Acknowledgments ix

INTRODUCTION When Literature and Identity “Get Real” 1

CHAPTER 1 Sites of Authentication: Migration and Subjectivity in The History of Mary Prince 23

CHAPTER 2 “Different with Every Shore”: Women, Workers, and the Transatlantic South in Their Eyes Were Watching God 49

CHAPTER 3 Familiar Ground: The Rhetoric of “Realness” in Mama Day 78

CHAPTER 4 “Recuperating” the Subject in I, Tituba, Black Witch of Salem 111

CONCLUSION Writing Women across the African Diaspora 137

Notes 145

Works Cited 157

Index 163