CONTENTS

xi Preface
xxv Acknowledgments
xxix Abbreviations

PART I COLD WAR POLITICAL-ECONOMIC DISCIPLINARY FORMATIONS

3 ONE Political Economy and History of American Cold War Intelligence
31 TWO World War II’s Long Shadow
54 THREE Rebooting Professional Anthropology in the Postwar World
81 FOUR After the Shooting War: Centers, Committees, Seminars, and Other Cold War Projects
109 FIVE Anthropologists and State: Aid, Debt, and Other Cold War Weapons of the Strong 137 Intermezzo

PART II ANTHROPOLOGISTS’ ARTICULATIONS WITH THE NATIONAL SECURITY STATE

143 SIX Cold War Anthropologists at the CIA: Careers Confirmed and Suspected
165 SEVEN How CIA Funding Fronts Shaped Anthropological Research
195 EIGHT Unwitting CIA Anthropologist Collaborators: MK-Ultra, Human Ecology, and Buying a Piece of Anthropology
221 NINE Cold War Fieldwork within the Intelligence Universe
248 TEN Cold War Anthropological Counterinsurgency Dreams
276 ELEVEN The AAA Confronts Military and Intelligence Uses of Disciplinary Knowledge
301 TWELVE Anthropologically Informed Counterinsurgency in Southeast Asia
THIRTEEN  Anthropologists for Radical Political Action and Revolution within the AAA

FOURTEEN  Untangling Open Secrets, Hidden Histories, Outrage Denied, and Recurrent Dual Use Themes

371  Notes

397  References

433  Index