Positioning Diversity in Kenyan Schools

von, Malve

Published by African Minds

von, Malve.
Positioning Diversity in Kenyan Schools: Teaching in the Face of Inequality and Discrimination.

Project MUSE. muse.jhu.edu/book/101725.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/101725

For content related to this chapter https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=3195345
List of tables and figures

Table 1  Kenya Economic Survey 2019: Educational institutions by category 2014–2018 64
Table 2  Identification with ethnic group in Kenya  81
Table 3  Unfair treatment according to ethnic group  81
Table 4  Experiences of discrimination based on ethnicity  81
Table 5  Preference of specific social groups as neighbours 90

Figure 1  Global Education Monitoring Report 2017: Lower secondary completion rate – gender disparities 74
Figure 2  Global Education Monitoring Report 2017: Tertiary completion rate – gender disparities 74
Figure 3  Global Education Monitoring Report 2017: Never been to school – gender disparities 75
Figure 4  Pupils who can do Class 2 work  76
Figure 5  Teachers’ challenges in the classroom 92
Figure 6  Visualising ethnicity: Types of biographical experiences 104
Figure 7  Visualising gender: Types of biographical experiences 125
Figure 8  Visualising socio-economic background: Types of experiences 138
Figure 9  Organising scheme for the study of diversity in education in Kenyan school contexts 214
Figure 10 Imposed hierarchisation: Context and causal factors 219
Figure 11 Teachers’ strategies responding to diversity as imposed hierarchisation 236
Figure 12 Analytical model: Diversity in education in Kenyan school contexts 249