Strengthening Popular Participation in the African Union

AfriMap, AfriMap, Oxfam, Oxfam

Published by African Minds

AfriMap, AfriMap and Oxfam Oxfam.

Project MUSE. muse.jhu.edu/book/18252.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/18252

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=598222
AfriMAP, the Africa Governance Monitoring and Advocacy Project, is an initiative of the Soros foundation network’s four African foundations, and works with national civil society organisations to conduct systematic audits of government performance in three areas: the justice sector and the rule of law; political participation and democracy; and effective delivery of public services.

www.afrimap.org

The Open Society Institute works to build vibrant and tolerant democracies whose governments are accountable to their citizens. To achieve its mission, OSI seeks to shape public policies that assure greater fairness in political, legal, and economic systems and safeguard fundamental rights. At a local level, OSI implements a range of initiatives to advance justice, education, public health, and independent media. At the same time, OSI builds alliances across borders and continents on issues such as corruption and freedom of information. OSI places a high priority on protecting and improving the lives of people in marginalised communities.

www.soros.org

Oxfam works with others to overcome poverty and suffering in 33 countries across Africa. Alongside its development and humanitarian work, Oxfam supports regional African organisations and coalitions to effectively engage continental and international policy-making institutions to respond to poverty and exclusion. Recognising the next three years as a defining moment for the African Union, Oxfam has invested in partners and its own staff to support the African Union as a positive force for realising the social, economic, political and cultural rights of Africans.

www.oxfam.org