I thank Emily Parsons and Sharilyn Sanders for their valuable research assistance. Thanks as well to the participants of the University of California Interdisciplinary Psychoanalytic Consortium, especially Jeffrey Prager, for our ongoing conversations, which have been a rich source of stimulation. I would like to express my heartfelt appreciation to Sydney Lévy, Vivian Gornick, and Malina Sefanovska, whose steady encouragement kept me on track. To Helene Moglen, who read and reread every word of this study, I owe an immeasurable debt of gratitude.
