 INDEX

Pages denoted by ‘f’ indicated figures.

Abu Talib Kalim (poet), 23; poem about Red Fort of, 23
Advani, L. K., 1
Agra (Indian city): between 1803 and 1857, 49; Hodges and, 35–41; Mir Taqi Mir (poet) on, 35–36, 40–41; Nazir Akbarabadi (poet) on, 46–48
Ahmad, Deputy Nazir, 170, 195 n. 1
Ahmad, Muslim, 170–72, 172f., 195 n. 3; Bashiruddin Ahmad Dehlavi and, 170–71
Ahmad, Na’im, 27
Akbar (Mughal emperor), 7, 38, 92–93, 107; Muslim League rejection of, 119; Nehru on, 137; use of Sufi tomb by, for Hindu-Muslim communalism, 142–43
Akbar’s tomb in Sikandra, 37–40, 39f., 42, 49; restoration of, 70
Aligarh Muslim University, 121, 141, 166
Amber (city), 79–81
Ambivalence, 35, 37, 57, 60; post-uprising, 102; subjectivity and economic development and, 146
Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Sites and Remains Act of 1958, 154
Ancient Monuments Preservation Act of 1904, 69
Archaeological Survey of India (ASI), 15; Fatehpur Sikri and, 58–59; Islamic categorization of monuments by,
Ashoka, 92
Athar al-sanadid (Khan, Works of the Nobles), 96–100
Aurangzeb (Mughal emperor), 21, 165
Aurangzeb’s mosque: Hodges and, 31–34, 65
Awqaf. See Waqf and awqaf
Azad, Maulana, 125, 133–34
Babri Masjid (sixteenth-century mosque): destruction plot and, 3–4, 164–67, 179 n. 4, 194 n. 43; as differential space, 12; Hindu nationalists and, 1; nasheed (song) on loss of, 11; Singh on, 1
Babur (Mughal emperor), 164–65
Bachchan, Amitabh (Hindi actor), 174–75, 195 n. 5
Bagh Kalali (mosque), 117
Bahadur Shah, 50, 87, 127, 131–32, 183 n. 53
Baig, Amita, 155
Benares (Indian city): Aurangzeb’s mosque, 31–34; Hodges and, 31–34; View of Benares with Aurangzeb’s Mosque (painting, Hodges), 18f., 19, 20f
Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), 1, 164–67
British East India Company, 22, 29, 32, 41, 51, 96, 107
British power, 3, 14–15, 32–33, 35, 41, 44, 47–48, 67; in the eighteenth century,
British power (continued) 21–22; Lord Curzon and, 15; model of relational, 6–7; mosques as sites of resistance to, 15; Mughal monuments and, 22, 27; post-uprising, 103; between ruler and ruled in nineteenth century, 50–51; wars of expansion and, 14

British Raj: British underestimation of significance of mosques and, 117–18; eradication of monumentality of Mughal monuments by, 51, 54–55, 60–61, 72–75; influence of, on return of mosques, 103, 107–8; mosques as site of struggle between Muslims and government of, 108–18; Musaddas (poem, Hali) and, 108; Red Fort as differential monument of, 132. See also Tourism and heritage production (British Raj)

Brown, James (English major), 36
Burgess, James, 55–60
Burji Masjid (mosque), 117
Burke, Edmund, 36; Indian monument as ethical sign and, 32–33; Indian sublime and, 29
Butler, Judith, 146

Canning, Lord (viceroy), 52
Chand, Lalah Sil, 96–97
Chandni Chowk (bazaar in Delhi), 103, 106, 130, 170, 173
Chatterjee, Partha, 136, 162
Chatterjee, Ramananda, 90
China, 64–66
Chishti Sufi order, 28, 142
Cole, H. H., 55–60
Cole, Henry, 58
Colonialism, 34, 36–37; gender and, 42–43; Parkes and, 46

