Oriental Shadows

Egan, Jim

Published by The Ohio State University Press

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/24265

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=859340
WORKS CITED

Baine, Rodney M. "James Oglethorpe and the Early Promotional Literature for Georgia."

———. Several Poems. Boston. 1678.

———. “‘The Long’d-for Aera’ of an ‘Other Race’: Climate, Identity, and James Grainger’s

Hansen, Thomas S., and Burton Ralph Pollin. *The German Face of Edgar Allan Poe: A

Lewis, Richard. Carmen Seculare, for the Year, M, DCC, XXXII to the Right Honourable Charles, Lord Baron of Baltimore. Annapolis, MD, 1732.

———. Reasons for Establishing the Colony of Georgia. London 1732.

Ogletorpe, James. A New and Accurate Account of the Provinces of South Carolina and Georgia. London, 1732.

Orr, Bridget. Empire on the British Stage, 1660–1714. Cambridge: Cambridge University

———. “Benjamin Martyn, Secretary of the Trustees of Georgia.” Georgia Historical Quarterly 38 (June 1954): 142–47.

Shields, David S. Civil Tongues & Polite Letters in British America. Chapel Hill: University

Works Cited

