ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This volume owes a special debt to the Rosa Luxemburg Foundation (RLF). Without the support given by the RLF it would have been impossible to hold an online contributors’ workshop during the Covid-19 pandemic, and ensure the manuscript was prepared for publication. We are also grateful for the support given by the Co-operative and Policy Alternative Centre (COPAC), which played a central role in organising the online workshop convened with contributors and activists from various social movements. The support given by the RLF has enabled this volume in the series to be published open access. The Emancipatory Futures Studies in the Anthropocene project at the University of the Witwatersrand also provided support for the research and writing contributions by Vishwas Satgar. Moreover, it is important to acknowledge the editorial assistance provided by Jane Cherry from COPAC. Her efforts were crucial for keeping things on track. The efforts and inputs from Michelle Williams, Courtney Morgan, Awande Buthelezi and Charles Simane are also appreciated. Finally, our sincerest appreciation to the team at Wits University Press, particularly Veronica Klipp, Roshan Cader and Corina van der Spoel, for supporting this volume and the Democratic Marxism series.