Colonial studies, 6
Communal violence, 145–46
Congress Party, 118–19; ordering of Mughal monuments of, 134–38
Creativity, 4–5, 12–13; monumental space and, 11; nasheed (song) on loss of Babri Masjid, 11; spatial practices and, 4, 179
Cunningham, Alexander, 52, 55–56
Curzon Gazette, 110

Dark space, 74–75
Dastanbuy (narrative of uprising, Ghalib), 103
de Certeau, Michel, 37, 40, 86, 179 n. 3
Decline and ruin, 26, 35–43; Mir on ruins of Agra, 35–36, 40–41
Dehlavi, Bashiruddin Ahmad, 170–71
Delhi, 15, 183 n. 53; between 1803 and 1857, 49; Gandhi and, 138–44; Master Plan for Delhi 2021, 177; Mir’at Giti-numa (Mushtak) and, 97–98; Mir’s poetry of, 24–25; Muslim return of post-uprising, 103; Nosegay (narrative of uprising, Ghalib) and, 103; sacking of, 21–22, 24; Sauda’s poetry of, 25–26; Twilight in Delhi, 129–31
Desire (dialectics of), 8–9, 180 n. 18
Differential space, 12–13, 40, 44, 148, 159
Durbar, 22, 86, 91, 107, 129

