Sandton’s changing boundaries: a) in 1995, b) after incorporation into the unicity of Johannesburg in 2000, and c) since 2006 when it became Administrative Region E 374
Figure 18.4  Prime office rentals (rands/m$^2$) in the Johannesburg CBD and Sandton Central, 1988–2013 375
Figure 18.5  Office vacancy rates in the Johannesburg CBD and Sandton Central by percentage, 1990–2011 375
Figure 18.6  ‘The northern wedge’ of metropolitan Johannesburg, c.2000 381
Figure 18.7  Sandton Central, the major hub in the northern wedge, 2007 385
Figure 18.8  Investment yields in Johannesburg’s CBD and Sandton Central, 1988–2013 387
Figure 18.9  Areas of predominantly commercial activity in Sandton Central and environs, 2007 389
Figure 19.1  The Johannesburg trolley bus system c.1970 398
Figure 20.1  Major land-use conversions from open space to other uses in Johannesburg and surrounds (5 km), 2004–2007 419
Figure 20.2  The study area 422
Figure 20.3  Population growth and decline in north-western Johannesburg 423
Figure 20.4  Proposed buffer strip around the Cradle of Humankind 429
Figure 21.1  Ellis Park soccer precinct, 2010 438
Figure 22.1  Case study areas and BRT routes in Orlando, Soweto 444
Figure 22.2  Public transport modes used to travel to work (n=128), Orlando, Soweto, 2011 446
Figure 22.3  Previous mode to work used by Rea Vaya commuters (n=18), Orlando, Soweto, 2011 446
Figure 22.4  Door-to-door travel times for work trips by public transport (n=129), Orlando, Soweto, 2011 448
Figure 22.5  Income distribution of households using BRT and all households, Orlando, Soweto, 2011 449
Figure 22.6  The BRT station precinct at Orlando Stadium, 2010 450
Figure 23.1  The origins of various schools of Islamic jurisprudence and thought that influence the practice of Islam in Johannesburg 459
Figure 23.2  ‘The footprint of Islam in Johannesburg in 1897 464
Figure 23.3  Islam racialised and displaced to apartheid group areas 467
Figure 23.4  ‘The first wave of Muslims move out of group areas, 1980s–1990s 469
Figure 23.5  ‘The spatial dispersal of Muslims after apartheid: the ‘second wave’ 471
Figure 23.6  Footprint of the Turkish Muslim community in Johannesburg, 2012 473
Figure 24.1  Amal Shopping Centre on 8th Avenue, Mayfair, 2012 484
Figure 26.1  The statue of Carl von Brandis on the corner of Pritchard and Von Brandis Streets, Johannesburg 495
Figure 27.1  Selling coffee in Bimo Mall, Bree Street, 2012 500
Figure 27.2  Jeppe and Troye Streets, 2012 502
Figure 28.1  Prayer groups on Yeoville ridge, overlooking Hillbrow and Ellis Park, with the Ponte building seeming to tower over the city 508