The Neglected Dimension

Anissa Rahadiningtyas

Published by National Gallery Singapore

Rahadiningtyas, Anissa.
The Neglected Dimension.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/112793

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=3608442

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License.
The flags used in the performance and installation carry words and concepts written in the Jawi script, a permutation of Arabic script used to write local languages in the Indo-Malay Archipelago since Islam spread in the region from at least the thirteenth century onwards. However, the words on the flags come from languages outside those spoken or written in the archipelago.

- جنانا (Sanskrit: knowledge)
- جي (Thai: heart)
- مأوت (Arabic: death)
- کپایپانا (Tagalog: freedom)
- تالی (Thai: sea)
- جوجور (Indonesian: honest)
- اوماه (Javanese: house/home)
- عقل (Arabic: intellect, ratio)
- کتروعان (Tagalog: fairness; justice)
- ترسنا (Javanese/Balinese: love)
- بکت (Indonesian: devotion)
- ڽلي (Indonesian: gut; courage)