East India Bill, 32
Economics and interpellation, spatial practices of, 16, 146–47
Egypt, 64
Eros, 55, 70, 72, 76, 85, 93
Ethics and monuments, 14, 32–33, 168–69
Fantasy (of desire), 77–78, 81, 83, 85
Fatehpuri Masjid of Old Delhi (mosque), 16, 170–78, 172f, 176f, 178f; British government influence on return of, 104–8; as “Homeplace,” 175–76; post-uprising return of, to Muslims, 103–9; as representative space of Muslim community, 103, 117–18; tourism and, 150
Fatehpur Sikri (sixteenth-century monument), 4, 84f, 150; between 1803 and 1857, 49; ASI survey and repairs of, 58–59; in Lal patthar, 7; Santha Rama Rau visit to, in 1930s, 92–93
Fergusson, James, 52–54
Forbidden City (China), 65
Foucault, Michel, 6; dark space and, 74; on genealogy, 5
Fox, Charles, 32
Freitag, Sandria, 145
Gahilote, Prarthna, 154
Gandhi, Mohandas K., 5, 16, 135, 138–44, 143f; fast and assassination of, 143–44; Mehrauli Shrine visit of, 141, 142f, 143; Mughal monuments as space of creativity and alternate vision of nations and, 143–44; Purana Qila (Old Fort) visit of, 139–40; at Red Fort and Jama Masjid, 140–41
Gandhi, Indira, 150
Gandhi, Rajiv, 151
Gaze, 21
Genealogy, 5
Ghulam Qadir, 21
Gilmartin, David, 123, 125, 191 n. 90
Government of India Act of 1909, 118–19
Greece, 64
Guha-Thakurta, Tapati, 53–54
Habib, Irfan, 160
Hairat, Mirza (Dihlavi), 110
Hali, Altaf Hussain (poet), 15, 108, 122
Hamdard Daily (newspaper), 116–17
Haque, Ishrat, 46
Hardinge, Lord (governor general), 49
Hardinge, Lord (viceroy), 110
Hastings, Warren (governor general), 36–37, 182 n. 25
Hodges, William (painter), 10, 14, 28–35, 39f, 47–48; Agar and, 35–41; Akbar’s tomb in Sikandra and, 37–40; Aurangzeb’s mosque in Benares and, 31–34; vs. Nazir, 47; Royal Academy exhibition of View of Benares with Aurangzeb’s Mosque and, 18f, 19, 20f, 33–34; Taj Mahal and, 38–42
Hijaz, 33, 112, 122
Hindu and Muslim communalism, 67, 118–19, 133–34, 136–38, 179 n. 2; Gandhi and, 139–44; Mehrauli Shrine visit of Gandhi and, 141, 142f, 143; vs. secularism, 135
Hindu nationalists and nationalism, 5, 16, 118–19, 164–67; Babri Masjid and, 1; monumental Real and, 10; rise of, 10 “Homeplace,” 16, 169, 175, 178–79 hooks, bell, 16, 175
Hybrid style of architectural discourse, 99
Ideological-symbolic register, 9–10
Impossibility, 10, 39–40, 48, 146–47, 167
India nation, post-independence.
   See Mughal monuments (post-independence)
Indian Express (newspaper), 154
Indian independence. See Monumental Real; Mughal monuments (1857 to independence and partition)
Indian National Army: trial of, at Red Fort, 131–33
‘India Poised’ Anthem, 174–75, 195 n. 5
International Council on Monuments and Sites (ICOMOS), 158
Interpellation, 9, 34, 66, 83, 146–47, 180 n. 19
Iqbal (poet), 15, 112, 122
Isfahan, 23
Islam labeling of Mughal monuments, 52–55, 75
Jagmohan, Shri, 154
Jaipur, 78
Jalal, Ayesha, 108
Jama Masjid (mosque, Delhi), 4, 97, 1023; British government influence on return of, 104–5, 107–8; as contradictory space between Muslim and Hindu, 134–55; Gandhi at, 140–41; Muslim petitions against managers of mosques and, 109–13; as navel of Delhi, 97–98; post-uprising return of, to Muslims, 103–9; as representative space of Muslim community, 117–18; as space of Muslim identification post-uprising, 103; as space of political and social transformation, 109–13; in Twilight in Delhi, 129–31
Jinnah, Muhammad Ali, 15, 122, 124, 133
Jumna (river), 47, 134, 151–52, 158
Kanpur mosque incident, 113–15
Keith, J. B., 55–60
Khadims (keepers of Taj Mahal), pension discontinuation of, 49
Khan, Sir Sayyid Ahmed, 15, 120–22, 170; Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) and, 100; Athar al-sanadid (Works of the nobles), 96–100; change of opinion of, about Islamic architecture post-uprising, 100; hybrid ordering of Mughal monuments and, 95–101
Khan-i Arzu (poet), 23
King George III, 18
Kipling, Rudyard, 51–52, 77–82
“Koki Bridge” mosque, 116
Lacan, Jacques, 9, 21, 26, 169, 180 n. 18, 181 n. 13; mirror stage of, 180 n. 17
Lack, 24, 29, 42, 180 n. 18; Hodges and, 33–34
Lal patthar (film), 7–8, 10, 169
Landscape and Architectural Department (LAD) study (University of Illinois), 152–53
Lefebvre, Henri, 36, 44, 159, 179 n. 3; on differential space, 12; on Eros, 55; on illusion of transparency, 53–54
“Life is a Great and Varied Show” (poem, Nazir), 46
Logos, 19, 48, 55, 70, 76, 93
Lord Curzon, 5, 62f, 185 n. 50; Ancient Monuments Preservation Act of 1904 and, 69; Archaeological Survey of India and, 61, 63–69; influence of travel on preservation policy of, 63–66; monumental Real and, 10; preservation policy of, 15, 66–69; racial ideology of, 64, 67; Ruskin and, 61, 63; Taj Mahal and, 15, 69–75
Lucknow (capital of Oudh), 23, 86, 101; Mir in, 24

Madina (newspaper), 113–14
Marshall, John, 63, 69
Master Plan for Delhi 2021, 177
Master signifier, 51, 122, 126, 184 n. 12

