This book is the product of a long and hard effort. It became true thanks to synergies with activists, friends, family and institutions which believed in me and allowed me to put in pen thoughts and feelings about queer politics. A special thanks to the Queeristan and to Da Mieli a Queer crew, with some of whom I have kept strong links. A special thanks to Ramzy, Viola, Cesare and Helge for their hospitality, for introducing me to the festivals and for the time and energy they spent on me.

I want to thank all those people who stood by me the last seven years and before. Coming to the European University Institute and meeting my supervisor Donatella Della Porta was a unique opportunity to study sociology, although I was from a different disciplinary background. She trusted me when she selected my project back in 2010, and provided me with lots of autonomy to develop it in the way I believed. Without her, I would not be where I am right now. I would also like to thank the State Scholarships Foundation in Greece (IKY), which offered the funding to conduct my PhD, as well as the European University Institute (EUI) for its supplementary funding.

Didier Eribon has been an invaluable intellectual inspiration. His book Retour à Reims was a landmark for me. It helped me to understand the social world, its injustices, and the strategies people develop in order to overcome them. Thanks to Verta Taylor and Olivier Roy for their help, too.

At the EUI I encountered some amazing people. I love each of them for her/his own personal charisma. Bogna, it feels like we are bound together through our similar birth date. I learnt so much from you. I laughed even more. Leila has been more than a friend for the last seven years. She trusted my project and gave me her lights to develop it the best way possible. Even my strongest anxieties about life took a different flavour, each time I was exposing them to her. Through honest friendship and a lot of laughter, everything becomes possible. Sara, thanks for everything.

Caterina, Pietro, Maja, Maria and all the people who made my life different. I thank all of you personally. Yorgos, Korina and Gina, you are friends for life. Whatever I do, wherever I go, you are always there.

For this book in particular, I want to thank Irini for the devotion, love and caring she has been offering all these years. You read the introduction – your comments are priceless. Philip, you have been amazing with me, so tolerant with my manuscript, which you read several times to provide me with feedback. Gianmaria, Adriano, Sara – you are the loveliest and cutest human beings. Thanks a lot for your reading and commenting.
I cannot miss mentioning my family – Andreas, Chryssoula, Evriviadis and Alexandros. Thanks for everything.

Finally, this book is dedicated to Emmanuel. You made me believe in it, you encouraged me when I was feeling down. You are unique.
