Foucault's Archaeology
Webb, David

Published by Edinburgh University Press

Webb, David.
Foucault's Archaeology: Science and Transformation.
Project MUSE. muse.jhu.edu/book/64095.

For additional information about this book
https://muse.jhu.edu/book/64095

For content related to this chapter
https://muse.jhu.edu/related_content?type=book&id=2279137
Contents

Abbreviations vii
Acknowledgements viii

Introduction 1

BACKGROUND 5

1. To What Problem Does The Archaeology of Knowledge Respond? 7
2. Gaston Bachelard: Construction and Temporal Discontinuity 11
3. Jean Cavaillès: Grounding Thought in its Own History 16
4. Michel Serres: Mathematics, Epistemology, History 22
5. Michel Serres: Atomism 28
6. The Mathematical A Priori 31
7. Temporal Dispersion 34

COMMENTARY ON THE ARCHAEOLOGY OF KNOWLEDGE 39

Part I Introduction
Introduction 41

Part II The Discursive Regularities
1. The Unities of Discourse 48
2. Discursive Formations 56
3. The Formation of Objects 62
4. The Formation of Enunciative Modalities 69
5. The Formation of Concepts 72
6. The Formation of Strategies 77
7. Remarks and Consequences 80
Contents

Part III The Statement and the Archive
1. Defining the Statement 85
2. The Enunciative Function 90
3. The Description of Statements 98
4. Rarity, Exteriorty, Accumulation 105
5. The Historical A Priori and the Archive 111

Part IV Archaeological Description
1. Archaeology and the History of Ideas 120
2. The Original and the Regular 122
3. Contradictions 128
4. The Comparative Facts 132
5. Change and Transformations 136
6. Science and Knowledge 143

Part V
Conclusion 152

CLOSING REMARKS 159

Notes 166
Selected Bibliography 174
Index 178