Madina (newspaper), 113–14
Marshall, John, 63, 69
Master Plan for Delhi 2021, 177
Master signifier, 51, 122, 126, 184 n. 12
Mecca, 112
Mehrauli Shrine (Sufi shrine), 141, 142f, 143
Mill, James, 52–54
Minto, Lord (governor general), 49
Mir’at Giti-numa (Mushtak), 97–98, 188 n. 4
Mir Hasan (poet), 23
Mirror stage, 180 n. 17
Mir Taqi Mir (poet), 14, 23–26; in Lucknow, 24; vs. Nazir, 46; poetry of, about Delhi, 24–25; on ruins of Agra, 35–36, 40–41
Mirza Muhammad Rafi Sauda (poet). See Sauda
Modern Review (journal), 89–92
Monumentality: British Raj eradication of, 51, 54–55, 60–61, 72–75; Eros and, 55
Monumental Real, 11–13, 29, 40, 51, 73; disconnect between three registers of subjectivity and, 10–11; Lord Curzon and, 10, 65–66; masking of, through heritage and tourism, 147–48; na’ashed (song) on, 11; “Other” and, 13; partition and, 146–47; spatial practices of economics and interpellation and, 146–47; stain of, 10, 16, 21, 60, 73, 133, 144; suppression of, by state, 147
Monument destruction, 3–5, 11, 179 n. 4, 194 n. 43; historiographic discourse on, 3; social-scientific discourse on, 3. See also Babri Masjid
Monuments, 2; creativity and, 12; desire to satisfy the monumental lack, 8–9; differential space and, 12–13; disconnect between three registers and, 10–11, 13; history in book and, 4–5; ideological-symbolic register and, 9–10; model of relational power, 6–7; number of, 3; number and variety of, 2–3; power of, 5–6, 13; resistance at, 5–6; shifts in view of, 14; subjectivity and, 8–10, 13; unconscious-Real register, 9–10; visual-imaginary as primary draw to, 8
“Moral city,” 95, 101, 103, 122–26, 187 n. 1. See also Muslim Indian community
Morris, William, 63
Mughal Empire, 3–4, 14; in eighteenth century, 21–22
Mughal monuments, 3; creativity and resistance and, 4–5, 11–13; as ethical spaces, 14; Hodges’s paintings of, 10; imagined alternatives and, 14; reason for focus on, 4–5; as spaces of political and social transformation, 109–13; visual and literary data on, 4. See also by monument names
Mughal monuments and cities (eighteenth century), 14–15, 37–40; decline and ruin in, 22, 26, 35–43; Sufi shrines, 27–28. See also Agra (Indian city); Akbar’s tomb; Delhi; Hodges, William; Parkes, Fanny; Red Fort of Delhi; Shahrashob
Mughal monuments and mosques, Muslim alternate ordering of: Athar al-sanadid (Khan, Works of the nobles) and, 96–100; British government influence on, 104–5, 107–8; British underestimation of significance of mosques and, 117–18; as critical spaces of Muslim identity and resistance, 103, 109; Delhi mosques as space of everyday life, 98–99; fading importance of, for Muslims, 125–26; as “Homeplaces,” 175, 177–78; hybrid ordering of, 95–101; Kanpur
Mughal monuments and mosques, Muslim alternate ordering of (continued) mosque incident and, 113–15; Mir‘at Giti-numa (Mushtak) and, 97–98; Musaddas (poem, Hali) and, 108; Muslim petitions against managers of mosques, 109–13; Muslim press coverage on, 113–17; New Delhi construction and, 115–18; Nasegay (narrative of uprising, Ghalib) and, 103; political and social transformation of, 109–18; post-uprising, 100–102; post-uprising return of mosques to Muslims, 104–9; pre-uprising, 95–101; resignification of, 102; resistance to destruction of mosques, 114–18; Sir Sayyid Ahmed Khan and, 95–101; social formation of Muslims in 1930s and ’40s and, 118–22; start of twentieth-century reordering of, 108–9. See also Waqf and awqaf

Mughal monuments (high imperialism period), 49; age value theory of Ruskin and, 61, 63, 73–74; Archaeological Survey of India and, 51–61, 63–69; dark space and, 74–75; eradication of sublimity monumentality by Raj and, 51, 54–55, 60–61, 72–75; Eros and Logos and, 49, 70, 72; Islamic labeling of, 52–55; Lord Curzon and, 61, 63–69; Lord Curzon’s Taj Mahal restoration, 69–75; power between ruler and ruled in nineteenth century and, 50–51; racial ideology and, 64, 67. See also Tourism and heritage production (British Raj)

