“This is a must read for all who believe that the significant strengthening of a social Europe will benefit all, including the Roma, the largest ethnic minority in Europe.”

Huib van Baar, Justus Liebig University Giessen and University of Amsterdam

“The contributor list is a roll-call of leading thinker-actors in Romani Studies. The afterword by German Romani Green MEP Romeo Franz shows the need for words to become action.”

Thomas Acton, Bucks New University

“Roma people in Europe have been socially excluded for too long. Now is the time to right the housing and social policy wrongs. These are important ideas for a ‘Social Europe’.”

Jo Richardson, De Montfort University

“A timely and eloquent invitation to rethink our understanding of the plight of Romani communities in Europe and move beyond failing approaches towards a transformative policy agenda centred on the idea of a New Social Europe.”

Nando Sigona, University of Birmingham

Drawing on Romani community voices and expert research, this book provides a powerful tool to challenge conventional discourses and analyses on Romani identity, poverty and exclusion.

Through the transformative vehicle of a ‘Social Europe’, this edited collection presents new concepts and strategies for framing social justice for Romani communities across Europe. The vast majority of Roma experience high levels of exclusion from the labour market and from social networks in society. This book maps out how the implementation of a new ‘Social Europe’ can offer innovative solutions to these intransigent dilemmas.

This insightful and accessible text is vital reading for the policymaker, practitioner, academic and activist.
