ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Bryant letters from fifteen collections not heretofore represented bring to a total of 112 the number of institutions and private collectors contributing to the first five volumes of this edition. Grateful acknowledgment is made to the libraries of the University of Delaware, Gettysburg College, Illinois State University at Normal, Kent State University, Marietta College, Union College, and Vassar College; and to the Cincinnati Historical Society; Fondation Martin Bodmer, Geneva, Switzerland; Free Library of Philadelphia; Minneapolis Public Library; Saint Paul Public Library; Sleepy Hollow Restorations; and Walter Hampden Memorial Library. Letters have also been received from one additional private and nineteen printed sources.

Representatives of other institutions have been helpful in various ways. Among these are the Brockton, Massachusetts, Public Library; Office of Alumni Records, Colgate University; Columbiana Collection, Columbia University; Department of Manuscripts and University Archives, Cornell University Libraries; Long Island Historical Society; Metropolitan Museum of Art; National Academy of Ireland; National Museum of American Art; Performing Arts Library, and Print Collection, New York Public Library; New York State Library; Pitzer College of the Claremont Colleges; Office of the Historian, United States Department of State; University of Virginia Library; and Williams College Library.

The Associate Editor is E. D. Lowry; the Assistant Editor, JoAnne W. Boyle; the Research Assistant, Richard C. Hare. Other individuals who have been especially helpful include Winthrop Murray Crane, III, Betty Crouch, Ruth L. Cummings, Elliott C. Cutler, Jr., the late Richard Dana DeRham, Evan M. Duncan, Betsy Fahlman, Donald Fowle, Norma H. Fox, Giovanni Giovannini, Thomas E. Greiss, Richard J. Hofsted, Kathleen Jacklin, David K. King, Clara Lamers, Siobhan O'Rafferty, Mrs. Eugene C. Paige, Beverly Wilson Palmer, Paul R. Palmer, Patricia Pellegrini, Katherine Roberts, Nancy Sahli, Jonathan Seliger, John R. Shea, Richard N. Sheldon, John D. Stinson, Jane C. Voss, David Wallace, Ernest J. Webby, Jr., Robert Neff Williams, and Alexandra Wolff. In addition, several persons have been from the outset of indispensable help in the preparation of this work. These are James T. Callow, H. George Fletcher, Kathleen Luhrs, Andrew B. Myers, and Mary Beatrice Schulte.

The editors acknowledge, with a particular sense of gratitude, the assistance of the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Board of Trustees of Tusculum College, the Catholic University of America, Mrs. Fred H. (Nancy) Parvin, and the Herbert L. Schulman and Barbara Silvers Foundation.