Mughal monuments (post-independence), 15–16, 170–78; as contradictory spaces, 145–46, 159; as differential space, 148, 159; masking of Indian Real through heritage and tourism, 147–56; Muslim spatial practices and, 148; national identification and, 145–46; Nehru development policies and, 144–46; as spaces of secular identification, 144; Taj Corridor project and, 151–60, 153f; “unity in diversity” and, 16, 147, 159, 168; waqf registration of Taj Mahal and, 160, 162–69

Mughal monuments (1857 to independence and partition), 133–38; Chandni Chowk (bazaar in Delhi) and, 130; as contradictory space between communal and secular India, 134–35; as contradictory space between Muslims and Hindus, 134–35; fast of Gandhi and, 143–44; Gandhi and, 135, 138–44; Indian flag flying at Red Fort and, 127, 128f, 129, 132–33; Mehrauli Shrine visit of Gandhi, 141, 142f, 143; as Muslim refugee camps, 133–34; Nehru and Congress Party’s ordering of, 16, 134–38; New Delhi and, 130–31; Red Fort as differential monument of British rule, 132; secularism and, 134–35, 138–44; as space of creativity and alternate vision of nations, 143–44; spatial imagery in “A Tryst with Destiny” speech of Nehru, 127; trial at Red Fort of Indian National Army and, 131–33; in Twilight of Delhi, 129–31

Mukarram, Mufti, 173

Multiplicity, 7–8; Agra and, 41–42; in Athar al-sanadid, 96, 99; eradication of, by Raj, 51, 54–55; Nazir and, 46–48; Parkes and, 41–42, 44–46; veiling of, through art, 36–37, 41–42, 48
Murray’s Handbook (travel guide), 82–83, 87–89

Musaddas (poem, Hali), 108

Muslim (newspaper), 117

Muslim Indian community, 11, 15–16, 27, 34, 195 n. 55; ambivalence with Mughals of, 16; fading importance of Mughal monuments for, 125–26; independence and state formation of, in 1930s and ’40s, 118–22; Islamic labeling of Mughal monuments, 52–55, 75; “moral city” of, 95, 101, 103, 122–26; Pakistan and, 123–26; Ummah and, 27, 112. See also Fatehpuri Masjid of Old Delhi (monument); Hindu and Muslim communalism; Jama Masjid; “Moral city”; Mughal monuments and mosques, Muslim alternate ordering of; Waqf and awqaf

Muslim League, 118–19, 122–23; rejection of Akbar by, 119

Muslim refugees, 23, 103, 133–35, 139

Muslim spatial practices, 10, 95, 97, 101, 172; Mughal monuments as differential space and, 148; waqf registration of Taj Mahal and, 160, 162–69

Mussalman Waqf Act XLII of 1923, 112. See also Waqf and awqaf

Mutiny Tour, 86–87

Mystification, 3, 81, 148, 159

Nadir Shah, 21, 119

Narrative, 4, 6, 86–93

Nasheed (song), on loss of Babri Masjid, 11

Nazir Akbarabadi (poet), 14, 41; Agra and, 46–48; vs. Hodges, 47; vs. Mir and Sauda, 46; on Taj Mahal, 47

Nehru, Jawaharalal, 15; development policies of, 144–46; flag flying at Red Fort and, 132–33, 191 n. 12; ordering of Mughal monuments of, 134–38; on shunning of Akbar by Muslim League, 119; tactical use of Red Fort of, 131–33; tourism and heritage production and, 15–16, 151–60; “A Tryst with Destiny” speech, 127

