Georges Perec’s Geographies

Forsdick, Charles, Leak, Andrew, Phillips, Richard

Published by University College London

Forsdick, Charles, et al.
Georges Perec’s Geographies: Material, Performative and Textual Spaces.
University College London, 2019.
Project MUSE. muse.jhu.edu/book/81896.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/81896

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=277569
Acknowledgements

Richard Phillips is grateful to members of a Georges Perec reading group, which met in Sheffield University and convened a symposium on Georges Perec’s Geographies, supported by the University of Sheffield Department of Geography, in which some draft chapters of this book were aired and discussed. Richard particularly wishes to acknowledge Kiera Chapman, Malcolm Tait, Eric Olund and Morag Rose for their conversations and engagement with this project, and others who attended the conference for their comments and suggestions.

Charles Forsdick acknowledges the assistance of the Arts and Humanities Research Council. He was theme leadership fellow for ‘Translating Cultures’ (AH/N504476/1) during the editing of this collection. The original conference at which the ideas put forward in this volume were explored was supported by ‘Translating Cultures’.

Daryl Martin would like to thank Jonathan Meades for his kind permission to reproduce the two images in Chapter 13. He would also like to thank Paul Shields for his assistance in preparing the digital images for inclusion in the chapter.