Kyiv, Ukraine - Revised Edition
Adrian Cybriwsky, Roman

Published by Amsterdam University Press

Adrian Cybriwsky, Roman.
Amsterdam University Press, 2016.
Project MUSE. muse.jhu.edu/book/66620.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/66620

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=3084581
List of Illustrations and Tables

List of Illustrations

Figure 0.1  The author and 26 of his 27 students at Kyiv Mohyla Academy, May 2011, plus Peter 27

Figure 1.1  “Ukraine Is Far from Heaven” graffito 32
Figure 1.2  Olena Zhelesko with megaphone 41
Figure 1.3  A view of Kyiv across the Dnipro River 53

Figure 2.1  Exhibits from the Museum of the History of the City of Kyiv being packed up for moving to limbo (Courtesy of V. Kovalynskyi) 59

Figure 3.1  Under the People’s Friendship Arch 78
Figure 3.2  The small and controversial Church of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin. In the background is the historic, baroque St. Andrew’s Church, while to the right is a fence that demarcates the site of Desiatynna Church. The signboard announces that a museum is slated to be built. The photograph is from March, 2014. 82
Figure 3.3  President Yanukovych’s notorious book Opportunity Ukraine (Courtesy of Alexander J. Motyl) 93
Figure 3.4  The helipad from hell 99

Figure 4.1  A scene from the Soviet-like February 22 (2011) “Defenders of the Homeland” celebration. The words read “Party of Regions Ukraine.” 110
Figure 4.2  Leaders of the three main opposition parties in Ukraine singing the national anthem after signing their historic accord. From left to right they are Oleh Tyahnybok, Svoboda Party; Arsenyi Yatsenyuk; Batkivshyna Party; and Vitalyi Klitschko, Udar. In between these men, we can see other dignitaries wearing T-shirts in support of freeing former Prime Minister Yulia Tymoshenko from prison. 121
Figure 5.1  Sign with conflicting street names  132
Figure 5.2  Kyiv's iconic “Mother of the Fatherland” World War II memorial as seen from across the Dnipro River  136
Figure 5.3  The candle-shaped Holodomor Monument and Museum and a statue of a hungry girl  143
Figure 5.4  Cathedral of the Holy Trinity, a new church in Troyeshchyna  149

Figure 6.1  1 Ya roslaviv Val  163
Figure 6.2  Independence Square. Khreshchatyk crosses the scene and divides the square into two halves. The lower portion of the Independence Monument is on the right.  165
Figure 6.3  The bell tower of St. Sophia Cathedral  178
Figure 6.4  Andrew’s Descent during reconstruction (Courtesy of Vladyslava Osmak)  180
Figure 6.5  Podil at a crossroads, literally. This is a traffic tie-up approaching Post Office Square. There is construction underway in parkland on the bluffs on the left, the large new Fairmont Hotel at right-center, and some of industrial Podil in the background.  185

Figure 7.1  A glass-skinned “monster” rising from within historic buildings in the center of Kyiv. The building to the right is the city’s famed Opera. Note also the traffic and the vehicles parked on sidewalks.  191
Figure 7.2  Diamond Hill rising from parkland atop the bluffs of right-bank Kyiv  193
Figure 7.3  A view of Vozdvyzhenka from above  204
Figure 7.4  The mansions of Koncha Zaspa as seen via Google Earth  210
Figure 7.5  This photograph was taken at an anti-corruption in government rally by the Communist Party of Ukraine in the center of Kyiv. The protester’s sign reads “Caution! Oligarch at the Wheel.” As is characteristic of Ukraine’s communists, the language is Russian.  213

Figure 8.1  Laborers gathered around a recruiter for day work outside Kyiv’s central rail station  222
Figure 8.2  Misha the handyman  229
Figure 8.3  One of the countless petty vendors in Kyiv, a great many of whom are elderly women  230
Figure 8.4 A view of a table at the secondhand market at Shulyavska before the market was burned down.

Figure 8.5 African vendors and their merchandise in the underhighway section of Shulyavska Market.

Figure 8.6 A Roma husband-and-wife team of metal scrap collectors at work.

Figure 9.1 A minibus (marshrutka) decorated with an advertisement for “Comfort Town,” a new housing development in Kyiv’s residential ring. The text reads “Start Living like a European!”

Figure 9.2 A large new private home close to Dnipro River beaches in an area that was reserved for modest dachas during Soviet times.

Figure 9.3 Troyeshchyna village and parking garages from the roof of a high building.

Figure 9.4 Traffic circle and Metro terminus at Heroiv Dnipra, north of the city center.

Figure 9.5 New residential high-rises, commercial strips, billboards, and harsh distances for pedestrians in the Osokorky neighborhood on the Left Bank.

Figure 9.6 Kyiv relaxing. The photo is of the walk along the beach in Obolon.

Figure 10.1 Foreign men “shopping” along Khreshchatyk at Independence Square.

Figure 10.2 Former restaurant-nightclub boats docked in limbo along the Dnipro River.

Figure 11.1 Photo of angry citizens in demonstration. The sign reads, “If you don’t like Ukrainians, get out of Ukraine.”

Figure 11.2 “This city is not for sale!” (right), “Keep your hands off of my city!” (center), and “Hostyny Dvir – A Space for Culture” (right) (Right image courtesy of Vladyslava Osmak).
Figure 11.3  A controversial new construction site. The Ukrainian Orthodox Church, Kyiv Patriarchate, is building the new office building that is shown on the billboard in an historic part of the city, on the site of old buildings that had been taken down. The Jesus Christ with thorns placard reads, “Dear Lord, help us to save Kyiv from illegal construction.”

Figure 11.4  Kyivans encircling Hostynyi Dvir in a symbolic action to defend the building from developers (Photo courtesy of Viktor Kruk)

Figure 11.5  Oleksandr Glukhov in his cold apartment

Figure 11.6  The last farmstead in Pozniaky

Figure 12.1  Kyivans in the sun together

Figure 13.1  Honoring the fallen at Maidan Nezalezhnosti after the killings of mid-February, 2014

Figure 13.2  Masha from Kherson with the last flag of Ukraine that flew over Maidan before the stage was destroyed, and a man who photo-bombed us

List of Tables

Table 1.1  Socialist and Postsocialist Cities Compared

Table 5.1  Shifting Place-names in Kyiv before and after Independence

Table 7.1  Selling Vozdvyzhenka

Table 10.1  Protest Activities by FEMEN, 2008-2012

Table 11.1  Journalists Killed in Ukraine, 1995-2010

Table 11.2  Examples of Save Old Kyiv Hot Button Issues