New Delhi, Mughal monuments and, 115–18, 130–31

Nosegay (narrative of uprising, Ghalib), 103

Nostalgia, in Urdu poetry, 22–23

“Other,” 13

Oudh, 22–23

Out of India (Kipling), 78–81

Padshanama (Badshahnama), 90, 163

Pakistan, 15, 123–26

Pandey, Gyanendra, 143–44, 180 n. 16, 195 n. 55

Parallactic, 28, 30–31, 48, 181 n. 17

Parkes, Fanny, 14, 42–46, 48; Taj Mahal and, 44–45; on zezana in Red Fort, 43

Partition, 10, 168; monumental Real and, 146–47; Muslim resettling and, 133–34; sublime trauma of, 126. See also Mughal monuments (1857 to independence and partition)

Petievich, Carla, 26

Planning Commission, 149, 151

Poetry and poets, 14, 46–47; Mughal ruins and, 21–28. See also Mir Hasan; Mir Taqi Mir; Nazir Akbarabadi; Sauda

Point de capiton (quilting point), 26, 34, 181 n. 13; Pakistan as, 126; race and, 51

Power relations, 32–33, 35, 41, 44, 47–48, 67; British underestimation of Power relations (continued)
significance of mosques and, 117–18; model of relational, 6–7; mosques as site of struggle between Muslims and government, 108–18; Mughal monuments and, 22, 27; post-uprising, 103; between ruler and ruled in nineteenth century, 50–51
Pritchett, Frances W., 181n
Psychoanalysis, 169
Purana Qila (Old Fort): Gandhi’s visit to, 139–40; as Muslim refugee camp, 133
Quilting points. See Point de capiton
Race, 51–52
Rau, Santha Rama, 92–93
Red Fort (Dehli, sixteenth-century monument), 4, 9, 87–91; as differtential monument of British Raj, 132;
Gandhi at, 140–41; historical significance of, 127, 128f; Gandhi’s poem on, 23; Parkes on zezana in, 43;
press coverage on restoration of, 113;
trial of Indian National Army at, in 1947, 131–33
Resistance, 4–6, 21, 23, 43, 54, 191 n. 12; Athar al-sanadid as response to Indian, 99; communalism as, in re-response to Nehru’s government, 133, 135, 144; of Hindu nationalist to secular power, 164; to Hodges’s and Mir’s representations of monuments, 36–37;
in the Mutiny Tour, 88; to state heritage policy, 155; Tagore’s watercolors as, 91. See also “Homeplace”; Mughal monuments and mosques, Muslim alternate ordering of; Uprising of 1857
Royal Academy (London), 19–21, 33
Ruskin, John, 61, 65, 73
Samuel, Raphael, 148
Sangari, Kumkum, 138
Sarkar, Jadunath, 89–91
Sauda (poet), 23, 25–26, 181 n. 10–11;
vs. Nazir and Sauda, 46
Sayyid Ahmed Khan, Sir. See Khan,
Sir Sayyid Ahmed
Secularist spatial practices, 10, 16. See also Gandhi, Mohandas K.; “Unity in diversity” motto
Shah Jahan (Mughal emperor), 23, 90
Shahrashob (laments of the city), 181
n. 14; Mir on ruins of Agra, 35–36,
40–41; Mughal ruins and, 14, 21–28,
35–36, 48; origins of, 24
Shah Waliulla, 27–28, 100, 119–20
Sikand, Yoginder, 168
Singh, Raja Chait, 31, 34
Singh, V. P., 1–2
Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings (SPAB), 63
Song. See Nasheed
Spatial practices, 2–4, 6, 14, 33, 36–42, 49, 179 n. 3; ASI and, 53–55, 59; creativity and, 4, 179; disruptions in, between 1803 and 1857, 49; of economics and interpellation, 146–47; of everyday life in Delhi, 97; at Fatehpuri Masjid, 106; of heritage monuments, 159; LAD’s altering of,
