Contents

Acknowledgments

1 The puzzle
  1.1 Two bodies of literature: National regimes of citizenship and the migration policy gap
  1.2 Research strategy and case selection
  1.3 Collection of data
  1.4 Outline of the book

2 Studying practices of educational reception
  2.1 Delimitating practices of educational reception
  2.2 Explaining compliance with and deviation from policy practices in the migration field
  2.3 Analytical framework to study coordination/discrepancies between policies and practices
  2.4 Questions guiding the study

3 The institutional context of reception practices
  3.1 The Netherlands
  3.2 Spain

4 Practices in Rotterdam
  4.1 Johannes Vermeer school
  4.2 Rembrandt school
  4.3 Other schools that provide reception in Rotterdam

5 Practices in Barcelona
  5.1 Salvador Dali school
  5.2 Antoni Tapies school
  5.3 Gaudi school
  5.4 Other schools that provide reception in Barcelona

6 Explaining gaps: Rotterdam vs. Barcelona
  6.1 Comparison of cases
  6.2 Specific characteristics of the gap in Barcelona and Rotterdam
  6.3 Explaining gaps: Discretionary practices in Barcelona and Rotterdam
7 Fields, embedded agency and collective practices 263
  7.1 Main findings of the study 265
  7.2 The collective dimension of discreional action 266
  7.3 Contextual factors: Towards a heuristic model for explaining degrees of institutional influence on practices and varieties of gaps 269
  7.4 Challenges and the future of educational reception 271
  7.5 Research agenda 279

Glossary of terms and acronyms 283

Bibliographic references 287

Relevant policy documents 309

List of Figures

Figure 1 Channels of discretion 44
Figure 2 Summarised structure of the Dutch educational system 69
Figure 3 Transfer from ISK reception at Vermeer school to ordinary education 129
Figure 4 Transfer from ISK reception at Rembrandt school to tracks of ordinary education 146
Figure 5 Percentage of 3-16 y.o. foreign students in Barcelona over total students 150
Figure 6 Typology of reception styles of schools: Rotterdam and Barcelona 221
Figure 7 Explanatory model 225

List of Tables

Table 1 Types of social action and mechanisms of coordination 45
Table 2 Long-term ideals of integration 58
Table 3 Policy instruments, by purpose and intensity of special treatment 59
Table 4 Main characteristics of TAE and LIC reception programmes 95
Table 5  Proportion of population of immigrant origin in Rotterdam (2004-2012) 98
Table 6  Ethnic composition of population in Rotterdam, 2004-2012 98
Table 7  Ethnic composition of 12-15 y.o. students in Rotterdam, per 1-10-2012 99
Table 8  Annual subsidies for reception of newcomer students in Rotterdam (2005-2006) 102
Table 9  Students between 12-18 years old settled in Rotterdam coming from abroad 104
Table 10  Number and nationality of newcomer students in Vermeer school (2002-2009) 106
Table 11  Number of students with illegal residence status and illiterate students at Vermeer school reception department 108
Table 12  Number and nationality of newcomer students in Rembrandt School 131
Table 13  Evolution of the number of classes in Rembrandt school 138
Table 14  Reception style of Rotterdam schools 148
Table 15  Immigrant population in Barcelona, 1996-2011 149
Table 16  Foreign students in Barcelona by level of studies (2009-2010) 151
Table 17  Concentration of 3-16 y.o. foreign students in Barcelona, by level of education and type of school (2009-2010). Percentage over total students 152
Table 18  Concentration of 3-16 y.o. foreign students in Barcelona by type of school (2009-2010) 152
Table 19  Area of origin of foreign students (in obligatory secondary education) in Barcelona city, 2011-2012 153
Table 20  Annual budget for reception of newcomers in Catalonia (LIC programme) (2004-2005) 154
Table 21  Sample of reception units in Barcelona (by policy programme) 155
Table 22  Number and ethnic distribution of pupils in the Dali reception classroom 158
Table 23  Foreign-born students in Tapies school 169
Table 24  Number and nationality of newcomer students in the Tapies reception classroom, per year 171
Table 25  Regular subjects newcomers attend in Tapies school, 2003-2004 until 2008-2009 180
| Table 26 | Number and nationality of newcomer students in Gaudi's reception programme. | 188 |
| Table 27 | Schedule of newcomers pupils at Gaudí School, 2008-2009 | 194 |
| Table 28 | Telephonic survey to a sample of secondary schools providing reception in Barcelona | 204 |
| Table 29 | Extension, institutionalisation, and divergence of discretional practices in Rotterdam | 217 |
| Table 30 | Extension, institutionalisation, and divergence of discretional practices in Barcelona | 218 |
| Table 31 | Discretional practices in both cities according to the type of discretion | 220 |