The Protestant Orphan Society and its social significance in Ireland 1828–1940

June Cooper

Published by Manchester University Press

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/51521

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=1965931
Figures

3.1 DPOS applicants’ occupational profile, 1829–50 page 56
3.2 DPOS orphans in uniform. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 61
3.3 DPOS child mortality rates, 1838–50 68
4.1 Percentage of Protestant population served by PO Societies, 1861–91 91
5.1 DPOS applicants’ occupational profile, 1850–98 111
5.2 Children in household at time of bereavement, DPOS applicants, 1858–98 116
5.3 DPOS nurse with orphan. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 120
5.4 DPOS nurse with orphans. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 127
5.5 DPOS nurse with orphan. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 128
5.6 DPOS orphans, siblings. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 129
5.7 DPOS orphans, siblings. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 130
5.8 DPOS orphans, siblings. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 131
5.9 DPOS orphans, siblings. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 132
6.1 DPOS apprentice. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 153
6.2 DPOS apprentice. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 154
6.3 Clio training ship. Source: Courtesy of the Gwynedd Museum, Bangor, Wales 157
6.4 Captain Moger, Captain, Clio training ship. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 158
6.5 Clio boys, compass instruction. Source: Courtesy of the Gwynedd Museum, Bangor, Wales 159
6.6 Clio boys on deck. Source: Courtesy of the Gwynedd Museum, Bangor, Wales 159
6.7 Clio boys, DPOS orphans (brothers). Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 161
7.1 Adult DPOS orphan. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 200
7.2 Adult DPOS orphan with his wife. Source: The Protestant Orphan Society collection, courtesy of the National Archives of Ireland 201
8.1 DPOS committee members, 1937. Source: Courtesy of the Irish Times 223