152; of Lucknow, 101; monumental
Real and, 76; Muslim spatial practices, 10, 95, 97, 101, 148, 160, 162–69, 172; Parkes and, 44; Red Fort and,
88, 90; secular spatial practices, 10,
16; tourism and, 85
Stain, 16, 21, 60, 73; partition-related violence and, 133; post-partition, 144
Stoler, Ann Laura, 51
Subjectivity, 13; Lacan’s three registers of, 8–10. See also Ideological-symbolic; Unconscious-real; Visual-imaginary
Sufi shrines, 27–28, 191 n. 91
Sufism, 27–28, 141, 142f, 143
Suleri, Sarah, 29, 42
Sunehri Masjid (Delhi mosque), 113
Sunny Waqf Board of Uttar Pradesh, 160–64, 161f, 194 n. 42
Sustainable development, 158
“Swimming in Agra” (poem, Nazir), 47
Tagore, Abanindranath (artist), 91
Tajdid, 123
Taj Mahal, 3–4, 71f, 74, 74f; Hodges and, 38–42; Khadims pension discontinuation and, 49; Lord Curzon and, 15, 69–75; Nazir on, 47; Parkes visit to, 44–45; storming of, by Hindu men, 166; Taj Corridor project and, 151–60, 153f; waqf registration of Taj Mahal and, 160, 162–69
Tawhid, 112
Tillotson, Giles, 41
Times of India television campaign of 2007, 174–75, 195 n. 5
Tomb of Humayun (sixteenth century), 2; as Muslim refugee camp, 133
Tomb (shrine or dargah) of Sheikh Salim Chishti, 49, 59, 84
Tourism and heritage production (British Raj), 15; British tourists and, 76–78; Murray’s Handbook (travel guide) and, 82–83, 87–89; Out of India (Kipling) and, 78–81; power and, 78, 81; at Red Fort, 87–91; Santha Rama Rau visit to Fatehpur Sikri and, 92–93; touristic fantasy and, 77–78, 81, 83, 85
Tourism and heritage production (post-independence), 16, 177; Amita Baig and, 155; Indian Express article and, 154; LAD study and, 152–53; masking of Indian Real through, 147–56; National Institute of Design (NID) study and, 150; Taj Corridor project and, 151–60, 153f; UNESCO and, 156–59; waqf registration of Taj Mahal and, 160, 162–69
Transparency in architecture, 53–54, 74
Trauma, 16, 27; of partition, 126, 133–34; post-partition, 144, 146–48; post-uprising, 100
“A Tryst with Destiny” (Nehru speech), 127
Twilight in Delhi (Ali), 129–31
Ummah, 27, 112
Unconscious-Real register, 9–10. See also Monumental Real
UNESCO, 156–59
“Unity in diversity” motto, 16, 147, 159, 168
Uprising of 1857, 5, 10, 15, 49–50; Red Fort and, 127, 128f, 129
Urdu poetry. See Shahrashob
Urs festival, 141, 142f, 143
Vidler, Anthony, 74, 78
Viewing practices, 18f, 19
View of Benares with Aurangzeb’s Mosque (painting, Hodges), 18f, 19, 20f Visual-imaginary, 10; as primary monument draw, 8
Void, 29, 169
Waliullah, Shah, 27, 119–20
Waqf and awqaf (tax-free endowments for Islamic structures), 33, 69, 100,
Waqf and awqaf (tax-free endowments for Islamic structures) (continued)
106, 108–12; alteration of, in nineteenth century, 49, 59; in eighteenth century, 22, 28; Mussalman Waqf Act XLII of 1923, 112; registration of, at Taj Mahal, 160, 162–69; Sunni Waqf Board of Uttar Pradesh and, 160–64, 194 n. 42

Works of the noble. See Athar al-sanadid

World Heritage, 156–59

Zaif (spaces of the weak), 102

Zezana (woman’s spaces), 43, 80, 90

Zižek, Slavoj, 34, 48, 147, 167, 169, 180 n. 18, 181 n. 17, 184 n. 12