Contents

List of figures                                      page vii
Acknowledgements                                    ix
Abbreviations                                       x

Introduction: speaking pictures?                    1

1 Early modern English drama and visual culture     18
2 ‘In the keeping of Paulina’: the unknowable image in The Winter’s Tale  64
3 ‘But begun for others to end’: the ends of incompletion  98
4 ‘The brazen head lies broken’: divine destruction in Friar Bacon and Friar Bungay  129
5 Going unseen: invisibility and erasure in The Two Merry Milkmaids  155

Conclusion: behind the screen                       183
Bibliography                                        202
Index                                                227