The politics of vaccination
Greenough, Paul, Blume, Stuart, Cantor, David, Holmberg, Christine

Published by Manchester University Press

Greenough, Paul, et al.
The politics of vaccination: A global history.
Project MUSE. muse.jhu.edu/book/64072.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/64072
Figures and tables

Figures

1.1 Fragmentary news reports of smallpox outbreaks from EP districts of smallpox, Pakistan Observer, 23 February 1958. News reports were a source of outbreak intelligence that travelled faster than the EP Health Department’s passive surveillance.

1.3 Dr T. Aidan Cockburn, East Pakistan Provincial Health Adviser, vaccinating an infant in Barisal district. Source: Markin Parikrama (‘American Survey’), May 1958.

4.1 The graph in Kim (1985), showing the importance of changing the target population.

11.1 T-shirt produced for the polio vaccination team members.

11.2 Cover of DVD, Polio: Cuta ko Kariya?

Tables

1.1 Major donors of smallpox vaccine to East Pakistan, spring 1958.

8.1 Vaccine schedules in Japan and the United States, 2011.
8.2 Approvals of Japan’s first combination vaccine with a polio component. 219
8.3 Adverse events following the introduction of MMR in 1989. 221
11.1 Cases of acute flaccid paralysis (AFP) and confirmed cases of wild poliovirus and circulating vaccine-derived poliovirus, Nigeria, 1999–2015. 299