

BIBLIOGRAPHY

— — —. 2005b. “Our brains strive to see only the good, leading some to God.” Wall Street Journal, October 28.

Crook, C. 2010. “We were all to blame for the crash.” Financial Times, June 21.

De Bruijne, M., and M. van Eeten. 2007. “Systems that should have failed:

— — —. 2009a. “‘Too big to fail’ is too dumb to keep.” Financial Times, October 28.
— — —. 2009b. “Too big to fail: Wall Street, we have a problem.” Financial Times, July 22.

——. 2010. “‘Flash crash’ shows need for price discovery and safeguards.” Financial Times, May 27.

Nisbett, R. 2006. “Telling more than we can know” (http://edge.org/responses/what-is-your-dangerous-idea).

Oswald, A. 2006. “The hippies were right all along about happiness.” Financial Times, January 19.

—. 2009a. “Banks let off the hook as flawed model is preserved.” Financial Times, July 15.
—. 2010b. “Bond markets will be a nervous place for a while yet.” Financial Times, December 1.

——. 2009. “Campaign to reduce carbon dioxide levels picks a number to make a point.” New York Times, October 25.

——. 2011. “Surprising answers to rising sea levels, storms, floods, desertification, earthquakes and ever more environmental crises in Califor-

BIBLIOGRAPHY

——. 2007a. “Credit turmoil shows not all innovation has been beneficial.” Financial Times, September 11.

——. 2009c. “Ghost of AIG refuses to fade as CDS data remains elusive.” Financial Times, September 25.

——. 2009d. “Good idea that turned bad when no one was looking.” Financial Times, March 17.

——. 2010. “Deleveraging out of the debt mire will be an unsavoury task.” Financial Times, January 15.

——. 2004. “We need more globalization—but we will only get it if we have better states.” Financial Times, May 10.